LBJ Stay In Australia Nears End

By FRANK CORMIER

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—President Johnson rode past a million cheering Australians in Sydney today, donned cowboy togs for a Texas-style barbecue outside Canberra and came to Brisbane looking weary and strained tonight, the eve of his flight to the Manila Summit Conference.

The wild welcome in Sydney, the nation's largest city, was marred by the sharpest demonstration Australia has seen against the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

Nevertheless, the President told a crowd in Brisbane:

"This is the most wonderful visit that I have ever been on. It is a sentimental journey."

Brisbane is the last tour point in Australia for the President and his wife Lady Bird, except for a refueling stop at Townsville Sunday on his 3,700-mile flight to Manila.

In Brisbane some people had waited seven hours in frosty weather for President Johnson to arrive from Canberra.

Speaking at the airport, Johnson paid tribute to the people of Brisbane, saying that a million American GIs had passed through the city in World War II.

Calling his wife to wave to the crowd, President Johnson said: "She didn't get to come with me in '42 and we have been quarreling about it ever since."

Johnson served in Australia and New Zealand as a Navy lieutenant commander in World War II.

Local officials today named a park near Brisbane's airport, "Lyndon Johnson Park." The park contains one of the first Australian - American war memorials, honoring the men of the two countries who died in World War II.

Brisbane people, singing Australian folk songs, turned the city into a carnival town, slowing down the presidential car.

Discord Locks Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate fight over a tax incentive bill slowed Congress' drive toward adjournment today and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was considering a round-the-clock session.

"It will be a long, long session," the weary Mansfield said as the Senate convened and fell immediately into a bitter debate.

Scorned by opponents as "Christmas tree" legislation-a reference to its many and varied amendments—the bill is one of two hurdles the Senate has to clear to wind up for the year. The other is a $5 billion supplemental appropriation, but this measure has no visible opposition.

Mansfield said he spent "six of the most exhausting hours of my life" Friday trying to win an agreement on the tax incentive bill, but "there is no area of agreement."

The heart of the bill is an administration - backed attempt to encourage foreign investments in the United States. The amendments tacked to it are causing the trouble, particularly a provision to establish a permanent program of government financing of presidential campaigns through voluntary taxpayer contributions.

Sen. Albert Gore, D - Tenn., leading the fight against the amendments—he favors the foreign investment provisions — said he regrets the inconvenience and discomfort opponents are causing their colleagues. But Gore said he feels dutybound to do all he can to block passage. He said he planned to speak at length against it — a move others would consider a filibuster.

Sens. Spessard Holland- D-Fla., and John Pastore, D-R.I., appealed to Mansfield for a nonstop session to wear down opponents, and the Democratic leader said he is giving their suggestion "the utmost consideration."

Another problem is the Senate's disappearing quorum. Election day is only 17 days away and many senators have gone home to campaign.

Mansfield said the Senate could muster a quorum—51 of the 100 members — though there was no call for one immediately.

Angry and frustrated, the Senate flared into bitter debate. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-

Avalanche Toll May Reach 200

ABERFAN, Wales (AP) - Rescue workers today succeeded in halting a moving mountain of coal mine refuse which had engulfed a school and at least 14 homes in this tiny Welsh village, leaving 200 feared dead.

Engineers and miners worked nonstop through the night digging deep channels through the black sludge to divert water from building up inside the heap and causing possible further slides.

Half the 800-foot slag heap crashed down a green hillside Friday, crushing a junior school and a row of miner's cottages.

Rescue officials said that 130 bodies - nearly all children - have been dug out of the debris.

Three Hurt as Car Overturns

A highway accident reported by the state patrol, occurred last night at 9:45 p.m. on route Z, one-half mile south of Vanduser.

Amon Ashcraft, 46, Sikeston, driving a 1955 Chevrolet, attempted to round a curve too fast, lost control and turned over, resulting in three injuries. The injured were taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

The driver received a back injury, and his two passengers were Carl Marlin, 27, and Charlene Hammock, 16. Marlin received an arm injury and the Hammock girl, a possible fractured jaw.

Police Report Accidents

A boy riding a bicycle suffered bruises when his bicycle collided with a school bus Thursday, police reported.

David Powell, 6, the son of Ernest Powell, 527 Delmar, was treated and released at the Missouri Delta Community hospital. The accident occurred at Dorothy and Olive. Sherman Butler, 56, 229 Luther was driving the bus when the accident occurred, police said.

Cars driven by William B. Seabaugh, 55, 318 West North, and James E. Ditto Jr., 24, of the Kay Apartments, collided Friday at Greer and Prairie, police said.

Judge Fines Six Persons

Six fines totaling $99 were collected in city court Thursday. Judge E. R. Schrader presided.

Those fined and the charge filed against them were:

James Miles, route two, Sikeston, careless and imprudent driving fined $15.

Emery McCauley, 112 Lincoln, careless and imprudent driving, fined $26.

Brian Holz, route four, Sikeston, careless and imprudent driving, fined $17.

William U. Curtis, 308 Maud, public intoxication, fined $12.

Paul I. Nicholson, 315 Gladys, public intoxication, fined $12.

Timothy C. Fame, 608 Branum, entered a written plea of guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving, fined $17.

Two charges, careless and imprudent driving and driving without an operator's license, against Gary Garrison, 825 East Hunter, were continued.

City Boy Succeeds on Farm

By Leo Schade

CANALOU, Mo. AP -- Missouri's outstanding young farmer is a man from a northern city whose love for the soil was nurtured by boyhood visits to his grandfather's farm in the Bootheel.

Peter C. Myers, 35, lives two miles southeast of here along championship row, not much farther than a stone's throw from the farm of Dale Geske, the state's outstanding young farmer in 1962. The neighbors and friends live less than a mile apart.

Before Myers won the state Junior Chamber of Commerce plaque at the Kansas City Royal Livestock show, he captured the title of outstanding young farmer, awarded by the Sikeston Jaycees.

The state title is given for farming progress, civic contributions and conservation practices.

Myers was born and reared a lawyer's son in Racine, Wis., population 89,144. He holds a bachelor of science degree in agriculture from the University of Wisconsin at Madison, where he courted and married his wife, Mary.

When he was five he visited the farm of his grandfather, the late Judge Zenophen Caverno, near the present site of the Myers' farm. He came almost every summer afterward.

Now a 10-year farming veteran, he acknowledges that he would never have made it his first year had it not been for neighbors' assistance.

At the University of Wisconsin he did not become acquainted with gumbo, the cantankerous soil of Southeast Missouri's reclaimed swampland, or with cotton culture. He now farms 1,100 acres of which he owns 195 in a combination row crop and livestock operation.

He says that any person with determination can become a farmer but for success he recommends practical experience and familiarity with the types of soil and crops grown in an area.

"I have confidence in farming's future," he says. "But today's farmer must study big scale operations, become aware of the capital investment required and be willing to accept the risks."

Bert Robbins, New Madrid county agricultural extension director, praises Myers' farming skill:

"He is a very progressive farmer. He has tried a number of new farming practices. He is always present at county and district meetings seeking advanced farming knowledge. Both he and his wife are outstanding leaders in 4-H youth projects, county extension council activities and livestock work."

When Myers started farming in 1956 on 180 rented acres, he planted soybeans, cotton, corn and wheat. His acreage increased to 600 in 1959 by inheritance of 195 acres and by renting additional land.

His livestock herd has grown to 200 Herefords, 50 of them registered, and 150 head of feeder cattle.

This year 106 acres of corn produced an average of 100 bushels; 135 acres of wheat, 45 bushels per acre; 65 acres of cotton, 900 pounds; and 500 acres of soybeans, 38 bushels.

Hogs are limited to a few kept for the 4-H projects of sons, Peter, eight, and Joe, 10. Myers expects to build up a herd of his own.

Two hundred sixty acres are irrigated and Meyers plans to add to this acreage annually.

He has 160 acres in rough land. Seventy acres of it are in three ditches.

Myers served in the army in Texas in 1953-55 and was discharged as a second lieutenant. He is an avid hunter.

His chief interests are work in the Farm Bureau, as a 4-H team coach, and the Jaycees. The family attends Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian church in Sikeston.

He and his family live in a 12 - room brick, ranch style home on a two - acre plot. Besides Joseph and Peter there are daughters, Kristina, four, and Gretchen, 11 months.

Mrs. Myers does all the

McDonnell Named Engineer

VICKSBURG, Miss. -- Maj. Gen. Robert G. MacDonnell has been nominated by President Johnson to be president of the Mississippi River commission.

Subject to confirmation by the United States Senate, it is expected that Gen. MacDonnell will take over his new duties early in December, succeeding Maj. Gen. Ellsworth I. Davis, who retired from the army in September.

General MacDonnell will serve concurrently as division engineer of the corps of engineers' lower Mississippi valley division.

Since 1963, General MacDonnell has been deputy chief of engineers in Washington, D.C., after having been director of civil works in the office of the chief of engineers. In both of these positions he has visited Vicksburg and other cities in the Mississippi valley. He is also serving as chairman of the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, which reviews surveys for civil works projects throughout the United States.

General MacDonnell was born in Spokane. He is a 1934 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, holds a master of science degree in civil engineering from the University of California, attended The Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Va., and was graduated from the Army War College in 1952. He is a registered professional engineer.

His civil works assignments, other than in Washington, have been as assistant to the district engineers at Portland and Sacramento, Calif., and as division engineer of the South Pacific division, San Francisco. His other tours of duty have included company commander, sixth engineer regiment, Fort Lawton, Wash.; troop commander S3 and executive officer, eighth engineer squadron; instructor in engineering and as associate professor in military art and engineering at West Point; director of training, engineer unit training center at Camp Claiborne, La., and at Camp Sutton, N. C.; commander, first engineer petroleum production depot, Camp Santa Anita, Calif.; assistant commandant, The Engineer School, Ft. Belvoir;

McDonnell Named Engineer

VICKSBURG, Miss. -- Maj. Gen. Robert G. MacDonnell has been nominated by President Johnson to be president of the Mississippi River commission.

Subject to confirmation by the United States Senate, it is expected that Gen. MacDonnell will take over his new duties early in December, succeeding Maj. Gen. Ellsworth I. Davis, who retired from the army in September.

General MacDonnell will serve concurrently as division engineer of the corps of engineers' lower Mississippi valley division.

Since 1963, General MacDonnell has been deputy chief of engineers in Washington, D.C., after having been director of civil works in the office of the chief of engineers. In both of these positions he has visited Vicksburg and other cities in the Mississippi valley. He is also serving as chairman of the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, which reviews surveys for civil works projects throughout the United States.

General MacDonnell was born in Spokane. He is a 1934 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, holds a master of science degree in civil engineering from the University of California, attended The Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Va., and was graduated from the Army War College in 1952. He is a registered professional engineer.

His civil works assignments, other than in Washington, have been as assistant to the district engineers at Portland and Sacramento, Calif., and as division engineer of the South Pacific division, San Francisco. His other tours of duty have included company commander, sixth engineer regiment, Fort Lawton, Wash.; troop commander S3 and executive officer, eighth engineer squadron; instructor in engineering and as associate professor in military art and engineering at West Point; director of training, engineer unit training center at Camp Claiborne, La., and at Camp Sutton, N. C.; commander, first engineer petroleum production depot, Camp Santa Anita, Calif.; assistant commandant, The Engineer School, Ft. Belvoir;

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

There's plenty of politics both up over and down under in President Lyndon B. Johnson's visit in Australia.

This country hasn't paid enough attention to Asia, its problems, people and promise.

This is apparent if for no other reason than Johnson is the first American president to visit Australia.

So his visit to the land of "The Waltzing Matilda", the boomerang, the kangaroo, the aborigines and koala bear is a welcome one to citizens both above and below--especially to Prime Minister Harold E. Holt, who, like Lyndon, has watched his popularity slip in an election year.

The Johnson visit is expected to enhance the electoral fortunes of Holt's Liberal-Country party coalition while aiding Democrats running for Congress in the United States.

The prime minister seems content to stand or fall in Viet Nam, an overriding issue in a Nov. 26 general election. The issue also is one cause of President Johnson's growing unpopularity in this country.

"By denying victory to Hanoi and Peking in South Viet Nam," Holt told the Australian House, "the spread of Communism in Southeast Asia can be checked."

No one has a greater stake in getting it checked than the Australians as any map reading student of geography can readily see.

Holt's talk is the kind all Americans should like to hear. Lyndon does like it.

The President may have in mind an even more ambitious task for Australia than helping out in Viet Nam.

As Great Britain withdraws its remaining forces from southern Asia, Australia may be forced to fill the vacuum.

Even now Australian troops are stationed in Malaysia as part of the commonwealth strategic reserve.

Australian-American ties, forged in World War II, grow stronger with the passage of time.

As Edward Clark, U. S. ambassador to Australia, puts it:

"The alliance between Australia and the United States is one of the most vital ever entered into."

Johnson himslef has sentimental ties in Australia.

During World War II, when he was a Texas congressman he served in Australia and New Zealand after being called to active duty in the Naval reserve.

So there are compelling personal as well as political and military reasons for his Australia call.

Residents of Asia, including our fellow American citizens in Hawaii, have long complained that this country gives too much attention to Europe at the expense of Asia, which also has an illustrious history, a devotion to democratic principles, wonderful people, good tourist attractions, and a promising future.

It's difficult to find fault with any effort designed to erase this firmly held feeling.

All of the American people are bound to gain long range benefits from the President's trip although it may be difficult to convince Republicans, particularly those running for seats in Congress, that they will reap any immediate gain from the odyssey.

BEWARE WHEN THE HOUSEWIFE IS ANNOYED

While most of the major pronouncements about government, the war and the economy are made from the nation's capital and added to this the "wisdom" from Wall Street where everybody believes the world revolves around the stock market, we find when you want to find out what people are thinking you don't rely on these sources.

In fact, most of the people couldn't care less about the whims of the stock market, the Gross National Product and the increasing government and consumer debts, but they are far more concerned about the price of goods in the supermarkets. The farmers are complaining about the prices they are getting for their produce-particularly when they see what these very items are selling for at retail. Also, when people talk of Viet Nam it is about individuals there - not the effect that Viet Nam is having on the economy of the country.

In looking at the country as a whole all these things play an important part in the economy of the country. The possible increase in taxes can defeat a referendum or a candidate. The fact that housewives are collectively worrying about the upward swing in food prices can be translated from each of the towns that make up the country as a whole to the halls of Congress in Washington, and then eventually back to the ticker tape and the price paid for stocks of food companies. Just as this is true about food so also is it true about automobiles, housing and a thousand and one other consumer goods.

The worries that people have about the future are, to a very great extent, justified.

So we don't agree with the political predictions of the Johnson administration and his rubber-stamp members in Congress - we say beware when the housewife is annoyed!

OLD BLACKSMITH SHOP

It wasn't much to look at - just an old, weather-beaten, rambling shop at the village edge. Around it was a tangled mass of old cultivators, wagons, wheels, sleds, plows and harrows. Inside, the floor was black with dirt and littered with hoof parings. Windows were gray-streaked with grime and half concealed with masses of old cobwebs.

Overhead on the stringers were rows of new shoes - dainty, lighweight shoes for Morgan roaders and heavy ones for big work horses. In one corner was a heap of discarded shoes plus a tangled mass of odds and ends of metal.

At one side was the forge with its big leather bellows; near it was the old anvil and the half tub of black-looking scummy water.

It was fun for small boys to watch the old smith as he heated a shoe red hot in the glowing coals and then pounded the shoe to shape on the anvil.

Clouds of red-orange sparks arched in the air; gray steam billowed upward as he plunged the hot shoe into the water. Quickly he lifted Old Jerry's leg and tried the fit of the shoe; the acrid, nostril-crinkling smell of burned hoof filled the shop.

The old smith talked as he worked and told boys stories of long ago when he shod as many oxen as horses. Perhaps he heated the shoe again and pounded it again for an exact fit. Then he drove nails through the hoof and the holes in the shoe. He twisted off the nail ends and filed the edges smooth with a big rasp.

Old blacksmith shops are gone-gone with the wagons and sleighs of yesteryear. But there are men in office and factory who look back over the years and remember the pleasant hours they spent in an old blacksmith shop.

THE ADVANTAGES OF LIVESTOCK PRODUCTION

Farmers, along with governmental and private spokesmen for agriculture, are showing an ever-increasing interest in the advantages of livestock production. That is happening in areas where livestock has played a relatively small role in the overall farm economy.

An editorial in the Greensboro, North Carolina, Daily Record, is indicative of the current thinking. It points out that the state's farm income could be boosted by nearly $300 million a year if enough cattle and hogs were produced to supply existing processing plants there. Then it says: "This is part of the big change taking place in southern agriculture as cotton's long reign in cash-crop economy gives way to diversification. The livestock potential is particularly important for North Carolina where tobacco is a dominant force in the economy. Nobody can be certain about the long-range effect of the so-called cancer scare on the tobacco industry. The promotion of the livestock industry -- both the raising of cattle and hogs and the processing of meat products -- advances diversification while scotching the economy against possible adversity for the tobacco industry."

The agricultural situation, of course, varies greatly from one part of the nation to another, where different crops are preeminent. But the attraction and advantages offered by livestock production are much the same everywhere. For one thing, the packers offer a day-in-day-out cash market for livestock -- and it is a market which is ruled by the natural law of supply and demand, and not by political acts and decisions. For another, the demand for meat of high quality is running at high levels and will undoubtedly go higher.

Livestock production, on a small or large scale, is worth any farmer's consideration.

A writer soon learns the wisdom of not forcing the issue when ideas do not come. On such a day I've learned that the thing to do is to loaf, read, meditate, do routine things, work in the garden, and just be stupid. Deep down in the subconscious new thoughts are forming and tomorrow may come the illumination!

Emerson explained it this way: "While places are alike to me, I make great distinction between states of mind. My days are made up of a very few different tones and feelings. These are my feasts and fasts."

Such is the miracle of the mind that the mental fast today may inspire the mental feast tomorrow. So rest easy and wait.

An Editor's Outlook

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

HOW GOES THE WAR?

DA NANG, Vietnam -- How goes the war?

Better.

Pretty well, in fact.

You can say that things are beginning to roll our way. And unless there's a major change in the weight of power -- such as the commitment of the Chinese army -- they should roll our way even faster.

Reason one: The September 10 elections. In spite of fierce pressure by the Vietcong and loud demands by the "militant Buddhists" that voters stay away from the polls, 80 per cent of those registered cast ballots.

This put a few things in focus. It tore in tatters the leftwing assertion that Vietnamese are overwhelmingly in sympathy with the Cong and are being held in the bondage of a military government and U.S. soldiery.

The Vietnamese want peace. They have had a quarter century of uninterrupted war. They'd be happy if all the soldiers and guerrillas would vanish tomorrow. But when the demarcation line was drawn practically all the refugees went south. Ho Chi Minh is not the idol of South Vietnam.

REASON TWO: The stuff we're throwing in. The United States has over 300,000 men here. The hardware is good, the firepower tremendous. We control the sea and the skies. We hop across the mountains and the rivers. For the first time, the world is seeing a totally mobile war, but it is our side that is mobile -- not theirs.

The punch we've got here has provided another argument for the let's-pull-out school in America. Why, they ask, is the U.S. presence so necessary if the Vietnamese really dislike the Cong? Why don't these people simply rally behind their own army and throw Charlie out?

You have to understand Ho Chi Minh's philosophy of fighting. The object is to destroy the local power structure through assassinations and terror. You don't have to shoot many village headmen and district chiefs before the villagers and farmers get the message. The idea is to enforce a frightened neutralism, even if you have only a small body of troops who want to move at night.

This might not work in Ohio or Iowa, among sophisticated people capable of fast organization. But even in the United States 1,000 dedicated terrorists would have little difficulty in killing half the members of Congress and half the state governors, and the confusion would be pretty considerable. The effect of these tactics on a pastoral, sometimes primitive, people should be obvious. The fact that the beginning of the assassination of village leaders in northern Thailand is underway indicates that this is no Vietnamese phenomenon. It is the Communist formula for the eventual reduction of all Southeast Asia.

To counter this, you have to have a lot more power than the enemy, just as there has to be a lot more cops than bandits.

REASON THREE: The beginning of the cracking. In large areas in Vietnam, particularly in the rice-rich delta, the VC was moving openly by daylight a year ago. Today they are way underground. But this, in itself, could be attributed only to the U.S. build-up if there were not other encouraging wind-straws.

There is, for example, the growing stand-and-fightism among the Popular Forces, the home guards who man the isolated strongpoints that the VC used to overrun at night. There is an increasing flow of intelligence from farmers and villagers who, only months ago, were sullenly silent.

Last year 12,000 VC "returnees" voluntarily presented themselves to the "Chieu Hoi," or "Open Arms" centers. So far this year there have been another 12,000 with three months yet to go. And the monthly rate is rising. Returnees complain of being tired of hiding, of being bombed, of hunger and disease. They ridicule the endless VC political pep sessions. Recently some platoon leaders have been showing up.

THE VC is getting, at last, a dose of heavy counter-propaganda. He is being showered with leaflets asking how long he will be a pawn of Chinese expansionism, how he'd like to join the "real revolution" now shaping up in Vietnam in favor of individual rights and justice. Loud-speaker planes, capable of being heard over a one-mile radius, are broadcasting tapes made by VC who have defected.

In the meantime, Hanoi and Peking are pinning their hopes on American "war-weariness." Every defeatist speech in Congress, however sincerely delivered, raises hopes that if the war is continued a little longer the Americans will give up. Every page-one picture of American beatniks offering to donate blood to North Vietnam enforces the belief that Americans are hopelessly divided and are ready to collapse.

But more and more, the war in Vietnam resembles the successful campaign of the British against similar tactics in Malaya, even though the British did not have to contend with constant new infiltrations through such bogus neutrals as Laos and Cambodia. The VC does not have time on its side. The huffing and puffing from Peking, darkly hinting of possible massive Chinese participation, is facing a put-up-or-shut-up situation.

The war is going well.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Probers Parley Startled by News Of Wave of Murders and Looting Inside Labor.

Washington, D.C.: -- A roomful of men known as the "OLMWPR crowd" met here last Wednesday, Oct. 19, to talk of strategy needed to pull some lusty leeches off the back of millions of union duespayers.

The "OLMWPR crowd," coming together from all parts of the nation for the first time in three years, virtually is unknown to the public -- though they are a dedicated investigatory force. Of late they have learned, more than any other group of Federals except the FBI, of murder, mayhem, looting, embezzlement, conspiracy, terror, shakedowns and chicanery down in the bottom amongst the local labor "warlords."

The "OLMWPR crowd" is made up of the Federal Government's Office of Labor-Management and Welfare-Pension Reports compliance regional directors.

Collectively, they were aghast at the impact of newly pooled information of a wave of local union looting, killing and violence right across this nation.

But they were more frustrated by the grim legal fact that they could do very little with their knowledge.

Apparently no national force appears willing to take on what obviously again is needed in the image of the late Estes Kefauver or the overworked Sen. McClellan.

Mostly this wave of violence has hit the construction unions -- including the teamsters, one of whose officials was shot cold to death in his office this summer. In addition to the murder of two painters and a Las Vegas pipefitters union leader, there have been at least three such killings in other unions during the past few months.

There is much talk of the painters union murders and the indictment in New York of District Council 9 leader Martin Rarback on charges of taking over $840,000 in bribes. But few realize that painters rank and filers as late as Oct. 6 futilely have asked the Labor and Justice Depts. for a probe of the organization.

There is much talk of the painters' scandals -- but what of the unobserved indictments and convictions of officials of iron workers locals -- or of conspiracies in that pivotal union to take over the international presidency of that organization. The job now brings its president, John Lyons, a total of $64,872.86 in salary, allowances and expenses.

Two iron workers union local chiefs in Atlantic City were indicted last month on charges of embezzlement and conspiracy. They were accused of taking money from a hidden strike fund they set up in 1961.

Two other iron workers officials were sentenced about the same day to prison for taking money as a union official from an employer. They operated in the New York area. This is in the east. But the word is that there is plenty such steady looting in unions west of here.

The OLMWPR men talked of the "Stirone boys" trying to work their way into the Pittsburgh hod carriers; or of the "old crowd" trying to push their way back into St. Louis construction locals; or some racket-tinged local in the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers or the carpenters.

In New York's Southern District, on which insiders' attention is most concentrated, the ever-crusading U.S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau is probing the huge garbage collection business. He's looking into control of the vital dumping grounds as well as carting. The word "vital" is used advisedly. What would an honest carter do with several truckloads of garbage if he had no place to dump it?

Mr. Morgenthau also is taking another look at a carting union with a tough reputation.

Why is there no national probe by anyone? The AFL-CIO national headquarters says in effect, "This is a cop problem." The labor federation's cannons of ethical practices say that the national office cannot look into an affiliated national union unless it is "dominated, controlled and substantially influenced" by corrupt elements. Well, the national leaders of the electrical workers or the plumbers or the carpenters are not.

Why doesn't the latter probe? Because the locals have autonomy. To steal? Well, that becomes a federal problem because under Section 302, Taft-Hartley, anything of value taken by a local union official from an employer, etc., is under the Justice Dept's jurisdiction. So President Bud Raftery and the painters' national office did not move against Martin Rarback though $840,000 appears to be something of value even by today's inflated prices.

As for the Justice Dept. -- it is authorized to use the FBI in such cases but the Department is "headless" at the moment.

So there are few local probes, though as one of the "OLMWPR crowd" said, "You have not heard one hundreth of it."

Maybe not. But what's on the record is enough to get somebody to investigate something.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON - The U. S. delegation to the United Nations may represent the richest nation on earth, but they are forced to dig into their own pockets to meet U. N. entertainment obligations.

When the Americans took their turn last week to host the U.N. wives' monthly tea, for example, the budget was so low that Mrs. Arthur Goldberg, wife of the U. N. Ambassador, had to beg the other American wives to bake the cakes and cookies.

"If it is possible for you to do so," she pleaded in a private letter to the wives, "I wonder if you would be good enough to let me know whether you might be able to furnish some tea-type refreshments for this occasion....

"We will need to furnish the food items ourselves since there is no money in our budget for this affair. If you or someone in your family has a special recipe you might not mind preparing, it could be offered together with the goodies."

Those who agreed to tie on the apron and put in some fancy KP for their country received an appreciative letter from Mrs. Goldberg's aide, Rosemary Spencer, who wrote:

"Thanks so much for your offer of a contribution for the tea. We would be most grateful if you could furnish about--cookies. If it would be convenient, could you also bring trays or serving dishes on which to arrange your goodies....

"Your contributions can be sent to the mission any time during the day, as we have refrigerators in which they can be stored if necessary."

On other occasions, Mrs. Goldberg has been obliged to ask the ladies to donate for the flowers and fixtures at the American receptions.

Note--Rep. John Rooney, D-N. Y., who wields the budget knife in the House Appropriations Committee, delights in small economies. But he opens the sluice gates for millions to his friends in the Shipping Industry who come to him for federal subsidies. They reciprocate by throwing extravagant parties where the champagne flows like sea water in his honor.

HIGH COST DRUGS

This column stirred up a tempest last summer when it reported that, under the Medicare Program, the taxpayers' money was going indirectly to buy brand-name drugs that could be purchased by their generic names for a fraction of the brand-name cost.

Across the country, drug manufacturers issued denials and doctors wrote indignant letters to editors. A number of their patients, however, told how they had been squeezed by the drug price mark-up.

Last week, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., called upon the Senate to help elderly patients buy their drugs at generic-name prices.

"If this were done by a business firm," said Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., protesting against Long's opposition to brand names, "it would be referred to as unfair business competition."

'I know," retorted Long, "that some people would like to see the government pay for drugs for old people at four or five times more than the actual cost. It would cost our government hundreds of millions."

The Senator from Louisiana then cited several drugs which sell at inflated prices under brand names, including the common aspirin.

A customer can buy generic-name aspirins, he said, "at a very nominal cost. If one wants to buy a brand-name aspirin it is exactly the same product. It may be advertised that there is none better. They are right. There is none better, and there is none worse. It is all aspirin....

"Why shoud we, as a government, pay a penny apiece for aspirin tablets when there are bottles of them in every drugstore at seven for a penny - the same size and the same quality?"

HUEY THE KINGFISH

Recalling his father's days as a patent medicine pitchman, the Senator told how Louisiana's colorful Huey "Kingfish" Long used to offer two medicines.

"One was named high poplarlorum, and the other was named low poplarhirum," recollected the Sen. "Both bottles were the same size. One bottle sold for 50 cents, the other for a dollar. The people practically always bought the dollar bottle.

"The difference between these two products was that the high poplarlorum was made from the bark that had been skinned down the tree, and the low poplarhirum was made from the bark that had been skinned up the tree.

"I cannot criticize the (druggists) for charging a dollar for a 5-cent bottle," said Sen. Long, "when I know that my dad did the same thing. But we have no business making the old people pay two or three times more than they should to get these products."

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

There's plenty of politics both up over and down under in President Lyndon B. Johnson's visit in Australia.

This country hasn't paid enough attention to Asia, its problems, people and promise.

This is apparent if for no other reason than Johnson is the first American president to visit Australia.

So his visit to the land of "The Waltzing Matilda", the boomerang, the kangaroo, the aborigines and koala bear is a welcome one to citizens both above and below--especially to Prime Minister Harold E. Holt, who, like Lyndon, has watched his popularity slip in an election year.

The Johnson visit is expected to enhance the electoral fortunes of Holt's Liberal-Country party coalition while aiding Democrats running for Congress in the United States.

The prime minister seems content to stand or fall in Viet Nam, an overriding issue in a Nov. 26 general election. The issue also is one cause of President Johnson's growing unpopularity in this country.

"By denying victory to Hanoi and Peking in South Viet Nam," Holt told the Australian House, "the spread of Communism in Southeast Asia can be checked."

No one has a greater stake in getting it checked than the Australians as any map reading student of geography can readily see.

Holt's talk is the kind all Americans should like to hear. Lyndon does like it.

The President may have in mind an even more ambitious task for Australia than helping out in Viet Nam.

As Great Britain withdraws its remaining forces from southern Asia, Australia may be forced to fill the vacuum.

Even now Australian troops are stationed in Malaysia as part of the commonwealth strategic reserve.

Australian-American ties, forged in World War II, grow stronger with the passage of time.

As Edward Clark, U. S. ambassador to Australia, puts it:

"The alliance between Australia and the United States is one of the most vital ever entered into."

Johnson himslef has sentimental ties in Australia.

During World War II, when he was a Texas congressman he served in Australia and New Zealand after being called to active duty in the Naval reserve.

So there are compelling personal as well as political and military reasons for his Australia call.

Residents of Asia, including our fellow American citizens in Hawaii, have long complained that this country gives too much attention to Europe at the expense of Asia, which also has an illustrious history, a devotion to democratic principles, wonderful people, good tourist attractions, and a promising future.

It's difficult to find fault with any effort designed to erase this firmly held feeling.

All of the American people are bound to gain long range benefits from the President's trip although it may be difficult to convince Republicans, particularly those running for seats in Congress, that they will reap any immediate gain from the odyssey.

BEWARE WHEN THE HOUSEWIFE IS ANNOYED

While most of the major pronouncements about government, the war and the economy are made from the nation's capital and added to this the "wisdom" from Wall Street where everybody believes the world revolves around the stock market, we find when you want to find out what people are thinking you don't rely on these sources.

In fact, most of the people couldn't care less about the whims of the stock market, the Gross National Product and the increasing government and consumer debts, but they are far more concerned about the price of goods in the supermarkets. The farmers are complaining about the prices they are getting for their produce-particularly when they see what these very items are selling for at retail. Also, when people talk of Viet Nam it is about individuals there - not the effect that Viet Nam is having on the economy of the country.

In looking at the country as a whole all these things play an important part in the economy of the country. The possible increase in taxes can defeat a referendum or a candidate. The fact that housewives are collectively worrying about the upward swing in food prices can be translated from each of the towns that make up the country as a whole to the halls of Congress in Washington, and then eventually back to the ticker tape and the price paid for stocks of food companies. Just as this is true about food so also is it true about automobiles, housing and a thousand and one other consumer goods.

The worries that people have about the future are, to a very great extent, justified.

So we don't agree with the political predictions of the Johnson administration and his rubber-stamp members in Congress - we say beware when the housewife is annoyed!

OLD BLACKSMITH SHOP

It wasn't much to look at - just an old, weather-beaten, rambling shop at the village edge. Around it was a tangled mass of old cultivators, wagons, wheels, sleds, plows and harrows. Inside, the floor was black with dirt and littered with hoof parings. Windows were gray-streaked with grime and half concealed with masses of old cobwebs.

Overhead on the stringers were rows of new shoes - dainty, lighweight shoes for Morgan roaders and heavy ones for big work horses. In one corner was a heap of discarded shoes plus a tangled mass of odds and ends of metal.

At one side was the forge with its big leather bellows; near it was the old anvil and the half tub of black-looking scummy water.

It was fun for small boys to watch the old smith as he heated a shoe red hot in the glowing coals and then pounded the shoe to shape on the anvil.

Clouds of red-orange sparks arched in the air; gray steam billowed upward as he plunged the hot shoe into the water. Quickly he lifted Old Jerry's leg and tried the fit of the shoe; the acrid, nostril-crinkling smell of burned hoof filled the shop.

The old smith talked as he worked and told boys stories of long ago when he shod as many oxen as horses. Perhaps he heated the shoe again and pounded it again for an exact fit. Then he drove nails through the hoof and the holes in the shoe. He twisted off the nail ends and filed the edges smooth with a big rasp.

Old blacksmith shops are gone-gone with the wagons and sleighs of yesteryear. But there are men in office and factory who look back over the years and remember the pleasant hours they spent in an old blacksmith shop.

THE ADVANTAGES OF LIVESTOCK PRODUCTION

Farmers, along with governmental and private spokesmen for agriculture, are showing an ever-increasing interest in the advantages of livestock production. That is happening in areas where livestock has played a relatively small role in the overall farm economy.

An editorial in the Greensboro, North Carolina, Daily Record, is indicative of the current thinking. It points out that the state's farm income could be boosted by nearly $300 million a year if enough cattle and hogs were produced to supply existing processing plants there. Then it says: "This is part of the big change taking place in southern agriculture as cotton's long reign in cash-crop economy gives way to diversification. The livestock potential is particularly important for North Carolina where tobacco is a dominant force in the economy. Nobody can be certain about the long-range effect on the so-called cancer scare on the tobacco industry. The promotion of the livestock industry -- both the raising of cattle and hogs and the processing of meat products -- advances diversification while scotching the economy against possible adversity for the tobacco industry."

The agricultural situation, of course, varies greatly from one part of the nation to another, where different crops are pre-eminent. But the attraction and advantages offered by livestock production are much the same everywhere. For one thing, the packers offer a day-in-day-out cash market for livestock -- and it is a market which is ruled by the natural law of supply and demand, and not by political acts and decisions. For another, the demand for meat of high quality is running at high levels and will undoubtedly go higher.

Livestock production, on a small or large scale, is worth any farmer's consideration.

FASTS & FEASTS

A writer soon learns the wisdom of not forcing the issue when ideas do not come. On such a day I've learned that the thing to do is to loaf, read, meditate, do routine things, work in the garden, and just be stupid. Deep down in the subconscious new thoughts are forming and tomorrow may come the illumination!

Emerson explained it this way: "While places are alike to me, I make great distinction between states of mind. My days are made up of a very few different tones and feelings. These are my feasts and fasts."

Such is the miracle of the mind that the mental fast today may inspire the mental feast tomorrow. So rest easy and wait.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON - The U. S. delegation to the United Nations may represent the richest nation on earth, but they are forced to dig into their own pockets to meet U. N. entertainment obligations.

When the Americans took their turn last week to host the U.N. wives' monthly tea, for example, the budget was so low that Mrs. Arthur Goldberg, wife of the U. N. Ambassador, had to beg the other American wives to bake the cakes and cookies.

"If it is possible for you to do so," she pleaded in a private letter to the wives, "I wonder if you would be good enough to let me know whether you might be able to furnish some tea-type refreshments for this occasion....

"We will need to furnish the food items ourselves since there is no money in our budget for this affair. If you or someone in your family has a special recipe you might not mind preparing, it could be offered together with the goodies."

Those who agreed to tie on the apron and put in some fancy KP for their country received an appreciative letter from Mrs. Goldberg's aide, Rosemary Spencer, who wrote:

"Thanks so much for your offer of a contribution for the tea. We would be most grateful if you could furnish about--cookies. If it would be convenient, could you also bring trays or serving dishes on which to arrange your goodies....

"Your contributions can be sent to the mission any time during the day, as we have refrigerators in which they can be stored if necessary."

On other occasions, Mrs. Goldberg has been obliged to ask the ladies to donate for the flowers and fixtures at the American receptions.

Note--Rep. John Rooney, D-N. Y., who wields the budget knife in the House Appropriations Committee, delights in small economies. But he opens the sluice gates for millions to his friends in the Shipping Industry who come to him for federal subsidies. They reciprocate by throwing extravagant parties where the champagne flows like sea water in his honor.

HIGH COST DRUGS

This column stirred up a tempest last summer when it reported that, under the Medicare Program, the taxpayers' money was going indirectly to buy brand-name drugs that could be purchased by their generic names for a fraction of the brand-name cost.

Across the country, drug manufacturers issued denials and doctors wrote indignant letters to editors. A number of their patients, however, told how they had been squeezed by the drug price mark-up.

Last week, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., called upon the Senate to help elderly patients buy their drugs at generic-name prices.

"If this were done by a business firm," said Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., protesting against Long's opposition to brand names, "it would be referred to as unfair business competition."

'I know," retorted Long, "that some people would like to see the government pay for drugs for old people at four or five times more than the actual cost. It would cost our government hundreds of millions."

The Senator from Louisiana then cited several drugs which sell at inflated prices under brand names, including the common aspirin.

A customer can buy generic-name aspirins, he said, "at a very nominal cost. If one wants to buy a brand-name aspirin it is exactly the same product. It may be advertised that there is none better. They are right. There is none better, and there is none worse. It is all aspirin....

"Why shoud we, as a government, pay a penny apiece for aspirin tablets when there are bottles of them in every drug-store at seven for a penny - the same size and the same quality?"

HUEY THE KINGFISH

Recalling his father's days as a patent medicine pitchman, the Senator told how Louisiana's colorful Huey "Kingfish" Long used to offer two medicines.

"One was named high poplarlorum, and the other was named low poplarhirum," recollected the Sen. "Both bottles were the same size. One bottle sold for 50 cents, the other for a dollar. The people practically always bought the dollar bottle.

"The difference between these two products was that the high poplarlorum was made from the bark that had been skinned down the tree, and the low poplarhirum was made from the bark that had been skinned up the tree.

"I cannot criticize the (druggists) for charging a dollar for a 5-cent bottle," said Sen. Long, "when I know that my dad did the same thing. But we have no business making the old people pay two or three times more than they should to get these products."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Probers Parley Startled by News Of Wave of Murders and Looting Inside Labor.

Washington, D.C.: -- A roomful of men known as the "OLMWPR crowd" met here last Wednesday, Oct. 19, to talk of strategy needed to pull some lusty leeches off the back of millions of union duespayers.

The "OLMWPR crowd," coming together from all parts of the nation for the first time in three years, virtually is unknown to the public -- though they are a dedicated investigatory force. Of late they have learned, more than any other group of Federals except the FBI, of murder, mayhem, looting, embezzlement, conspiracy, terror, shakedowns and chicanery down in the bottom amongst the local labor "warlords."

The "OLMWPR crowd" is made up of the Federal Government's Office of Labor-Management and Welfare-Pension Reports compliance regional directors.

Collectively, they were aghast at the impact of newly pooled information of a wave of local union looting, killing and violence right across this nation.

But they were more frustrated by the grim legal fact that they could do very little with their knowledge.

Apparently no national force appears willing to take on what obviously again is needed in the image of the late Estes Kefauver or the overworked Sen. McClellan.

Mostly this wave of violence has hit the construction unions -- including the teamsters, one of whose officials was shot cold to death in his office this summer. In addition to the murder of two painters and a Las Vegas pipefitters union leader, there have been at least three such killings in other unions during the past few months.

There is much talk of the painters union murders and the indictment in New York of District Council 9 leader Martin Rarback on charges of taking over $840,000 in bribes. But few realize that painters rank and filers as late as Oct. 6 futilely have asked the Labor and Justice Depts. for a probe of the organization.

There is much talk of the painters' scandals -- but what of the unobserved indictments and convictions of officials of iron workers locals -- or of conspiracies in that pivotal union to take over the international presidency of that organization. The job now brings its president, John Lyons, a total of $64,872.86 in salary, allowances and expenses.

Two iron workers union local chiefs in Atlantic City were indicted last month on charges of embezzlement and conspiracy. They were accused of taking money from a hidden strike fund they set up in 1961.

Two other iron workers officials were sentenced about the same day to prison for taking money as a union official from an employer. They operated in the New York area. This is in the east. But the word is that there is plenty such steady looting in unions west of here.

The OLMWPR men talked of the "Stirone boys" trying to work their way into the Pittsburgh hod carriers; or of the "old crowd" trying to push their way back into St. Louis construction locals; or some racket-tinged local in the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers or the carpenters.

In New York's Southern District, on which insiders' attention is most concentrated, the ever-crusading U.S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau is probing the huge garbage collection business. He's looking into control of the vital dumping grounds as well as carting. The word "vital" is used advisedly. What would an honest carter do with several truckloads of garbage if he had no place to dump it?

Mr. Morgenthau also is taking another look at a carting union with a tough reputation.

Why is there no national probe by anyone? The AFL-CIO national headquarters says in effect, "This is a cop problem." The labor federation's cannons of ethical practices say that the national office cannot look into an affiliated national union unless it is "dominated, controlled and substantially influenced" by corrupt elements. Well, the national leaders of the electrical workers or the plumbers or the carpenters are not.

Why doesn't the latter probe? Because the locals have autonomy. To steal? Well, that becomes a federal problem because under Section 302, Taft-Hartley, anything of value taken by a local union official from an employer, etc., is under the Justice Dept's jurisdiction. So President Bud Raftery and the painters' national office did not move against Martin Rarback though $840,000 appears to be something of value even by today's inflated prices.

As for the Justice Dept. -- it is authorized to use the FBI in such cases but the Department is "headless" at the moment.

So there are few local probes, though as one of the "OLMWPR crowd" said, "You have not heard one hundreth of it."

Maybe not. But what's on the record is enough to get somebody to investigate something.

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

HOW GOES THE WAR?

DA NANG, Vietnam -- How goes the war?

Better.

Pretty well, in fact.

You can say that things are beginning to roll our way. And unless there's a major change in the weight of power -- such as the commitment of the Chinese army -- they should roll our way even faster.

Reason one: The September 10 elections. In spite of fierce pressure by the Vietcong and loud demands by the "militant Buddhists" that voters stay away from the polls, 80 per cent of those registered cast ballots.

This put a few things in focus. It tore in tatters the leftwing assertion that Vietnamese are overwhelmingly in sympathy with the Cong and are being held in the bondage of a military government and U.S. soldiery.

The Vietnamese want peace. They have had a quarter century of uninterrupted war. They'd be happy if all the soldiers and guerrillas would vanish tomorrow. But when the demarcation line was drawn practically all the refugees went south. Ho Chi Minh is not the idol of South Vietnam.

REASON TWO: The stuff we're throwing in. The United States has over 300,000 men here. The hardware is good, the firepower tremendous. We control the sea and the skies. We hop across the mountains and the rivers. For the first time, the world is seeing a totally mobile war, but it is our side that is mobile -- not theirs.

The punch we've got here has provided another argument for the let's-pull-out school in America. Why, they ask, is the U.S. presence so necessary if the Vietnamese really dislike the Cong? Why don't these people simply rally behind their own army and throw Charlie out?

You have to understand Ho Chi Minh's philosophy of fighting. The object is to destroy the local power structure through assassinations and terror. You don't have to shoot many village headmen and district chiefs before the villagers and farmers get the message. The idea is to enforce a frightened neutralism, even if you have only a small body of troops who want to move at night.

This might not work in Ohio or Iowa, among sophisticated people capable of fast organization. But even in the United States 1,000 dedicated terrorists would have little difficulty in killing half the members of Congress and half the state governors, and the confusion would be pretty considerable. The effect of these tactics on a pastoral, sometimes primitive, people should be obvious. The fact that the beginning of the assassination of village leaders in northern Thailand is underway indicates that this is no Vietnamese phenomenon. It is the Communist formula for the eventual reduction of all Southeast Asia.

To counter this, you have to have a lot more power than the enemy, just as there has to be a lot more cops than bandits.

REASON THREE: The beginning of the cracking. In large areas in Vietnam, particularly in the rice-rich delta, the VC was moving openly by daylight a year ago. Today they are way underground. But this, in itself, could be attributed only to the U.S. build-up if there were not other encouraging wind-straws.

There is, for example, the growing stand-and-fightism among the Popular Forces, the home guards who man the isolated strongpoints that the VC used to overrun at night. There is an increasing flow of intelligence from farmers and villagers who, only months ago, were sullenly silent.

Last year 12,000 VC "returnees" voluntarily presented themselves to the "Chieu Hoi," or "Open Arms" centers. So far this year there have been another 12,000 with three months yet to go. And the monthly rate is rising. Returnees complain of being tired of hiding, of being bombed, of hunger and disease. They ridicule the endless VC political pep sessions. Recently some platoon leaders have been showing up.

THE VC is getting, at last, a dose of heavy counter-propaganda. He is being showered with leaflets asking how long he will be a pawn of Chinese expansionism, how he'd like to join the "real revolution" now shaping up in Vietnam in favor of individual rights and justice. Loud-speaker planes, capable of being heard over a one-mile radius, are broadcasting tapes made by VC who have defected.

In the meantime, Hanoi and Peking are pinning their hopes on American "war-weariness." Every defeatist speech in Congress, however sincerely delivered, raises hopes that if the war is continued a little longer the Americans will give up. Every page-one picture of American beatniks offering to donate blood to North Vietnam enforces the belief that Americans are hopelessly divided and are ready to collapse.

But more and more, the war in Vietnam resembles the successful campaign of the British against similar tactics in Malaya, even though the British did not have to contend with constant new infiltrations through such bogus neutrals as Laos and Cambodia. The VC does not have time on its side. The huffing and puffing from Peking, darkly hinting of possible massive Chinese participation, is facing a put-up-or-shut-up situation.

The war is going well.

Miss Lupe Martinez Weds Miguel Trevino Jr.

DEXTER -- Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Lupe Martinez and Miguel Trevino, Jr, of Parma Saturday afternoon, Oct. 8 at 2 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Catholic church with the Rev. James A. Seyer performing the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Josefa A. Zavala of Kenedy, Texas, and the bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Louise Aldaco of Parma.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandmother, Mrs. G. R. Ortiz. The bride chose for her wedding a bridal creation of lace over satin styled with a scalloped neckline, long slender sleeves tapering to delicate points at the wrists, and a gently flowing skirt with a cathedral train cascading from the waist. Her finger tip veil of illusion was secured to a tiara of pearls and lace. Her bridal bouquet was composed of white carnations accented with blue.

The bride chose Ramona Gaona as the maid of honor. She was attired in a street-length blue gown with empire styling, long lace sleeves and accented with a bow in the back.

Teddy Cavazos was the best man.

The bridegroom's mother wore a blue suit with lace scarf and white carnation corsage.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was overlaid with a white lace cloth and centered with the wedding cake. Mrs. Chris Maldonado and Misses Mary Lou and Barbara Starnes assisted in the serving.

The couple left for St. Louis following the reception where the bride wore for her going away costume an aqua shift. The couple will live in St. Louis where the groom is employed with McDonnell Corp.

Morehouse WSCS Plans Bazaar

MOREHOUSE -- The Women's Society of Christian Service met Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the Rauch - Spence Memorial Methodist church for a regular business meeting with 10 members and one visitor present.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Nelson Gruen giving the devotional, "The Rose of Sharon." The scripture was Song of Solomon 2.1. Isaiah 35. The group sang, "For the Earth," with Mrs. James Estep at the piano.

Mrs. Gruen led in prayer.

A business meeting was held under the direction of president, Mrs. A. W. Summers, minutes from the previous meeting were approved and read.

The group voted to spend $5 for each book study.

Mrs. Gruen read a letter from Miss Laura, a missionary in the Phillipines. The week of prayer was discussed. A bazaar will be Nov. 18. Three get well cards were signed by members.

The meeting was adjourned with prayer by Mrs. Dessie Sherrard.

Coffee Ends Observance

A coffee held at the First National Bank community room today brought an end to a week-long observance of National Business Women's Week by the approximately 60 members of the Business and Professional Woman's club. In this 47th year of the National Federation, there are 6,500 members in Missouri and 177,00 members in the United States.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs was influential in passing federal legislation prohibiting discrimination in hiring and in job opportunity because of sex.

According to a study made the Missouri division of employment security, by 1970 there will be about 627,000 women working. This represents an increase of 16 per cent for women, as compared to a seven per cent increase for men. By this time, one out of every three workers will be a woman.

The study indicates that except for teen-age girls and women 65 and over, about two out of every five women in 1970 will be in the labor force.

Norval Cannon Speaks to PTA

The Matthews elementary parent-Teacher association met Tuesday at the school auditorium. The meeting was called to order by the president and the Rev. James Trimble opened the meeting with the devotional. After a scripture reading, he read a poem, "Living The Way We Pray," followed by prayer.

Membership chairman, Don Agnew, encouraged parents to join the PTA. It was announced that the school record books which have been selected as this year's project, have been ordered and will go on sale at the November meeting.

Norval Cannon, president of the library board , gave a talk concerning and encouraging the use of the liberary. He said that the library is one of the finest in the country for a town the size of Sikeston and that everyone is invited to visit and use its facilities.

Room count winners again went to Mrs. Linda Pritchett's first grade and Mrs. Freda Grants' second grade.

Principal Allen Mays introduced Mrs. Mary Carney and Harvey Meyer, who are the new elementary school counselors. Mrs. Carney spoke on the importance of counseling on the elementary level. Meyer also outlined this new phase of guidance and the advantages of having counseling available for this age group. He pointed out that the teacher, the principal and the counselor along with the parents work together to help the child with individual problems as well as group problems.

After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served by the first grade mothers.

It was a sunny morning right after Thanksgiving when my little kindergarten sister wandered into the bathroom to put her shoes on. My father was shaving, his face covered with lather.

Regarding him in curiousity, she asked in a puzzled tone, "Daddy, why do you always have to shave your whispers?"

Smiling, my father punned back his retort, "So they won't grow too loud!"

Miss Lupe Martinez Weds Miguel Trevino Jr.

DEXTER -- Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Lupe Martinez and Miguel Trevino, Jr, of Parma Saturday afternoon, Oct. 8 at 2 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Catholic church with the Rev. James A. Seyer performing the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Josefa A. Zavala of Kenedy, Texas, and the bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Louise Aldaco of Parma.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandmother, Mrs. G. R. Ortiz. The bride chose for her wedding a bridal creation of lace over satin styled with a scalloped neckline, long slender sleeves tapering to delicate points at the wrists, and a gently flowing skirt with a cathedral train cascading from the waist. Her finger tip veil of illusion was secured to a tiara of pearls and lace. Her bridal bouquet was composed of white carnations accented with blue.

The bride chose Ramona Gaona as the maid of honor. She was attired in a street-length blue gown with empire styling, long lace sleeves and accented with a bow in the back.

Teddy Cavazos was the best man.

The bridegroom's mother wore a blue suit with lace scarf and white carnation corsage.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was overlaid with a white lace cloth and centered with the wedding cake. Mrs. Chris Maldonado and Misses Mary Lou and Barbara Starnes assisted in the serving.

Morehouse WSCS Plans Bazaar

MOREHOUSE -- The Women's Society of Christian Service met Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the Rauch - Spence Memorial Methodist church for a regular business meeting with 10 members and one visitor present.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Nelson Gruen giving the devotional, "The Rose of Sharon." The scripture was Song of Solomon 2.1. Isaiah 35. The group sang, "For the Earth," with Mrs. James Estep at the piano.

Mrs. Gruen led in prayer.

A business meeting was held under the direction of president, Mrs. A. W. Summers, minutes from the previous meeting were approved and read.

The group voted to spend $5 for each book study.

Mrs. Gruen read a letter from Miss Laura, a missionary in the Phillipines. The week of prayer was discussed. A bazaar will be Nov. 18. Three get well cards were signed by members.

The meeting was adjourned with prayer by Mrs. Dessie Sherrard.

Edward Triplett of Essex has been released from Poplar Bluff hospital.

Mrs. Nellie A. Seeburger of Dexter has been admitted to Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff.

John H. Covington of Dexter has been released from Lucy Lee hospital.

Coffee Ends Observance

A coffee held at the First National Bank community room today brought an end to a week-long observance of National Business Women's Week by the approximately 60 members of the Business and Professional Woman's club. In this 47th year of the National Federation, there are 6,500 members in Missouri and 177,00 members in the United States.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs was influential in passing federal legislation prohibiting discrimination in hiring and in job opportunity because of sex.

According to a study made the Missouri division of employment security, by 1970 there will be about 627,000 women working. This represents an increase of 16 per cent for women, as compared to a seven per cent increase for men. By this time, one out of every three workers will be a woman.

The study indicates that except for teen-age girls and women 65 and over, about two out of every five women in 1970 will be in the labor force.

Norval Cannon Speaks to PTA

The Matthews elementary parent-Teacher association met Tuesday at the school auditorium. The meeting was called to order by the president and the Rev. James Trimble opened the meeting with the devotional. After a scripture reading, he read a poem, "Living The Way We Pray," followed by prayer.

Membership chairman, Don Agnew, encouraged parents to join the PTA. It was announced that the school record books which have been selected as this year's project, have been ordered and will go on sale at the November meeting.

Norval Cannon, president of the library board, gave a talk concerning and encouraging the use of the liberary. He said that the library is one of the finest in the country for a town the size of Sikeston and that everyone is invited to visit and use its facilities.

Room count winners again went to Mrs. Linda Pritchett's first grade and Mrs. Freda Grants' second grade.

Principal Allen Mays introduced Mrs. Mary Carney and Harvey Meyer, who are the new elementary school counselors. Mrs. Carney spoke on the importance of counseling on the elementary level. Meyer also outlined this new phase of guidance and the advantages of having counseling available for this age group. He pointed out that the teacher, the principal and the counselor along with the parents work together to help the child with individual problems as well as group problems.

After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served by the first grade mothers.

It was a sunny morning right after Thanksgiving when my little kindergarten sister wandered into the bathroom to put her shoes on. My father was shaving, his face covered with lather.

Regarding him in curiousity, she asked in a puzzled tone, "Daddy, why do you always have to shave your whispers?"

Sikeston Takes 27-13 Homecoming Win

Lopp, Limbaugh Lead Dogs with Two Markers Each

By RON JAYNES

All was well after last night's football game with the Cape Girardeau Central Tigers. The Sikeston Bulldogs took advantage of Central mistakes and ran up a 27-13 homecoming victory before 3,000 fans at public schools stadium.

The game was the fifth victory for the Bulldogs going along with one defeat and one tie. They have beaten Chaffee, Perryville, Charleston, Dexter, and now Cape Central. The lone loss was to unbeaten Poplar Bluff, with the tie being with the Kennett Indians.

Central was the only team in contention for the conference crown until last night but got knocked out by the Bulldogs, who almost assured the Poplar Bluff Mules their championship. The Mules have only one game to play in the conference that with Charleston next week.

Cape came into last night's battle minus two of their main string backs, out with injuries, and had to judge the starting unit. The substitutes might have turned the game around as the backs did a fantastic job against the Sikeston defense.

On the other hand Sikeston was at full strength for the first time since the opening game of the season with only one player at a time being out, that for only one game with a bruised muscle or a charlie horse.

Quarterback Wayne Limbaugh played his usual fine game. He called a good game in when the Dogs needed that extra yardage they came up with it almost every time. Limbaugh did an excellent job on passes. When he had no one open he would scramble out of the hole for long yardage.

Sikeston went into the game a touchdown favorite but played as if it was a three-touchdown favorite until the third period when it seemed as if all of the spirit and fire in the players went out.

This victory was one enjoyed by Sikeston fans. Cape spoiled the Bulldogs homecoming last season.

There were no standouts on defense for the Bulldogs. At times the Dogs would have good blocking. At other times it seemed that Steve Emory and Ben King were running into paper bags. They would bounce off a would - be tackler and go for another five yards before five Bulldogs defensive players caught up with them.

Sikeston won the toss and elected to kick off with the wind to their backs. Cape passed for a first down on the third play of the game but stalled on their own 46 on a fumble that Sikeston recovered.

The Bulldogs went 54 yards in 11 plays for a touchdown. Limbaugh completed a pass to Mike Garner and then scrambled for 21 yards in setting up the score. Limbaugh scored on a two - yard plunge over center and Danny Lopp added the extra point for a 7-0 lead early in the game.

On the kickoff Roger Blackman recovered a Central fumble on Cape's 38-yard line and drove in for the score on nine plays. Limbaugh set up this score on a 24 - yard pass to Dennis Snelling. Limbaugh went over from the two - yard line and Lopp added the extra point for a 14-0 lead.

The Tigers found themselves down 14-0 at the end of the first quarter. The game would have possibly been 0-0 if not for two costly Cape fumbles.

After the first period ended, Cape ran out of downs on the Sikeston 34-yard line and the Dogs took over for only four plays and were forced to punt.

After the punt in which the Tigers took over on their own 37 they drove down field in 15 plays for a score by Steve Emory from the one - yard line. The extra point was no good and Sikeston held a slim 14-6 lead midway in the second period.

Neither team was able to score in the closing minutes of the second half and the Bulldogs went into the dressing room holding a 14-6 lead.

Cape's marching high school band entertained spectators at the half and was followed by the Sikeston high school band and the twirlers who put on a show of twirling a baton of fire.

In the first half Sikeston rushed for 105 yards while Cape went for 144 yards and 19 passing while Sikeston collected 33 yards on passing the first half.

After the opening minutes of the third period after both teams had possession of the pigskin a blocked punt put the Tigers within two points and the extra point advanced them closer.

Cape recovered the blocked punt on the one - yard line from were Mike Stewart went over for the TD and converted for a 14-13 game with Sikeston holding the lead.

In the closing minutes of the third period Lopp went over from the seven - yard line and added the extra point to give the Bulldogs a little headway and lead at the end of the three quarters, 21-13.

The Bulldogs final score came in the fourth period with 7:21 minutes left in the game.

Limbaugh rushed for 39 yards on three plays and helped set up the final score by Lopp.

Lopp carried eight times for 111 yards. Terry Scudder carried seven times, for 13 yards, and caught one pass for 17 yards.

Limbaugh carried 14 times for 144 yards. Dennis Snelling carried five times for one yards, and caught one pass for 25 yards.

Mike Garner caught one pass for eight yards.

Bluff Wins 27 13

POPLAR BLUFF- With the Sikeston Bulldogs taking a 27-13 victory over northern division foe Cape Girardeau the Mules enjoyed a homecoming victory and word of winning the northern division conference crown. The Mules played the Dexter Bearcats and posted a 27-13 victory.

The Mules were without the services of big Fullback John Brown, who was forced to set out the game due to an injury.

Bluff posted a 27-0 first half lead and used reserves during the second half.

Doing the first half scoring for the Mules were Eddie Moss on a one-yard run, Larry Vaughn on an eight-yard sweep and Danny Pritchett on a 46-yard run. The final touchdown on a Ben Wyatt pass for 38 yards to Pritchett.

Gary Gregg scored on a three-yard run and John Agee threw a 20-yard pass to Bruce Hartline for the Bearcat Scores.

Bluff faces Charleston next week and then travel to Jefferson City where they meet the previously unbeaten Jays.

Goodrich Adds To Scoring Lead With TD In Kennett Win

KENNETT --Rebounding from a defeat by the Charleston Blue-Jays last week the Kennett Indians won their homecoming game over Perryville here last night 26-20.

Four fumbles almost cost the mighty Indians defeat but Robert Goodrich and Robert Taylor combined for a good ground and air game to bring the Indians from defeat.

All three Pirate touchdowns were set up by Kennett fumbles as the first TD came early in the first quarter when the Indians fumbles on the eight and James Taylor taking the pigskin over from the one yard line for the pirates after two plays. Mike Gotto scored the extra point and the Perryville Pirates held a 7-0 lead.

Kennett came right back after the Perryville scored and on a 65 yard kickoff return by Larry Hail that set up a Robert Taylor pass to Tom Reid for a two yard TD. The extra point was no good and the Pirates held a slim 7-6 lead at the end of the first period.

Perryville took advantage of a Kennett fumble which bounced from the 10-yard line into the end zone where Ralph Hoehne recovered and Gotto converted for a 14-6 Pirate lead.

Kennett scored midway in the second period on a Taylor pass to Ron Harper which went for a 61 yard TD.

Perryville failed to move the ball in the closing minutes of the second period and Robert Goodrich returned a punt 74-yards and set up a Taylor to Greg Buys pass for a 14 yard TD. Taylor converted on the extra point.

The Indians added their final score in the third period on a four yard run by Goodrich and Taylor's extra point.

Perryville's final TD came in the fourth period on another Kennett fumble. Alan Frentzel hauled in a Taylor pass for 13 yards and a score.

The game ended with the Indians interception of a pass by the Pirates after an on side kick of which they recovered

A-State Meets Abilene Christian

JONESBORO, Ark.-Arkansas State's mighty Indians, the state's only undefeated college football team, will go after victory No. 5 tonight as they invade Abilene Christian College for their Southland Conference opener. Game time will be 7:30 p.m.

The Wildcats have a 3-2 slate, but they are unbeaten on their home field. Their losses have been to highly-ranked Chattanooga, 45-8, and to defending Southland Conference champion Lamar Tech, 42-16.

Abilene has been slowed by injuries in its past two games. Last week the Wildcats had two starting defensive halfbacks, All-SLC Tommy Young and Mack Scoggins, sitting on the sidelines with injuries, and a third (Johnny Hughes) hurt during the course of the game. Lamar's All-SLC quarterback Phil Primm had a field day against the second-string secondary as he completed 14 of 18 passes for 224 yards and four touchdowns.

However, Scoggins and Hughes will be ready to play by Saturday and should give A-State aerial ace Tim Keane the stiffest competition he has had this season.

Abilene has one of the conference's best backfield duos in quarterback Jack Roland and fullback Mike Love.

Roland is a jack-of-all-trades who amassed 1,233 yards total offense last season, including 598 yards on the ground to take the SLC rushing title. He is sturdily built and a threat on the rollout option.

Roland has been bothered by a bruised heel, but he is expected to be ready for the Tribe.

Love was one of Texas' top school - boy athletes before coming to Abilene. In his first three seasons with the Wildcats he moved his 205-pound frame for 1,312 yards, and he has already picked up 317 more this season.

He is recognized as one of the best backs in the Southwest and is a two-time All-SLC pick.

The Indians will be in better physical condition for their SLC opener than they had been in the past two games.

Gwin Wood, the tough little 185-pound monster man, is expected to be back in action after watching the last two battles from the sidelines due to a knee injury received in the Florence State encounter.

Charles Hinrichs, 218-pound freshman tackle, should also be back in the lineup. Hinrichs injured his shoulder against Louisiana Tech and did not see action against Murray State.

But all is not rosy. Dwain Glenn, the squad's only letterman interior lineman, is out for the remainder of the season after an operation on the knee he injured in the Louisiana Tech game.

Mike Hinrichs, 6-6 245-pound freshman, has stepped into Glenn's position.

Hawks Down At Hands of Philadelphia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics appear to be off and running as usual in the National Basketball Association. But how do you explain the Chicago Bulls?

The Celtics clobbered the Baltimore Bullets 111-91 Friday night for a first place tie in the Eastern Division with Philadelphia, while Chicago, the league's new franchise, remained on top in the West by defeating defending division champion Los Angeles 108-101 for its fourth victory in five games.

Keith Erickson, with 20 points, and Guy Rodgers, with 17, led the Bulls, who broke a 53-53 tie. The Lakers, playing without backcourt ace Jerry West, got 29 points from Elgin Baylor. Los Angeles is 1-3 and tied for last in the West with Detroit, which lost to San Francisco 136-91.

Boston had no trouble keeping pace with Philadelphia, which beat St. Louis 119-110, as John Havlicek came off the bench after the first period to score 28 points. Celtics player - coach Bill Russell cleared the bench in the fourth period. Don Ohl led Baltimore with 21 points.

Philadelphia came from behind on its home court to beat St. Louis. The Hawks led 38-25 in the first half before the 76ers rallied. The Hawks stayed in contention until Bill Cunningham broke loose in the second half to widen a 79-77 Philadelphia lead to 87-81. Cunningham got 23 points, 18 of them in the second half. Wilt Chamberlain also scored 23 for the 76ers although top scoring honors went to Hal Greer with 30. Richie Guerin paced the Hawks with 28.

San Francisco's Rick Barry scored 37 points and Nate Thurmond added 26 plus domination of the backboards in pacing the Warriors to their easy victory over Detroit. Rookie Dave Bing scored 25 and Tom Van Arsdale got 24 for the Pistons.

St. Vincents Stops Jackson

JACKSON -- In a non-conference game here last night the host Indians got scalped by Perryville, St. Vincents, 19-14.

Both teams were well matched and moved the ball well.

Perryville posted a 6-0 lead in the first quarter and held a 13-7 lead at the half.

Dave Boudendistle scored the first Perryville touchdown on a 46-yard run and Steve Whistler followed with a 64-yard run midway in the second period.

The Indians' lone score in the first half came on Mike Lincoln's 83-yard gallop around right end.

Perryville's final score came when Jerry Guyot picked up a Jackson fumble and ran 15 yards for the TD.

Steve Hager scored the final TD for the Indians on a 26-yard run in the fourth period.

Malden Takes Southern Loop Contest Over Chaffee

CHAFFEE- The visiting Malden Green Wave posted a 19-6 victory last night to spoil the Red Devils homecoming.

Jeff Heohn scored two touchdowns for Malden, on runs of eight and 22 yards.

Malden's final score came late in the game when Clarence Walker recovered a Chaffee fumble in the end zone for the TD.

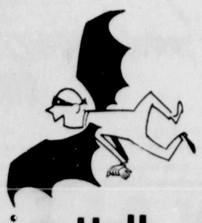

Chaffee's only marker came on Steve Rogers' 75-yard run after catching Terry Wessell's pass.

Goodrich Adds To Scoring Lead With TD In Kennett Win

KENNETT --Rebounding from a defeat by the Charleston Blue-Jays last week the Kennett Indians won their homecoming game over Perryville here last night 26-20.

Four fumbles almost cost the mighty Indians defeat but Robert Goodrich and Robert Taylor combined for a good ground and air game to bring the Indians from defeat.

All three Pirate touchdowns were set up by Kennett fumbles as the first TD came early in the first quarter when the Indians fumbles on the eight and James Taylor taking the pigskin over from the one yard line for the pirates after two plays. Mike Gotto scored the extra point and the Perryville Pirates held a 7-0 lead.

Kennett came right back after the Perryville scored and on a 65 yard kickoff return by Larry Hail that set up a Robert Taylor pass to Tom Reid for a two yard TD. The extra point was no good and the Pirates held a slim 7-6 lead at the end of the first period.

Perryville took advantage of a Kennett fumble which bounced from the 10-yard line into the end zone where Ralph Hoehne recovered and Gotto converted for a 14-6 Pirate lead.

Kennett scored midway in the second period on a Taylor pass to Ron Harper which went for a 61 yard TD.

Perryville failed to move the ball in the closing minutes of the second period and Robert Goodrich returned a punt 74-yards and set up a Taylor to Greg Buys pass for a 14 yard TD. Taylor converted on the extra point.

The Indians added their final score in the third period on a four yard run by Goodrich and Taylor's extra point.

Perryville's final TD came in the fourth period on another Kennett fumble. Alan Frentzel hauled in a Taylor pass for 13 yards and a score.

A-State Meets Abilene Christian

JONESBORO, Ark.-Arkansas State's mighty Indians, the state's only undefeated college football team, will go after victory No. 5 tonight as they invade Abilene Christian College for their Southland Conference opener. Game time will be 7:30 p.m.

The Wildcats have a 3-2 slate, but they are unbeaten on their home field. Their losses have been to highly-ranked Chattanooga, 45-8, and to defending Southland Conference champion Lamar Tech, 42-16.

Abilene has been slowed by injuries in its past two games. Last week the Wildcats had two starting defensive halfbacks, All-SLC Tommy Young and Mack Scoggins, sitting on the sidelines with injuries, and a third (Johnny Hughes) hurt during the course of the game. Lamar's All-SLC quarterback Phil Primm had a field day against the second-string secondary as he completed 14 of 18 passes for 224 yards and four touchdowns.

However, Scoggins and Hughes will be ready to play by Saturday and should give A-State aerial ace Tim Keane the stiffest competition he has had this season.

Abilene has one of the conference's best backfield duos in quarterback Jack Roland and fullback Mike Love.

Roland is a jack-of-all-trades who amassed 1,233 yards total offense last season, including 598 yards on the ground to take the SLC rushing title. He is sturdily built and a threat on the rollout option.

Roland has been bothered by a bruised heel, but he is expected to be ready for the Tribe.

Love was one of Texas' top school - boy athletes before coming to Abilene. In his first three seasons with the Wildcats he moved his 205-pound frame for 1,312 yards, and he has already picked up 317 more this season.

He is recognized as one of the best backs in the Southwest and is a two-time All-SLC pick.

The Indians will be in better physical condition for their SLC opener than they had been in the past two games.

Gwin Wood, the tough little 185-pound monster man, is expected to be back in action after watching the last two battles from the sidelines due to a knee injury received in the Florence State encounter.

Charles Hinrichs, 218-pound freshman tackle, should also be back in the lineup. Hinrichs injured his shoulder against Louisiana Tech and did not see action against Murray State.

But all is not rosy. Dwain Glenn, the squad's only letterman interior lineman, is out for the remainder of the season after an operation on the knee he injured in the Louisiana Tech game.

Mike Hinrichs, 6-6 245-pound freshman, has stepped into Glenn's position.

Hawks Down At Hands of Philadelphia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics appear to be off and running as usual in the National Basketball Association. But how do you explain the Chicago Bulls?

The Celtics clobbered the Baltimore Bullets 111-91 Friday night for a first place tie in the Eastern Division with Philadelphia, while Chicago, the league's new franchise, remained on top in the West by defeating defending division champion Los Angeles 108-101 for its fourth victory in five games.

Keith Erickson, with 20 points, and Guy Rodgers, with 17, led the Bulls, who broke a 53-53 tie. The Lakers, playing without backcourt ace Jerry West, got 29 points from Elgin Baylor. Los Angeles is 1-3 and tied for last in the West with Detroit, which lost to San Francisco 136-91.

Boston had no trouble keeping pace with Philadelphia, which beat St. Louis 119-110, as John Havlicek came off the bench after the first period to score 28 points. Celtics player - coach Bill Russell cleared the bench in the fourth period. Don Ohl led Baltimore with 21 points.

Philadelphia came from behind on its home court to beat St. Louis. The Hawks led 38-25 in the first half before the 76ers rallied. The Hawks stayed in contention until Bill Cunningham broke loose in the second half to widen a 79-77 Philadelphia lead to 87-81. Cunningham got 23 points, 18 of them in the second half. Wilt Chamberlain also scored 23 for the 76ers although top scoring honors went to Hal Greer with 30. Richie Guerin paced the Hawks with 28.

San Francisco's Rick Barry scored 37 points and Nate Thurmond added 26 plus domination of the backboards in pacing the Warriors to their easy victory over Detroit. Rookie Dave Bing scored 25 and Tom Van Arsdale got 24 for the Pistons.

St. Vincents Stops Jackson

JACKSON -- In a non-conference game here last night the host Indians got scalped by Perryville, St. Vincents, 19-14.

Both teams were well matched and moved the ball well.

Perryville posted a 6-0 lead in the first quarter and held a 13-7 lead at the half.

Dave Boudendistle scored the first Perryville touchdown on a 46-yard run and Steve Whistler followed with a 64-yard run midway in the second period.

The Indians' lone score in the first half came on Mike Lincoln's 83-yard gallop around right end.

Perryville's final score came when Jerry Guyot picked up a Jackson fumble and ran 15 yards for the TD.

Steve Hager scored the final TD for the Indians on a 26-yard run in the fourth period.

Malden Takes Southern Loop Contest Over Chaffee

CHAFFEE- The visiting Malden Green Wave posted a 19-6 victory last night to spoil the Red Devils homecoming.

Jeff Heohn scored two touchdowns for Malden, on runs of eight and 22 yards.

Malden's final score came late in the game when Clarence Walker recovered a Chaffee fumble in the end zone for the TD.

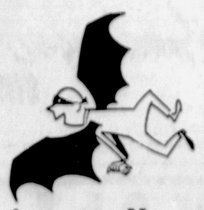

Chaffee's only marker came on Steve Rogers' 75-yard run after catching Terry Wessell's pass.

Big Red Looking For Help From Cleveland

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Los Angeles must make no mistakes to stay close in the Western Conference race, while St. Louis needs help from Cleveland to pull away in the East in the National Football League Sunday.

The Rams, 4-2, are at Chicago, 2-3, and figure it a must game to stay close. Western leader Green Bay, 5-1, is a lopsided favorite over winless Atlanta at Milwaukee.

To stay close, the Rams must stop Gale Sayers. And to do that — as the Packers did last week in a 17-0 victory, "It's a matter of not making any mistakes."

The advice to the Rams came from all-pro defensive end Willie Davis of Green Bay, one of the key figures in containing the Bears' flash.

"Last year, Sayers made the defense make mistakes," Davis said. "This year, we knew what he could do and knew we had to keep him contained. He forces you to play a game of no mistakes."

St. Louis, leading the East at 5-0-1, is at Washington, 3-3, but will have plenty of interest in the Dallas at Cleveland affair. The Cowboys are 4-0-1 after last week's tie with St. Louis, and Cleveland is 3-2 and still very much alive in the East.

In other games, Minnesota, 1-3-1, is at Baltimore, 3-2; Philadelphia, 3-3, at New York, 1-4-1; and Detroit 2-4, is at San Francisco 2-2-1.

In American League games on Sunday, Oakland, 3-3, is at New York 4-1-1; San Diego, 4-1-1, at Boston, 2-2-1; Miami, 1-5, at Houston, 3-3; and Kansas City, 4-2, at Denver, 1-5.

If Cleveland is to keep alive its hopes for a repeat as the Eastern Conference champions, the Browns must stop Olympic champion Bob Hayes. St. Louis did it last week, limiting him to three catches for 24 yards and breaking a string of seven straight games in which he had scored a touchdown.

"He's next to impossible to cover," said St. Louis defensive back Abe Woodson, who did the next-to-impossible. "All I tried to do was destroy his patterns. Only the fact that our pass rush hurried the quarterback saved me a couple of times."

The Browns will need the same sort of rush to stop Don Meredith, second in the league in passing, while Dallas' good defense will be tested in the running of Ernie Green and Leroy Kelly.

The St. Louis pass defense is in for another workout at Washington, with Sonny Jurgensen and Bobby Mitchell posing the problems. Mitchell leads the league with 28 receptions. The Cards had to rally for 17 points in the fourth quarter to beat Washington a month ago.

The Packers lead the league in total defense and passing defense and look for little trouble from the Falcons, still without a victory in their first season. Donnie Anderson and Jim Grabowski may expect to get some work as subs for Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor.

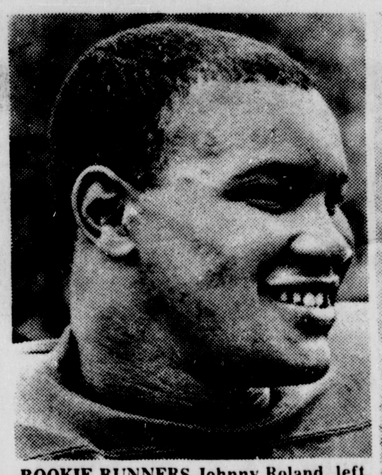

The Minnesota - Baltimore game shapes up as a battle between Johnny Unitas and Fran Tarkenton. Unitas was 18 of 27 for 218 yards and four touchdowns, while Tarkenton was 21 vor 37 and 327 yards and three touchdowns last week in the Vikings' first victory. He may find the Colt defense a little tougher.

Philadelphia and New York will be playing for the second time this year, the Eagles taking the first one 35-17. The Giants scored their first victory last week and the Eagles won after two straight losses.

San Francisco has won two straight while the Lions are having their troubles. The winner goes ahead in all-time series now tied at 16-16-1.

UCLA Begins Defense Of Own Title

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Louisiana State's football team caps a problem-filled week tonight with another problem — Steve Spurrier.

The Tigers, troubled by alleged bribery attempts that were brought out in the open earlier in the week, must stop Spurrier, one of the nation's top college passers if they hope to halt Florida's unbeaten string at five.

Just last Tuesday a Baton Rouge barber was arrested and charged with attempting to bribe three LSU first-string backs — halfbacks Jim Dousay and Billy Masters and fullback Gawain DiBetta. In disclosing the arrest, the FBI said it had the complete cooperation of the the three players.

Whether the Tigers will have Spurrier's complete cooperation is something else.

The 6-foot-2 senior is No. 4 in the country in passing, averaging 186 yards a game and completing a whopping 65 per cent of his passes. He also is eighth in total offense.

The Gators will be out to improve their national ranking — they are eighth — and their Southeastern Conference standings. They are tied for first with Alabama and Georgia. LSU, on the other hand, hopes to increase its SEC record to 2-0 and its season mark to 4-1-1.

In other night games Wichita State is at Arkansas, Texas at Rice, Utah at Arizona, Mississippi State at Florida State, Tulsa at Memphis State and San Jose State at Texas Western.

In a Friday night game, Miami, Fla., defeated Indiana 14-7 in the worst rainstorm to hit a game in the Orange Bowl in five years.

One of the game's 12 fumbles helped set up Miami's winning score. The Hurricanes recovered on the Indiana six and scored on David Olivo's four-yard pass to Jim Cox.

The rest of the members of the Top Ten were on the Saturday afternoon schedule, with four of the teams involved in two games.

Top-ranked Notre Dame sent its sophomore battery of quarterback Terry Hanratty and end Jim Seymour against surprisingly strong Oklahoma, ranked 10th, while Michigan State, No. 2, hosted ninth-ranked Purdue and its prize quarterback, Bob Griese.

Third-ranked UCLA began defense of its AAU title at California, But Southern California, No. 5, had a nonconference game against Clemson.

Alabama, No. 4, took on Vanderbilt at Birmingham, Ala., sixth-ranked Georgia Tech hosted Tulane and Nebraska, No. 7, was at Colorado.

Johnson's Signature Next For Football Merger

WASHINGTON AP - Legislation granting antitrust immunity to the proposed merger of the American and National football leagues has completed its tortuous journey through Congress.

President Johnson's signature is considered certain, since the provision was attached as a rider to the Administration's anti-inflation tax bill.

With only six members present, the Senate approved by voice vote Friday the amendment exempting the merger from antitrust laws. The measure had cleared the House a day earlier.

A key provision would permit the two leagues to hold a common draft, thus eliminating the bidding that brought huge bonuses and salaries to untried college players.

The bill also extends to high school football games on Friday nights the same protection colleges now have against televised professional football games on Saturdays.

Swing Along With Ted

by Ted Williams

THE PROFESSIONAL ATHLETE

It's not all breakfast foods and endorsements for the professional athlete. It's not just bubble gum cards and bright, smiling faces. And it's not all goodness, happiness and 100% patriotism. For some peculiar reason our conception of the professional athlete seems to be like a comic book hero. They never do wrong, they're never supposed to do wrong or in short, they're just not real people. They're cardboard characters. Most fans in our country are beyond believing the propaganda stories turned out by the various hucksters of the sporting world. I'm sure fans know that their favorite heroes are flesh-and-blood people. Why should the professional athlete be any different from anyone else? And who demands this adherence to our fabled virtues? A professional athlete gives his best for two reasons. One is simply called money. The other is because he loves what he's doing. To get paid for what one loves doing best is all the inspiration any person needs - whether he's an athlete or a plumber. And there are plumbers who love what they're doing.

We seem to have over-romanticized the athlete. We've done that to our film stars but it seems they can get away with anything. Whenever some star gets involved in a scandal, boom! Up go the grosses for their movies. If Hollywood stars can now run for political office, why shouldn't a professional athlete be able to speak his piece on any subject that bothers him?

Professional athletes live under tension a lot more than some poeple realize. A Joe Namath is criticized because he had one bad ballgame. He's called a "swinger" because he goes to clubs and discotheques, and takes a drink. Whatever resentment there is against Joe Namath goes back to his $400,000 signing, and nothing else.

Frank Robinson had a "bad guy" rap hung on him years ago. Now he can do no wrong. But Frank Robinson has always been Frank Robinson. A good guy. The Reds can say whatever they want, but the facts are still the same; they traded him to the Orioles and a Robinson is a Robinson is a Robinson.

Athletes are human beings and not fictional characters. They love, they smoke cigarettes, they drink, they raise families. Some are devout human beings, others aren't. They have the right to be what they want, without worrying about living up to their image. There's room for all types of human beings in professional sports. The Babe had his moments as did Ty Cobb and Grover Cleveland Alexander. It's what they do on the field that counts. Leo Durocher once said "Nice guys don't win pennants." Of course, Leo's wrong. Any team can win a pennant if they have the ability to produce on the field. Nice guys, bad guys, quiet guys and loud guys - they all contribute to the over-all picture. Athletes have as much right to be what they want. It's their choice - which is the way it should be in our country.

COLUMBIA AP - Missouri defeated Iowa State 45-10 Friday in a freshman football game.

The Tigers held a 13-0 halftime advantage. Iowa State scored its lone touchdown with only eight seconds left.

Chris Flynn kicked two field goals for Missouri, while Vern Skripsky had a 48-yarder for Iowa State.

ATLANTA, Ga. AP - The Atlanta Braves have filled out their 1967 coaching ranks with the acquisition of Bob Kennedy, head coach of the Chicago Cubs in 1963 and 1964.

The Braves announced Kennedy's hiring Friday but did not say what his duties will be. He managed Albuquerque of the Texas League last season.

Big Red Looking For Help From Cleveland

By BOB GREEN

Los Angeles must make no mistakes to stay close in the Western Conference race, while St. Louis needs help from Cleveland to pull away in the East in the National Football League Sunday.

Louisiana State's football team caps a problem-filled week tonight with another problem — Steve Spurrier.

The Tigers, troubled by alleged bribery attempts that were brought out in the open earlier in the week, must stop Spurrier, one of the nation's top college passers if they hope to halt Florida's unbeaten string at five.

Just last Tuesday a Baton Rouge barber was arrested and charged with attempting to bribe three LSU first-string backs — halfbacks Jim Dousay and Billy Masters and fullback Gawain DiBetta. In disclosing the arrest, the FBI said it had the complete cooperation of the the three players.

Whether the Tigers will have Spurrier's complete cooperation is something else.

The 6-foot-2 senior is No. 4 in the country in passing, averaging 186 yards a game and completing a whopping 65 per cent of his passes. He also is eighth in total offense.

The Gators will be out to improve their national ranking — they are eighth — and their Southeastern Conference standings. They are tied for first with Alabama and Georgia. LSU, on the other hand, hopes to increase its SEC record to 2-0 and its season mark to 4-1-1.

In other night games Wichita State is at Arkansas, Texas at Rice, Utah at Arizona, Mississippi State at Florida State, Tulsa at Memphis State and San Jose State at Texas Western.

In a Friday night game, Miami, Fla., defeated Indiana 14-7 in the worst rainstorm to hit a game in the Orange Bowl in five years.

One of the game's 12 fumbles helped set up Miami's winning score. The Hurricanes recovered on the Indiana six and scored on David Olivo's four-yard pass to Jim Cox.

The rest of the members of the Top Ten were on the Saturday afternoon schedule, with four of the teams involved in two games.

Top-ranked Notre Dame sent its sophomore battery of quarterback Terry Hanratty and end Jim Seymour against surprisingly strong Oklahoma, ranked 10th, while Michigan State, No. 2, hosted ninth-ranked Purdue and its prize quarterback, Bob Griese.

Third-ranked UCLA began defense of its AAU title at California, But Southern California, No. 5, had a nonconference game against Clemson.

Alabama, No. 4, took on Vanderbilt at Birmingham, Ala., sixth-ranked Georgia Tech hosted Tulane and Nebraska, No. 7, was at Colorado.

Johnson's Signature Next For Football Merger

WASHINGTON AP - Legislation granting antitrust immunity to the proposed merger of the American and National football leagues has completed its tortuous journey through Congress.

President Johnson's signature is considered certain, since the provision was attached as a rider to the Administration's anti-inflation tax bill.

With only six members present, the Senate approved by voice vote Friday the amendment exempting the merger from antitrust laws. The measure had cleared the House a day earlier.

A key provision would permit the two leagues to hold a common draft, thus eliminating the bidding that brought huge bonuses and salaries to untried college players.

The bill also extends to high school football games on Friday nights the same protection colleges now have against televised professional football games on Saturdays.

Swing Along With Ted

by Ted Williams

THE PROFESSIONAL ATHLETE

It's not all breakfast foods and endorsements for the professional athlete. It's not just bubble gum cards and bright, smiling faces. And it's not all goodness, happiness and 100% patriotism. For some peculiar reason our conception of the professional athlete seems to be like a comic book hero. They never do wrong, they're never supposed to do wrong or in short, they're just not real people. They're cardboard characters. Most fans in our country are beyond believing the propaganda stories turned out by the various hucksters of the sporting world. I'm sure fans know that their favorite heroes are flesh-and-blood people. Why should the professional athlete be any different from anyone else? And who demands this adherence to our fabled virtues? A professional athlete gives his best for two reasons. One is simply called money. The other is because he loves what he's doing. To get paid for what one loves doing best is all the inspiration any person needs - whether he's an athlete or a plumber. And there are plumbers who love what they're doing.

We seem to have over-romanticized the athlete. We've done that to our film stars but it seems they can get away with anything. Whenever some star gets involved in a scandal, boom! Up go the grosses for their movies. If Hollywood stars can now run for political office, why shouldn't a professional athlete be able to speak his piece on any subject that bothers him?

Professional athletes live under tension a lot more than some poeple realize. A Joe Namath is criticized because he had one bad ballgame. He's called a "swinger" because he goes to clubs and discotheques, and takes a drink. Whatever resentment there is against Joe Namath goes back to his $400,000 signing, and nothing else.

Frank Robinson had a "bad guy" rap hung on him years ago. Now he can do no wrong. But Frank Robinson has always been Frank Robinson. A good guy. The Reds can say whatever they want, but the facts are still the same; they traded him to the Orioles and a Robinson is a Robinson is a Robinson.

Athletes are human beings and not fictional characters. They love, they smoke cigarettes, they drink, they raise families. Some are devout human beings, others aren't. They have the right to be what they want, without worrying about living up to their image. There's room for all types of human beings in professional sports. The Babe had his moments as did Ty Cobb and Grover Cleveland Alexander. It's what they do on the field that counts. Leo Durocher once said "Nice guys don't win pennants." Of course, Leo's wrong. Any team can win a pennant if they have the ability to produce on the field. Nice guys, bad guys, quiet guys and loud guys - they all contribute to the over-all picture. Athletes have as much right to be what they want. It's their choice - which is the way it should be in our country.

Helicopters Praised by Veterans of Viet Nam

The Lions Club at the Rustic Rock Wednesday honored citizens for outstanding service to the Boy Scouts and heard a message from six enlistees in the army. President Jack Hogan presided.

Plaques were presented for service to scouting to Edward C. Matthews, Judge Marshall Craig, Ralph Boyer, Charles D. Matthews and the Bank of Sikeston. The awards were presented by Cub Scout Gregory Danner, member of Pack 140.

Sfc. Ben Ledbetter, recruiting officer, presented six army enlistees of the past two years, two of whom have returned from Viet Nam, two who are on their way to the Southeast Asian front, and two who are training in the United States.

SP4 Joey Ellsworth, and SP4 Edward Speakman, have returned from Viet Nam and told club members how the troops were faring there.

During a question and answer period, Speakman said the attitude of the Vietnamese had changed since last October.

"In the beginning they had the idea that the United States veterans should do all the work and fighting, but now realize their part in the war," he said.

"A U.S. veteran must serve one year in Viet Nam, while officers serve from one and one-half to two years."

"With the type warfare now being fought, more troops are needed, but we now have enough to offset any major threat.

Sp4 Ellsworth was asked whether there was time for relaxation.

He replied, "Seldom are soldiers allowed out of their perimeter."

Helicopters are doing a wonderful job, the soldiers said. They are heavily armed and heavily protected by metal shields.

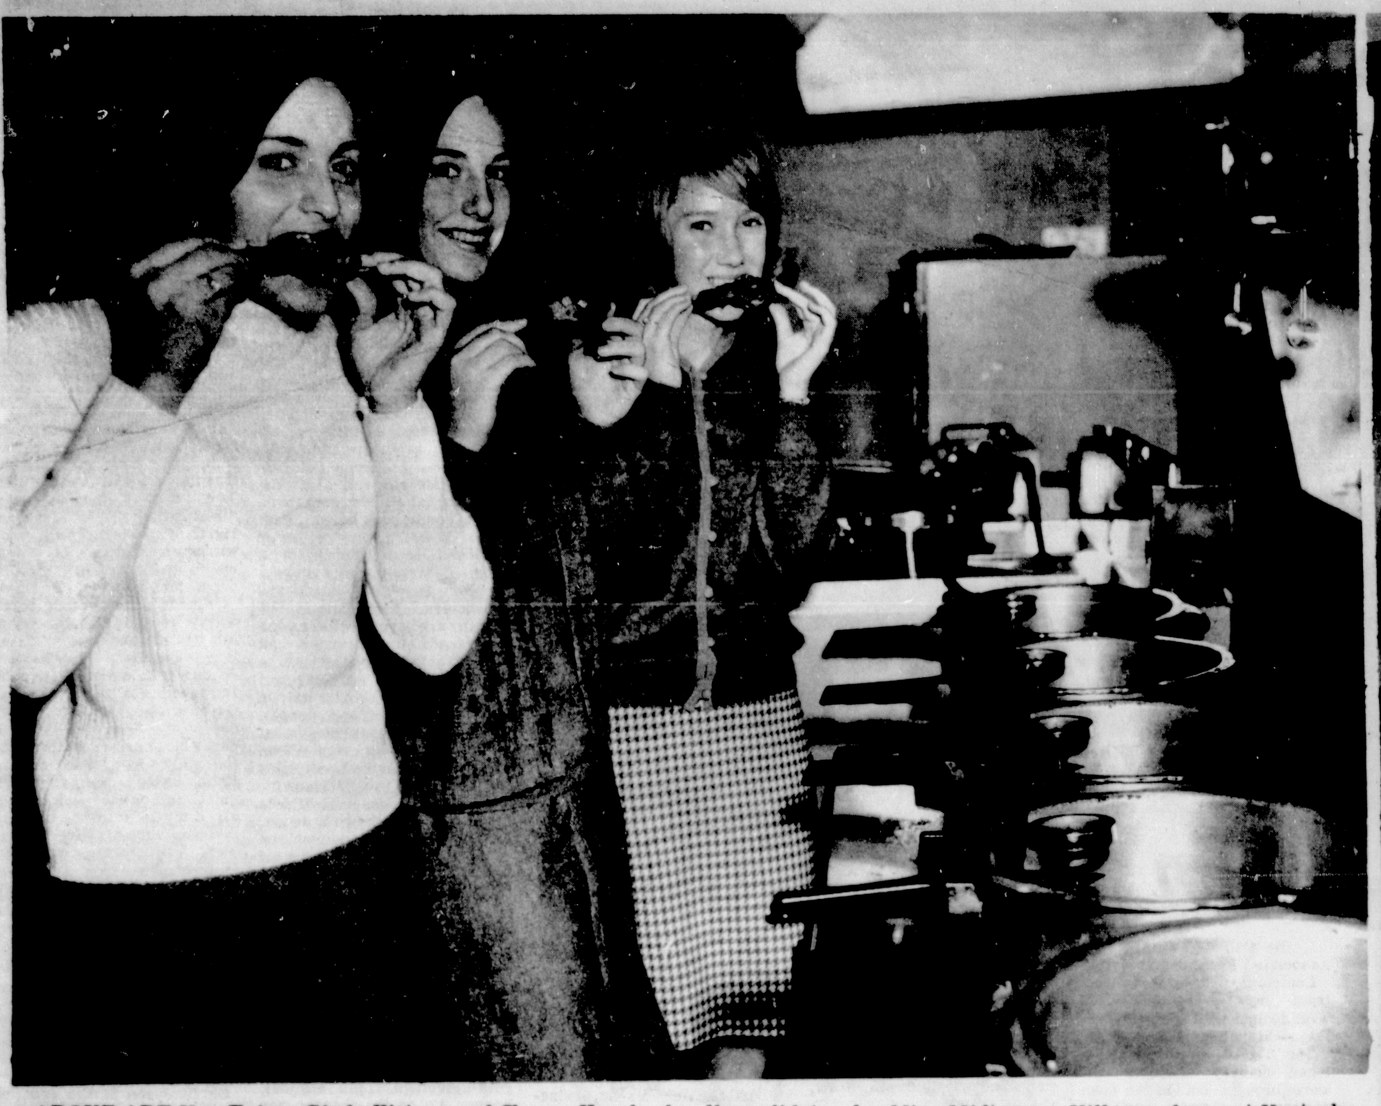

"The propeller blade is almost impossible to knock out," said Ellsworth. "Often they are hit by many bullets and still are able to land without trouble. Each copter carries a three-hour fuel supply and never flies more than 60 miles from its base.

"We are fortunate in that the Viet Cong have very little air power. There is now a new weapon in the field that carries 25,000 rounds of ammunition per second, including 48 rockets and 40 millimeter cannons. The enemy has nothing to counteract this firepower."

WOI David Huggins, Cardwell, and Hupp Winders, Sikeston, are en route to Viet Nam. 2nd Lt. Kenneth Winders, Bertrand, and WOI Norman Swafford, Bernie, recent enlistees, are en route to Ft. Campbell, Ky., and Ft. Benning, Ga., respectively, for airborne troop training.

JIM HALSEY, manager of the MFA Livestock Association will present this Dain's safety corn cutter to the Agricultural Hall of Fame at Bonner Springs, Kan. The blades fold out. Operators drive the mule between two rows of corn and catch the stalks and stack them into shocks. This machine was invented to replace the corn knife. Holding the mule, is William Northcut, vocational agriculture instructor at Marshall high school. His students rebuilt the machine. A sign on the machine reads: "Dain's Safety Corn Cutter, Ottumwa, Ia." Miss Laura Haberman who lives four miles east of Marshall, gave the machine to Halsey. In the background, is a modern combine with a 6-row head that picks and shells corn in one operation.

What Constitutes A Fair and Satisfactory Farm Lease --- These comments by Leroy Rottmann, Extension Farm Management Specialist, University of Missouri, may be of help to you in making a satisfactory lease.

The answer to the often repeated question of what constitutues a fair and satisfactory farm lease arrangement, will differ with each individual case. The variability of fields and farms in productivity, in size, in slope and in topography makes their adaptability to various crops and operations much different. And these variabilities quite often occur in a relatively small area. So it does not necessarily follow that the ingredients of a satisfactory and fair lease arrangment on one farm will apply to the farm across the road.

For example, a highly productive farm with a minimum of erosion problems and long rows can be farmed quickly and easily with larger machinery and the resulting yield large enough that both tenant and landowner have a good return for their contributions. Conversely, the farm in the same neighborhood with steep slopes, short rows and a low natural fertility is not easily farmed with large machinery and equipment. At the same time, yields will be lower. In this case, the tenant has made a larger contribution in terms of labor, management, machinery, etc., but has less return because of lower yields for his efforts. Obviously, if these two farms have a lease arrangement calling for the same contribution and the same division of crops, tenant No. 1 will be much better off.

Also, a lease that is fair and satisfactory at any given "point-in-time" does not necessarily remain that way for long. The dynamic changes which are occuring in agriculture do not lend themselves to a static land lease arrangement. The application of new technology "triggers" or "sets off" a chain of events which can affect the fairness of a lease. The use of changing amount of herbicides, insecticides, and fertilizers may dictate necessary changes in the lease arrangment. Large changes in land values, the changing cost relationships for inputs of labor and machinery, the changing government farm policies, the increasing managerial requirements and the introduction of new crop varieties are additional factors whih can and most often do affect the "fairness of a lease arrangement." Therefore, the conditions and terms of a land lease arrangment need to be periodically evaluated, and the needed adjustments and revisions made to keep the lease "fair and up-to-date" for both tenant and landowner.

There are excellent publications which are available from your University Extension Center which will give you the necessary working forms to assist you with fair lease arrangements.

management you have made up to this point. Your young modern has a good foundation on which to continue to build, for this is a continuing process, as you have discovered in your own financial world.

We hope that if you would like a copy of this publication and the publication for your young modern's own use entitled, "The Money World as Seen By A Young Modern," you will contact your University Ext. center. We hope that you will tune in Wednesda morning for the "Breakfast Show" of Channel 12 in Cape Girardeau to hear Miss Alexander discuss "The Money World of the Young Modern."

The Woman's Corner

MARY ANN FINCH
Extension Area Home Economist, Benton

Is it difficult for you to realize that your young modern will soon be graduating from high school?? Do you find it difficult to believe your son or daughter is considering a career - a life's work? Does it seem only yesterday that you were giving money for an ice cream cone? Have you imagined how your son will react when he gives his son money? And do you know that this may be a reality much sooner than you anticipate?

The above are a few of the questions that Miss Alice Mae Alexander asked in the publication "The Money World of Your Young Modern." This is one in the series of "Money World" publications that are available to help parents teach their children how to be wise members of today's "Money World."

Miss Alexander goes on to say these questions bring you face-to-face with another one. Have you prepared your young modern to take his place in the money world of today? Does he have the self-assurance that sound financial habits bring? Are you satisfied with the teaching and training you have provided? Does your young modern know that he is a part of our economic system? Does he know the role he plays as a consumer - a person who needs, wants, buys, and uses many things? He has another role to play in this system because he also is a producer -- or will be soon. As a consumer, as a producer, and as a citizen he will have many important, difficult, and exciting decisions to make. His needs and wants in relation to available resources wll enter into these decisions. A thorough understanding of and practice in money management will be one of the most important contributions you can make to your young person's happiness and welfare.

In general, the values of teaching money management to young people, expressed by authorities, seem to fall into three categories:

1. It helps young people to set their own standards of living, to establish goals in relation to their values, and to make personal adjustments to their own groups. (Family goals and available resources may be limitations.)
2. It makes it easier for young people to understand their own and their family's financial problems.
3. It prepares them to use an intelligent approach in handling the more complex financial problems they will face in the future.

Give yourself a pat on the back if you are satisfied with the progress in teaching money

Cottonseed Quality Up

MEMPHIS -- Quality of cottonseed received at crashing establishments during the week ended Oct. 19 was up from a week earlier and averaged higher than basic grade of 100 in each state. Volume received at oil mills was larger than a week earlier, according to the Consumer and Marketing Services, United States Department of Agriculture. Prices paid farmers averaged slightly higher than a week earlier in Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Cottonseed grades on certificates by districts for the week ended Oct. 19 ranged from 99.5 to 104.0 in Arkansas and Mississippi, 94.5 to 101.5 in Louisiana, and 101.5 to 103.5 in Tennessee. Missouri county averages varied from 97.5 to 102.5. Moisture content of seed ranged mostly from 10 to 13 percent. Percantage of oil in seed varied generally from 17 to 19. Ammonia content of seed was mostly 3.5 to 4.3 per cent. Only a few loads of seed were discounted because of excessive foreign matter.

Farmers sold cottonseed at prices that ranged mostly from $65 to $70 per ton in Arkansas, $60 to $75 per ton in Louisiana, $65 to $72 per ton in Mississippi, $60 to $65 per ton in Missouri and $65 to $70 per ton in Tennessee. Oil mill price for basis grade cottonseed in truck lots, f. o. b. gin yards, during the week ended Oct. 19, was $75 per ton. Cottonseed meal containing 41 percent protein sold, sacked, over the scales, at $81 to $85 per ton in all states except Louisiana where prices varied from $85 to $90 per ton. Bulk cottonseed hulls sold from $17 to $23 per ton. Crude cottonseed oil, basis Mississippi Valley points, sold at 12-7/8 cents per pound on Oct. 19. Bleachable cottonseed oil for December delivery closed on the New York Produce exchange at 14.56 cents per pound on Wednesday.

Edible oil exports from the United States (soybeans and cottonseed oil) totaled 1.1 billion pounds in the 11-month period October 1965 through August 1956. Exports of cottonseed oil totaled 260 million pounds of 24 percent of edible oil exports during this period. During the October - August period a year earlier, cottonseed oil exports were 609 million pounds, equivalent to 33 percent of total edible oil exports. Exports of cottonseed oil are expected to decrease further during the marketing year beginning Oct. 1, due to a substantial reduction in the supply and higher prices.

Of Interest To Homemakers

Fredericka Plummer
Extension Area Home Economist

CHARLESTON -- Extension Home Economists from the eastern part of the state met in St. Louis October 11, 12 and 13 to see the new items in furniture and equipment that are being shown by dealers. This program was directed by Mrs. Marilyn Caselman, equipment specialist, and Miss Patricia Klobe interior design specialist, of the University of Missouri Extension Division.

Tours took the group of 25 home economists to display apartments, furniture galleries, and displays, accessory shops, the gas company and electric company.

You, the consumer, no longer consider price at the top of the list when making your purchases. You are interested in flair, color, design, convenience, and status. Convenience is high on your list.

Industry pictures the new consumer with an income of $6500 per year, marrying at 21 or 22 years of age, having two to three children, a life span of 74 years, a spendthrift, and one who insists on value.

Merchandising is being done in corners -- an all copper corner, all bathroom merchandise in another, etc.

The new refrigerator freezer combinations with two full length doors hold more frozen foods.

Three manufacturers are now making the self cleaning ovens. The national figure for cost per cleaning is seven to eight cents. When you clean an oven manually, you use about 35 cents worth of cleaner. Racks may be left in to clean and will darken slightly. To prevent their dragging after cleaning, rub the bottom of the outside edges with a little salad oil.

New in the small appliances market are glass electric percolators, "mini - baskets" for making two cups of coffee in percolators, a steam press valet about the size of a cigarette case for pressing creases in trousers, smoothing collar points and shirt fronts, and an electric sweeper for touch up cleaning after meals or parties.

Cotton Prices Firm Slighty

HAYTI -- Cotton prices strengthened slightly. Demand continues strong. Prices ranged from 23 to 23.50 cents a pound for low middling through strict low middling plus with 1-1-16 inches and longer staples.

Middling and higher grades in 1-1-16 inches staple lengths brought from 25 to 25.30 cents. Farmers offered cotton freely at these prices, and buying was active. Cottonseed brought farmers from $60 to $65 a ton at the gin yard.

The harvest progressed at a rapid rate until interrupted by rain over the past weekend.

Lilbourn Girls Are Cheerleaders

LILBOURN -- Miss Janet Wallace and Miss Kay Hon were selected members of the 1966-67 cheerleading squad at the School of the Ozarks at Point Lookout.

Tryouts were held before interested members of the student body and the cheerleaders were voted on by the Pep Club and basketball team. This will be the school's first intercollegiate competition in about five years, but the Bobcats are hoping for a successful season.

Janet and Kay are 1965 graduates of Risco High School and are now sophomores in college. Both participated in the extracurricular activities in high school and were on the cheerleading squad for three years.

Miss Wallace is presently secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class, a member of student senate, SNEA, pep club, PEM club and student activities committee. Miss Hon is a member of pep club, PEM club, SNEA, student activities committee and Alpha Phi Sigma.

2¼ MILLION 4-H'ers SCORE WITH 8 MILLION PROJECTS

8 Million Projects by 4-H Youths

CHICAGO -- Eight million projects represent the annual output of the nation's 2¼ million 4-H youth. This averages four per member. While they work on they learn.

The statistics supplied by the cooperative extension service represent ingenuity and initiative. All 4-H projects, meetings and evetns must be worked in among school, church, home chores and part - time jobs.

There are 100 different projects available to youngsters between nine and 19 years depending on where they live, their needs, resources and interests. Most center around projects in foods, home improvement, safety, health, livestock, clothing, home and farm management, leadership and community service. Certain standards and goals have to be reached.

To group overall accomplishments into one recognition program, the extension service developed the national 4-H achievement program. In this program, one boy and girl from each state is selected annually for having the most outstanding 4-H record.

Fifty win trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago the first week of December. Twelve will receive national $500 scholarships, and nearly 10,000 are expected to earn county achievement medals.

on the fence row

By Thomas A. Brown, Jr.

BLOOMFIELD -- Two short-courses in Community Development and Self Improvement will be offered for the benefit of interested persons in Stoddard, Scott, Mississippi, and New Madrid Counties at Sikeston during November and December. These courses are being offered as a result of the interest shown during the past two winters including requests that more than one group of shortcourses be conducted during the year.

These shortcourses are being offered by the University of Missouri Extension Division in cooperation with County Extension Councils in the four counties involved to give interested persons training in depth in the courses being offered. The courses will be conducted at the Sikeston Senior High School on successive Tuesday nights with both courses beginning on November 8. The Self Improvement shortcourses will end December 6 and the Community Development Course will end December 13. Authorities in both subjects who are approved by the Extension Division and the pertinent subject matter departments of the University of Missouri will serve as instructors.

The Self Improvement Course was conducted at Sikeston Last winter; however, due to the fact that more ladies were interested in the course than could be accomodated then and the course proved to be so popular with those who took it, it is being offered again. This course will include lessons on General Grooming, Visual Poise, Clothing Selection, Skin Care, and Cosmetic Selection and Application. This course will be taught by Mrs. Jannene Crawford from the University of Missouri at Columbia who taught the course last winter.

The Community Development Shortcourse is being offered because of the increased emphasis on and more interest in this subject. General programs which are being planned or are already under way in our area including Office of Economic programs, efforts to organize a junior college district, comprehensive planning about which a hearing is being held at Sikeston this week, efforts to secure more industry in the area, and perhaps others indicate a need for more people to be informed concerning community development. This course will include lessons on Basic Concepts of Community Development, The Community Development Process, Planning and Zoning, Principles of Industrial Development, Organizational Techniques, and Case studies in Community Development. This course will be taught by six instructors, five of whom are on the staff of the University of Missouri School of Social and Community Services and one is with the State Departmen of Urban Affairs in Jefferson City.

Enrollments for these shortcourses will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis until November 1. The registration fee for the Community Development course is $14, and the registration fee for the Self Improvement Course is $17.

Further information concerning these shortcourses and registration blanks are available upon request at your County University Extension Center.

Price of Cotton Stiffens

HAYTI - Cotton prices strengthened slightly on local markets in Missouri this week. Demand continued strong, according to the cotton division of the United States Department of Agriculture. Prices ranged from 23 to 23 cents a pound for low middling through strict low middling plus with 1-1/16 inches and longer staples.

Middling and higher grades in the same staple lengths brought from 25 to 25.50 cents. Farmers offered cotton freely at these prices, and buying was active. Cottonseed brought farmers from $60 to $60 per ton at the gin yard.

The volume of samples classed for farmers at the Hayti classing office picked up considerably from a week earlier. A total of 22,400 samples were classed during the week ending Oct. 14, compared with 7,700 classed during the week before. Classings for the season so far this year were 45,300 against 259,000 to the same date a year ago.

The quality of cotton classed last week improved over the preceding week's classings. There were considerably more white grades and less light spotted cotton. Strict low middling was the predominant grade, accounting for 53 per cent of all cotton classed. Middling light spotted made up 10 per cent. Staple length was about equally divided between 1-1/16 and 1-3/32 inches, with 48 and 43 per cent respectively, and 7 per cent was 1-1/8 inches. 92 per cent of all cotton classed miked in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9.

Farmers were unable to harvest much cotton last week due to continued showers and cloudy weather conditions. Cotton was well opened throughout the territory, however, and picking was expected to reach peak proportions in just a few days providing open weather prevails.

Some of the spot cotton prices quoted on the Memphis market on Oct. 20 were:

Middling, 1-1/16 - - - - 24.00
Strict Low Middling, - -21.75 1-1/16
Strict Low Middling, - -22.50 1-3/32
Low Middling, 1-1/16 - -19.50

FAIRCHILD AIR FORCE BASE, WASH. -The artist and author of the forthcoming cartoon history book about the Strategic Air Command entitled, "Bombers, Boomers and Buttons," Master Sergeant Bill Hughes has again shown his continuing interest in the activities of the command by sending two original oil paintings to the 1966 SAC Combat Competition.

On display at the 416th Bomb Wing booth, the two art pieces depict scenes typical of the command. One shows a B-52 flying into the sun and the other shows an aircrew after their flight in the combat competition reflecting on points of the mission and hoping the results will show they've done well.

Sergeant Hughes, a self-taught artist and 17-year veteran of SAC combat crews drew material for two other cartoon books with a SAC theme. Both were done while he was stationed at Ramey AFB, Puerto Rico and were considered "Classics" about life on the caribbean isle.

His new book, "Bombers, Boomers and Buttons," portrays in cartoon form, the history of SAC from its meager beginnings to the present formidable force for peace it now is. The book is humorous and entertaining and hold a bit of nostalgia for the long-time veterans of SAC. The book will be available later this month.

FAIRCHILD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. -- In a message to the participants in the 1966 version of the Strategic Air Command Combat Competition, General John D. Ryan, SAC commander - in - chief, has stressed that it is more than a contest to see which crew or unit can compile the hghest point score.

"It is an opportunity for you to demonstrate your individual technical proficiency and better prepare yourself for whatever mission you may be called upon to perform," the general said.

Continuing, General Ryan said, "Through your combined skills either on actual combat missions over Vietnam, routine training missions, or in a meet of this kind, you are sowing any potential aggressor that you have the knowledge, training, determination and professionalism needed to do the job."

General Ryan added that SAC once again welcomes representatives of the Royal Air Force bomber command to the competition. "They will be flying competition missions side by side with our SAC crews in further demonstration of the continuing close working relationship between the two commands, "the general said.

JIM HALSEY, manager of the MFA Livestock Association will present this Dain's safety corn cutter to the Agricultural Hall of Fame at Bonner Springs, Kan. The blades fold out. Operators drive the mule between two rows of corn and catch the stalks and stack them into shocks. This machine was invented to replace the corn knife. Holding the mule, is William Northcut, vocational agriculture instructor at Marshall high school. His students rebuilt the machine. A sign on the machine reads: "Dain's Safety Corn Cutter, Ottumwa, Ia." Miss Laura Haberman who lives four miles east of Marshall, gave the machine to Halsey. In the background, is a modern combine with a 6-row head that picks and shells corn in one operation.

What Constitutes A Fair and Satisfactory Farm Lease ... These comments by Leroy Rottmann, Extension Farm Management Specialist, University of Missouri, may be of help to you in making a satisfactory lease.

The answer to the often repeated question of what constitutues a fair and satisfactory farm lease arrangement, will differ with each individual case. The variability of fields and farms in productivity, in size, in slope and in topography makes their adaptability to various crops and operations much different. And these variabilities quite often occur in a relatively small area. So it does not necessarily follow that the ingredients of a satisfactory and fair lease arrangment on one farm will apply to the farm across the road.

For example, a highly productive farm with a minimum of erosion problems and long rows can be farmed quickly and easily with larger machinery and the resulting yield large enough that both tenant and landowner have a good return for their contributions. Conversely, the farm in the same neighborhood with steep slopes, short rows and a low natural fertility is not easily farmed with large machinery and equipment. At the same time, yields will be lower. In this case, the tenant has made a larger contribution in terms of labor, management, machinery, etc.. but has less return because of lower yields for his efforts. Obviously, if these two farms have a lease arrangement calling for the same contribution and the same division of crops, tenant No. 1 will be much better off.

Also, a lease that is fair and satisfactory at any given "point-in-time" does not necessarily remain that way for long. The dynamic changes which are occuring in agriculture do not lend themselves to a static land lease arrangement. The application of new technology "triggers" or "sets off" a chain of events which can affect the fairness of a lease. The use of changing amount of herbicides, insecticides, and fertilizers may dictate necessary changes in the lease arrangment. Large changes in land values, the changing cost relationships for inputs of labor and machinery, the changing government farm policies, the increasing managerial requirements and the introduction of new crop varieties are additional factors whih can and most often do affect the "fairness of a lease arrangement." Therefore, the conditions and terms of a land lease arrangment need to be periodically evaluated, and the needed adjustments and revisions made to keep the lease "fair and up-to-date" for both tenant and landowner.

There are excellent publications which are available from your University Extension Center which will give you the necessary working forms to assist you with fair lease arrangements.

management you have made up to this point. Your young modern has a good foundation on which to continue to build, for this is a continuing process, as you have discovered in your own financial world.

We hope that if you would like a copy of this publication and the publication for your young modern's own use entitled, "The Money World as Seen By A Young Modern," you will contact your University Ext. center. We hope that you will tune in Wednesda morning for the "Breakfast Show" of Channel 12 in Cape Girardeau to hear Miss Alexander discuss "The Money World of the Young Modern."

The Woman's Corner

MARY ANN FINCH
Extension Area Home Economist, Benton

Is it difficult for you to realize that your young modern will soon be graduating from high school?? Do you find it difficult to believe your son or daughter is considering a career - a life's work? Does it seem only yesterday that you were giving money for an ice cream cone? Have you imagined how your son will react when he gives his son money? And do you know that this may be a reality much sooner than you anticipate?

The above are a few of the questions that Miss Alice Mae Alexander asked in the publication "The Money World of Your Young Modern." This is one in the series of "Money World" publications that are available to help parents teach their children how to be wise members of today's "Money World."

Miss Alexander goes on to say these questions bring you face-to-face with another one. Have you prepared your young modern to take his place in the money world of today? Does he have the self-assurance that sound financial habits bring? Are you satisfied with the teaching and training you have provided? Does your young modern know that he is a part of our economic system? Does he know the role he plays as a consumer - a person who needs, wants, buys, and uses many things? He has another role to play in this system because he also is a producer -- or will be soon. As a consumer, as a producer, and as a citizen he will have many important, difficult, and exciting decisions to make. His needs and wants in relation to available resources wil enter into these decisions. A thorough understanding of and practice in money management will be one of the most important contributions you can make to your young person's happiness and welfare.

In general, the values of teaching money management to young people, expressed by authorities, seem to fall into three categories:

1. It helps young people to set their own standards of living, to establish goals in relation to their values, and to make personal adjustments to their own groups. (Family goals and available resources may be limitations.)

2. It makes it easier for young people to understand their own and their family's financial problems.

3. It prepares them to use an intelligent approach in handling the more complex financial problems they will face in the future.

Give yourself a pat on the back if you are satisfied with the progress in teaching money

Cottonseed Quality Up

MEMPHIS -- Quality of cottonseed received at crashing establishments during the week ended Oct. 19 was up from a week earlier and averaged higher than basic grade of 100 in each state. Volume received at oil mills was larger than a week earlier, according to the Consumer and Marketing Services, United States Department of Agriculture. Prices paid farmers averaged slightly higher than a week earlier in Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Cottonseed grades on certificates by districts for the week ended Oct. 19 ranged from 99.5 to 104.0 in Arkansas and Mississippi, 94.5 to 101.5 in Louisiana, and 101.5 to 103.5 in Tennessee. Missouri county averages varied from 97.5 to 102.5. Moisture content of seed ranged mostly from 10 to 13 percent. Percantage of oil in seed varied generally from 17 to 19. Ammonia content of seed was mostly 3.5 to 4.3 per cent. Only a few loads of seed were discounted because of excessive foreign matter.

Farmers sold cottonseed at prices that ranged mostly from $65 to $70 per ton in Arkansas, $60 to $75 per ton in Louisiana, $65 to $72 per ton in Mississippi, $60 to $65 per ton in Missouri and $65 to $70 per ton in Tennessee. Oil mill price for basis grade cottonseed in truck lots, f. o. b. gin yards, during the week ended Oct. 19, was $75 per ton. Cottonseed meal containing 41 per-cent protein sold, sacked, over the scales, at $81 to $85 per ton in all states except Louisiana where prices varied from $85 to $90 per ton. Bulk cottonseed hulls sold from $17 to $23 per ton. Crude cottonseed oil, basis Mississippi Valley points, sold at 12-7/8 cents per pound on Oct. 19. Bleachable cottonseed oil for December delivery closed on the New York Produce exchange at 14.56 cents per pound on Wednesday.

Edible oil exports from the United States (soybeans and cottonseed oil) totaled 1.1 billion pounds in the 11-month period October 1965 through August 1956. Exports of cottonseed oil totaled 260 million pounds of 24 percent of edible oil exports during this period. During the October - August period a year earlier, cottonseed oil exports were 609 million pounds, equivalent to 33 percent of total edible oil exports. Exports of cottonseed oil are expected to decrease further during the marketing year beginning Oct. 1, due to a substantial reduction in the supply and higher prices.

Of Interest To Homemakers

Fredericka Plummer
Extension Area Home Economist

CHARLESTON -- Extension Home Economists from the eastern part of the state met in St. Louis October 11, 12 and 13 to see the new items in furniture and equipment that are being shown by dealers. This program was directed by Mrs. Marilyn Caselman, equipment specialist, and Miss Patricia Klobe interior design specialist, of the University of Missouri Extension Division.

Tours took the group of 25 home economists to display apartments, furniture galleries, and displays, accessory shops, the gas company and electric company.

You, the consumer, no longer consider price at the top of the list when making your purchases. You are interested in flair, color, design, convenience, and status. Convenience is high on your list.

Industry pictures the new consumer with an income of $6500 per year, marrying at 21 or 22 years of age, having two to three children, a life span of 74 years, a spendthrift, and one who insists on value.

Merchandising is being done in corners -- an all copper corner, all bathroom merchandise in another, etc.

The new refrigerator freezer combinations with two full length doors hold more frozen foods.

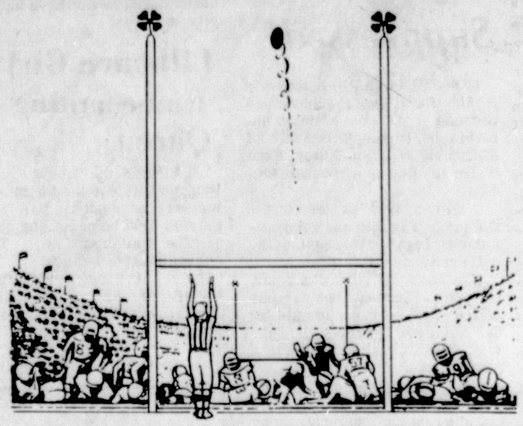

Three manufacturers are now making the self cleaning ovens. The national figure for cost per cleaning is seven to eight cents. When you clean an oven manually, you use about 35 cents worth of cleaner. Racks may be left in to clean and will darken slightly. To prevent their dragging after cleaning, rub the bottom of the outside edges with a little salad oil.

New in the small appliances market are glass electric percolators, "mini - baskets" for making two cups of coffee in percolators, a steam press valet about the size of a cigarette case for pressing creases in trousers, smoothing collar points and shirt fronts, and an electric sweeper for touch up cleaning after meals or parties.

2¼ MILLION 4-H'ers SCORE WITH 8 MILLION PROJECTS

8 Million Projects by 4-H Youths

CHICAGO -- Eight million projects represent the annual output of the nation's 2¼ million 4-H youth. This averages four per member. While they work on they learn.

The statistics supplied by the cooperative extension service represent ingenuity and initiative. All 4-H projects, meetings and evetns must be worked in among school, church, home chores and part - time jobs.

There are 100 different projects available to youngsters between nine and 19 years depending on where they live, their needs, resources and interests. Most center around projects in foods, home improvement, safety, health, livestock, clothing, home and farm management, leadership and community service. Certain standards and goals have to be reached.

To group overall accomplishments into one recognition program, the extension service developed the national 4-H achievement program. In this program, one boy and girl from each state is selected annually for having the most outstanding 4-H record.

Fifty win trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago the first week of December. Twelve will receive national $500 scholarships, and nearly 10,000 are expected to earn county achievement medals.

on the fence row

By Thomas A. Brown, Jr.

BLOOMFIELD -- Two short-courses in Community Development and Self Improvement will be offered for the benefit of interested persons in Stoddard, Scott, Mississippi, and New Madrid Counties at Sikeston during November and December. These courses are being offered as a result of the interest shown during the past two winters including requests that more than one group of shortcourses be conducted during the year.

These shortcourses are being offered by the University of Missouri Extension Division in cooperation with County Extension Councils in the four counties involved to give interested persons training in depth in the courses being offered. The courses will be conducted at the Sikeston Senior High School on successive Tuesday nights with both courses beginning on November 8. The Self Improvement shortcourses will end December 6 and the Community Development Course will end December 13. Authorities in both subjects who are approved by the Extension Division and the pertinent subject matter departments of the University of Missouri will serve as instructors.

The Self Improvement Course was conducted at Sikeston Last winter; however, due to the fact that more ladies were interested in the course than could be accomodated then and the course proved to be so popular with those who took it, it is being offered again. This course will include lessons on General Grooming, Visual Poise, Clothing Selection, Skin Care, and Cosmetic Selection and Application. This course will be taught by Mrs. Jannene Crawford from the University of Missouri at Columbia who taught the course last winter.

The Community Development Shortcourse is being offered because of the increased emphasis on and more interest in this subject. General programs which are being planned or are already under way in our area including Office of Economic programs, efforts to organize a junior college district, comprehensive planning about which a hearing is being held at Sikeston this week, efforts to secure more industry in the area, and perhaps others indicate a need for more people to be informed concerning community development. This course will be taught by six instructors, five of whom are on the staff of the University of Missouri School of Social and Community Services and one is with the State Departmen of Urban Affairs in Jefferson City.

Enrollments for these shortcourses will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis until November 1. The registration fee for the Community Development course is $14, and the registration fee for the Self Improvement Course is $17.

Further information concerning these shortcourses and registration blanks are available upon request at your County University Extension Center.

Cotton Prices Firm Slighty

HAYTI -- Cotton prices strengthened slightly. Demand continues strong. Prices ranged from 23 to 23.50 cents a pound for low middling through strict low middling plus with 1-1-16 inches and longer staples.

Middling and higher grades in 1-1-16 inches staple lengths brought from 25 to 25.30 cents. Farmers offered cotton freely at these prices, and buying was active. Cottonseed brought farmers from $60 to $65 a ton at the gin yard.

The harvest progressed at a rapid rate until interrupted by rain over the past weekend.

Lilbourn Girls Are Cheerleaders

LILBOURN -- Miss Janet Wallace and Miss Kay Hon were selected members of the 1966-67 cheerleading squad at the School of the Ozarks at Point Lookout.

Tryouts were held before interested members of the student body and the cheerleaders were voted on by the Pep Club and basketball team. This will be the school's first intercollegiate competition in about five years, but the Bobcats are hoping for a successful season.

Janet and Kay are 1965 graduates of Risco High School and are now sophomores in college. Both participated in the extra-curricular activities in high school and were on the cheerleading squad for three years.

Miss Wallace is presently secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class, a member of student senate, SNEA, pep club, PEM club and student activities committee. Miss Hon is a member of pep club, PEM club, SNEA, student activities committee and Alpha Phi Sigma.

FAIRCHILD AIR FORCE BASE, WASH. -The artist and author of the forthcoming cartoon history book about the Strategic Air Command entitled, "Bombers, Boomers and Buttons," Master Sergeant Bill Hughes has again shown his continuing interest in the activities of the command by sending two original oil paintings to the 1966 SAC Combat Competition.

On display at the 416th Bomb Wing booth, the two art pieces depict scenes typical of the command. One shows a B-52 flying into the sun and the other shows an aircrew after their flight in the combat competition reflecting on points of the mission and hoping the results will show they've done well.

Sergeant Hughes, a self-taught artist and 17-year veteran of SAC combat crews drew material for two other cartoon books with a SAC theme. Both were done while he was stationed at Ramey AFB, Puerto Rico and were considered "Classics" about life on the caribbean isle.

His new book, "Bombers, Boomers and Buttons," portrays in cartoon form, the history of SAC from its meager beginnings to the present formidable force for peace it now is. The book is humorous and entertaining and hold a bit of nostalgia for the long-time veterans of SAC. The book will be available later this month.

FAIRCHILD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. -- In a message to the participants in the 1966 version of the Strategic Air Command Combat Competition, General John D. Ryan, SAC commander - in - chief, has stressed that it is more than a contest to see which crew or unit can compile the hghest point score.

"It is an opportunity for you to demonstrate your individual technical proficiency and better prepare yourself for whatever mission you may be called upon to perform," the general said.

Continuing, General Ryan said, "Through your combined skills either on actual combat missions over Vietnam, routine training missions, or in a meet of this kind, you are sowing any potential aggressor that you have the knowledge, training, determination and professionalism needed to do the job."

General Ryan added that SAC once again welcomes representatives of the Royal Air Force bomber command to the competition. "They will be flying competition missions side by side with our SAC crews in further demonstration of the continuing close working relationship between the two commands, "the general said.

James Marion Cloin

James Marion Cloin recently enlisted in the U. S. Army for a period of three years, it was reported today by Sergeant First Class A. B. Ledbetter of the U. S. Army Recruiting Station in Sikeston, Mo. ## Radio Announcer's Case Bound Over

CHARLESTON -- Radio announcer Ed Hill appeared in magistrate court Thursday morning on charges of molesting a minor with immoral intent on October 3.

Magistrate Judge Tom Brown rejected a defense motion that charges be dismissed, and ordered Hill bound over to circuit court, for appearance Nov. 8. Bond of $2,500 remains in effect.

Hill's attorney argued after the testimony of Ronald Wayne Radcliffe, Howard Toney, Bobby Norman, and Hill, that the testimony revealed only a direct conflict between Hill's word and that of Radcliffe, the boy against whom the offense was allegedly committed.

The judge decided the state had merely to show "reasonable cause" in order to have Hill bound over.

Editor Says Paper Being Suppressed

COLUMBIA (AP)—A monthly publication is being suppressed because it carried articles unfavorable to the University of Missouri, says the editor, Tom Wellman, who is a graduate student.

Wellman said backers of the Columbia Free Press were considering legal action against the university and the city.

The current issue was ready for sale Tuesday, but campus police ordered the salesmen off the university property. Then city police ordered them off a public sidewalk.

A city ordinance of 1889 forbids sale or display of merchandise on any public street or sidewalk.

Wellman charged there was "selective enforcement" of the ordinance. He pointed out that the Columbia Missourian, the Columbia Tribune and the Maneater are sold on streets and sidewalks without interference.

Police Chief Paul Cheavens said action against Free Press salesmen was taken after a complaint was received. He declined to say who made the complaint.

"There's an underlying issue here involving the legality of this ordinance which prevents us from selling," Wellman said. "Our freedom to publish and survive as a newspaper is very seriously threatened."

The eight-page tabloid, started this year, was published twice in the spring and once in the summer without incident. It is supported by sales and contributions from faculty members.

It is produced by about 30 students but does not have university sanction.

Lilbourn Girl Homecoming Queen

LILBOURN -- Linda Sue Workman, a freshman in elementary education, has been elected 1966 homecoming queen at The University of Tennessee Martin Branch.

She also is a majorette with the UTMB Marching Band. Linda Sue is a Zeta Tau Alpha sorority pledge.

She is a daughter of Mms. E. S. Workman of Portageville.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My husband, Sam, has a habit that makes me awfully mad. It so happens that I have a tendency to be fleshy, but I am not what you'd call fat. When I wear my best foundation garment and put on a black dress I look very presentable.

Whenever we go out for an evening and a great big cow of a woman passes, Sam gives me a poke in the ribs and says, "Keep eating, Shirley."

He has done this to me in front of friends so many times I have lost count already. I really hate it. How can I fight this sort of thing? Can you think of a smart answer? --- PLEASINGLY PLUMP

Dear Shirley: You sign yourself "Pleasingly Plump". Who are you pleasing? Not Sam, apparently.

The smartest answer is for you to lose some weight. In other words, when the potatoes and hot rolls and pie and cake and cookies are passed, if you keep your mouth shut --- Sam won't have anything to open up his mouth about.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a woman of 55. For several years I have had a problem that no one will talk to me about. If only my husband or daughter or friends would be honest about it I would feel a lot better.

I have a peculiar odor to my skin. It is not perspiration, it is a musty type of smell that comes from my pores. When I first noticed this (about 15 years ago) I took two and three baths a day, applied several types of deodorant, used special soaps and then sprayed myself with cologne. It didn't help. Nobody has ever said anything to me about the odor but I know it is there.

I went to a doctor ten years ago and he said there was nothing wrong with me. Please give me some advice. I am becoming so self-conscious about this skin odor that I don't want to be around people any more. ---MRS. HERMIT

Dear Mrs.: I'm sorry to disagree with your physician, but there IS something wrong with you. The problem is in your head.

Your phobia is not unusual. I have had hundreds of letters from people who are concerned about this problem. Of course they don't believe me when I tell them the odor is imaginary, and I don't expect you to believe me either.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are very fond of a certain couple. We are all in our early 40's. This couple invited us to take a vacation with them and we were delighted.

Yesterday they announced they are taking their 7-year-old son along. Please understand that we like the child. He is well-behaved and very bright but my husband and I don't want to spend our one vacation in the year with him.

How can we get out of the commitment? If we tell the parents how we feel our friendship will never be the same. Rush your advice. Time is short.--- SIOUX CITY SUE

Dear Sue: The naked, unadorned truth is always better than any dressed up lie. If your friendship cannot survive much honesty it isn't worth protecting.

The parents should have offered you a graceful out when they decided to take their son. Since they did not, you should level with them.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Prayer
For Today
From the Upper Room

By this you know the Spirit of God: Every spirit which confesses that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is of God. (I John 4:2, RSV)

PRAYER: O God, who dost know our need of Thy guidance and strength, to Thee we offer our joyful thanks because in Jesus Christ Thou didst share our human life. Enable us to look to Thee with faith and so to walk in Thy way that our lives may ever serve and please Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. .....Amen.

The French victory at Verdun in World War I occurred on Dec. 16. 1916.

Radio Announcer's Case Bound Over

CHARLESTON -- Radio announcer Ed Hill appeared in magistrate court Thursday morning on charges of molesting a minor with immoral intent on October 3.

Magistrate Judge Tom Brown rejected a defense motion that charges be dismissed, and ordered Hill bound over to circuit court, for appearance Nov. 8. Bond of $2,500 remains in effect.

Hill's attorney argued after the testimony of Ronald Wayne Radcliffe, Howard Toney, Bobby Norman, and Hill, that the testimony revealed only a direct conflict between Hill's word and that of Radcliffe, the boy against whom the offense was allegedly committed.

The judge decided the state had merely to show "reasonable cause" in order to have Hill bound over.

Editor Says Paper Being Suppressed

COLUMBIA (AP)—A monthly publication is being suppressed because it carried articles unfavorable to the University of Missouri, says the editor, Tom Wellman, who is a graduate student.

Wellman said backers of the Columbia Free Press were considering legal action against the university and the city.

The current issue was ready for sale Tuesday, but campus police ordered the salesmen off the university property. Then city police ordered them off a public sidewalk.

A city ordinance of 1889 forbids sale or display of merchandise on any public street or sidewalk.

Wellman charged there was "selective enforcement" of the ordinance. He pointed out that the Columbia Missourian, the Columbia Tribune and the Maneater are sold on streets and sidewalks without interference.

Police Chief Paul Cheavens said action against Free Press salesmen was taken after a complaint was received. He declined to say who made the complaint.

"There's an underlying issue here involving the legality of this ordinance which prevents us from selling," Wellman said. "Our freedom to publish and survive as a newspaper is very seriously threatened."

The eight-page tabloid, started this year, was published twice in the spring and once in the summer without incident. It is supported by sales and contributions from faculty members.

It is produced by about 30 students but does not have university sanction.

Lilbourn Girl Homecoming Queen

LILBOURN -- Linda Sue Workman, a freshman in elementary education, has been elected 1966 homecoming queen at The University of Tennessee Martin Branch.

She also is a majorette with the UTMB Marching Band. Linda Sue is a Zeta Tau Alpha sorority pledge.

She is a daughter of Mms. E. S. Workman of Portageville.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My husband, Sam, has a habit that makes me awfully mad. It so happens that I have a tendency to be fleshy, but I am not what you'd call fat. When I wear my best foundation garment and put on a black dress I look very presentable.

Whenever we go out for an evening and a great big cow of a woman passes, Sam gives me a poke in the ribs and says, "Keep eating, Shirley."

He has done this to me in front of friends so many times I have lost count already. I really hate it. How can I fight this sort of thing? Can you think of a smart answer? --- PLEASINGLY PLUMP

Dear Shirley: You sign yourself "Pleasingly Plump". Who are you pleasing? Not Sam, apparently.

The smartest answer is for you to lose some weight. In other words, when the potatoes and hot rolls and pie and cake and cookies are passed, if you keep your mouth shut --- Sam won't have anything to open up his mouth about.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a woman of 55. For several years I have had a problem that no one will talk to me about. If only my husband or daughter or friends would be honest about it I would feel a lot better.

I have a peculiar odor to my skin. It is not perspiration, it is a musty type of smell that comes from my pores. When I first noticed this (about 15 years ago) I took two and three baths a day, applied several types of deodorant, used special soaps and then sprayed myself with cologne. It didn't help. Nobody has ever said anything to me about the odor but I know it is there.

I went to a doctor ten years ago and he said there was nothing wrong with me. Please give me some advice. I am becoming so self-conscious about this skin odor that I don't want to be around people any more. ---MRS. HERMIT

Dear Mrs.: I'm sorry to disagree with your physician, but there IS something wrong with you. The problem is in your head.

Your phobia is not unusual. I have had hundreds of letters from people who are concerned about this problem. Of course they don't believe me when I tell them the odor is imaginary, and I don't expect you to believe me either.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are very fond of a certain couple. We are all in our early 40's. This couple invited us to take a vacation with them and we were delighted.

Yesterday they announced they are taking their 7-year-old son along. Please understand that we like the child. He is well-behaved and very bright but my husband and I don't want to spend our one vacation in the year with him.

How can we get out of the commitment? If we tell the parents how we feel our friendship will never be the same. Rush your advice. Time is short.--- SIOUX CITY SUE

Dear Sue: The naked, unadorned truth is always better than any dressed up lie. If your friendship cannot survive much honesty it isn't worth protecting.

The parents should have offered you a graceful out when they decided to take their son. Since they did not, you should level with them.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Today
From the Upper Room

By this you know the Spirit of God: Every spirit which confesses that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is of God. (I John 4:2, RSV)

PRAYER: O God, who dost know our need of Thy guidance and strength, to Thee we offer our joyful thanks because in Jesus Christ Thou didst share our human life. Enable us to look to Thee with faith and so to walk in Thy way that our lives may ever serve and please Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. .....Amen.

TV Ratings Show Season Open on Corn

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some observers of the television scene drew this lesson from the first Nielsen ratings of the 1966-67 season: Never underestimate the value of corn.

This is the attitude of certain sophisticates who sniff at the fact that among the top 10 shows in audience ratings were such offerings as "Green Acres," "Gomer Pyle," "The Andy Griffith Show" and "Beverly Hillbillies."

The most impressive showing among series in the ratings was made by "Green Acres," which captured the No. 2 position below the blockbusting Sunday night movie, "The Bridge on the River Kwai." Do they grow corn on those "Green Acres"?

"I don't think so," says Jay Sommers, who created, co-writes and produces the series. "I think it's a fairly sophisticated show.

Sommers, a rotund, owlish veteran of the gag-writing jungle, doesn't really care what the smart crowd thinks of "Green Acres." It's his baby, and as long as the public buys it, that's all that matters.

The inspiration for the show came from Sommers' boyhood, of which two years were spent on a farm in Greendale, N.Y. His stepfather went broke trying to earn a living from the soil, and the experiences remained with the boy. He capitalized on them with a 1950 radio show, "Granby's Green Acres," which starred Gale Gordon and Bea Benaderet, the latter now a star of "Green Acres", sister show of "Petticoat Junction."

When "Green Acres" went on CBS last season, the original plan was to exchange performers with "Petticoat Junction."

"We're getting away from that concept now," said Sommers. "It's awfully hard to schedule when the actors will be available, and they are busy enough with their own shows. Besides, I think 'Green Acres' should stand on its own feet."

The series is doing a good job of it. Credit is due Sommers who spends a 12-hour day at General Service Studios, overseeing everything from script to cutting. Despite the rural nature of the show, it is filmed almost entirely on the lot. "The people are important, not the settings," explained Sommers.

The secret of "Green Acres" success?

"I think it appeals to a basic human urge; everyone would like to buy a farm," Sommers theorized. "And we came up with a brilliant combination in Eddie Albert and Eva Gabor. They work together like a dream."

Dear Mr. Blanton,
R. C. Martin says:

I have no desire to create animosity or sound unpatriotic. But the present policy of our government, domestic and foreign, is leading us down a road to sure chaos.

Domestically, apparently the emphasis is on "Civil Rights," and War on Poverty.

Equality is a nice sounding word with a very great meaning, indeed. In fact, so great, that the meaning can never be fulfilled among men. Equality-the state of being equal, especially, the state of being equal in political, economic, and social rights. Men have never been equal and they never will.

History tells us that we have always had classes and common sense tell us that we always will.

Some men had rather die than to be brought down, and other men do not have the capabilities to go up. Therefore when a government undertakes the impossible task of equalizing men and forcing them to live on a common level, integrated regardless of color, race, origin, financial, social, or educational status, the end result can only be social chaos. And social chaos is what we have now in America, and we have only seen the beginning. Equality, economically and social and financially may be what some would call an "American Utopia," but this can never be. In the first place men don't have the ability to create a system with equal dimensions for all. Only God could create such a system.

On foreign affairs the policy of our government is to play "BIG DADDY." This Country is not strong enough, though great as it is, to solve all the problems of the world. We cannot solve all the economic ills of the world; we must not attempt to fight bloody battles for others when many of these battles are useless. For bloody battles and brute force will never bring peace to the hearts of these war-mongers; another way must be found. With this policy, the best young men of our Land are being taken from us. Many never to return; thousands will come home crippled, others destroyed morally. Our natural resources are dwindling at a very rapid pace. This we cannot allow forever.

On poverty, the Bible says, "the poor you will have with you always." The attempt to banish poverty from the earth is a direct contradiction of the Bible. I realize that much good can be done through various types of programs.

To attact poverty we must first attack the cause of poverty. Poverty is primarily a disease; any physician will tell us to cure a disease we must first find the cause of the disease.

Many educators say, "we can educate poverty from our doors." In a great sense poverty is a moral and not an intellectual problem. And its consequences may be considered more marked and terrible than the intellectual results.

It is plain to see by any average mind that we have the cause of poverty all around us; these causes vary with the individual. Laziness, I am sure, is one of the greatest causes of poverty among us. Drunkards, of which I know not a few, who make good money, but drink up their earnings; consequently their families live in poverty.

Divorces, of which this Nation has the highest rate, causes poverty; no man can rightfully and practically support two families; if the case be so with a man, normally poverty is the results of both families.

Unfaithfulness to ones companion causes poverty; it takes extra money to support such immoral conduct; and those who continue to practice such will eventually bring poverty to his door.

Unhappiness causes poverty; it limits initiative.

Immorality of every sort causes poverty; for all wise men know that poverty is not merely economical.

A man may be spiritually poor, he may be an immoral bum, if this be the case with a man, all the economical assistance in the world cannot lift his man out of poverty. Only God has the cure for this kind of poverty. And until governments and men realize this, poverty shall remain an incurable disease to haunt men until the end of his days.

Mismanagement of wages causes poverty - you can give two men $10,000 each, in five years one of these men will have $2.),000 or more-the other will be on starvation. Who has the answer to this kind of poverty?

Of course, there are those who advocate equality, who would say take from those who have and give to those who have not. This kind of a domestic policy will eventually destroy the dignity, decency, and integrity of any nation.

Sincerely,
R. C. Martin
Essex, Mo.

Polish Church Leader at Lilbourn

LILBOURN -- The Rev. Joseph Szczeposkowshi of Poland will speak at the Methodist Church Wednesday night.

Szczeposkowshi is equal to an American bishop holding the title of general superintendent in Poland. He serves behind the Iron Curtain under trying circumstances.

Other missionaires and prominent church leaders from many nations of the world are appearing in churches in the eastern half of Missouri in an unusual conference-wide chain of missions, Oct. 23-27.

Rules Set for Community Building

NEW MADRID -- With the completion of the first phase of the painting and remodeling of the community building, the executive board for the building has made a list of rules and new rental fees in an effort to see that the building will be cared for properly by renters, and, also, to help put the building on a self-supporting basis.

Mrs. Clara St. Mary will be in charge of the rental of the building, and she may be contacted for such purpose at her office in the Selective Service office at 747 Main Street. Mrs. Agnes Speakman will now be in charge of the maintenance and upkeep of the building.

The new rules were compiled only after an extensive study was made of other towns' policies in leasing their Community buildings. Each leasee of the building will be given a list of rules when the key is obtained. It is hoped that the new rules will enable the board to keep the building in a well-repaired state so that it is always ready for the smallest to the largest gathering. With everyone's cooperation, the plan will succeed and the Community building will be an asset rather than an eye-sore.

Below is the new list of rules:

1. Each renter will be presented a copy of rules upon payment of rental fee.
2. $5.00 fee will be added to rental fee and will be forfeited if there be damages to building or equipment, or if building is not left in clean condition in which it was found. The $5.00 fee will be returned to renter when key is returned to manager if all requirements are met.
3. All bottles and food must be removed at end of functions. All trash and garbage must be disposed of in proper containers outside of building. A check of stove, furnace, water faucets, rest rooms and lights must be made by renter before leaving building.
4. Building is not to be used for fund-raising projects with proceeds made for personal profit. Organizations, either charitable, community-sponsored, church affiliated groups, or similar non-profit organizations may rent building for fund-raising benefits. Rental fee for fund-raising project shall be $25.00.
5. $15.00 is the rental fee when building is to be used for club meetings, social entertaining such as private parties, wedding receptions, school sponsored entertainment, etc.
6. A minimum 24-hour notice must be given before rental.
7. For children's or teenage (under 21 years of age) parties, dances, meetings or other activities, building must be rented by one or more adults who will be present as chaperones. For every 25 youths, there must be one chaperoning couple.
8. No drinking of alcoholic beverages by minors either in building or while on premises. Any infractions of rules will automatically disqualify party from future rental of building.
9. Any equipment, such as tables and chairs borrowed from building must be checked out and in with building manager.
10. Building to be rent free to Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Brownie Scouts, Cub Scouts, Rotary Club and Womans Club.
11. New Madrid Womans Club or Rotary Club shall not be responsible or liable for any injuries or accidents which occur to person or persons while in building or on premises.

More States Eyeing Legalized Lotteries

By William T. Peacock

WASHINGTON (AP) — As government at all levels takes on more burdens — gets bigger and bigger if that's the way you preto view it — the constant problem is how to finance it.

Higher income taxes? Sales taxes? A lottery?

Basically, the political problem is how to get the money as painlessly as possible from those who surrender it.

The philosophy behind sales taxes is that a few pennies more on a small purchase don't really hurt, at least not as much as having to kick through with $50 or more additional at income tax paying time.

And the allure of the lottery is the notion that it would raise a lot of revenue completely painlessly.

So two states — New York and Nevada — are going to have votes this coming election day, Nov. 8, on legalizing lotteries.

Already, New Hampshire has a state lottery. Also it has neither a sales nor an income tax.

But as a revenue raiser, the New Hampshire state lottery, a sweepstakes based on horse races, has been something on a disappointment compared to the hopes the state had for it. The state's annual net is in the area of $2 million a year.

One of New Hampshire's problems has been a restricted market. There are those federal laws about using the mails for a lottery which interfere with both advertising and sales through the mails.

MORE MORE MORE
Gal 2 world today

New York is a major market whatever you are selling. Backers of a lottery in that state have estimated the state's take as high as $400 million a year.

Specifically, what New York voters will pass on is a proposed constitutional amendment that would open the way for a lottery.

The 1967 legislature would take it from there, if the lottery idea is approved at the polls. The form of the lottery would be up to the legislature.

Nevada has been so well publicized as a center of legal gambling, home of the wheels, the slot machines, the blackjack games and the dice, that it may be surprising that a lottery is a form of gambling now outlawed there. But that's the way it is.

Actually, the question of a national lottery has been technically before Congress for a long time.

Rep. Paul A. Fino, a Republican from New York's Bronx area, introduced a bill for one soon after he came to Congress in 1953.

Its reintroduction is an annual ritual that Fino has gone through in each Congress since then.

As a revenue raising measure, the bill routinely goes to the House Ways and Means Committee which just as routinely has filed and forgotten it.

Patrol Chief Will Speak in Charleston

CHARLESTON - Col. E. I. "Mike" Hockaday, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, will speak at the first annual Chamber of Commerce banquet scheduled Nov. 16 at the Knights of Columbus Hall at 7 p.m.

The meeting will be a ladies night affair.

Members of the board of directors last week made preliminary plans for the banquet meeting. The menu will consist of filet steaks, baked potato, salad and drinks, and dessert. Tickets will be $2.00.

According to ticket chairman Marion Waggener, exactly 175 places will be reserved, and a full turnout of members and their wives is expected. K. C. members will prepare the meal and serve the dinner.

P. J. Pond[illegible] heads up the program com[illegible]ttee, and Miss Frances Daniel is in charge of decorations.

Honor guests will include Sheriff W. J. Simmons and Mrs. Simmons, the police chiefs of East Prairie and Charleston, and the mayors of Charleston, East Prairie, Anniston, Bertrand and Wyatt.

Yggdrasil was the great ash tree of Norse mythology. It was the tree of life and knowledge and represented fate, time and space.

PUBLIC NOTICES

The undersigned will sell at public sale for cash a 1959 Massey-Harris Model 92 combine, 1963 Oliver 431R combine, 1965 Massey-Ferguson 65D tractor and a Farmall Super M tractor. At 12 p.m. October 27, 1966 at Leible & Crumpecker Implement Company, 2008 East Malone Street, Sikeston, Missouri. The undersigned reserves the right to bid. A PRAYER

Almighty God, who has given us this good land for our heritage; we humbly beseech Thee that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning, and pure manners.

Save us from violence, discord and confusion; from pride and arrogance, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties, and fashion into one united people the multitude brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues.

Endow with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in Thy name we entrust the authority of government, that there may be justice and peace at home, and that through obedience to Thy law, we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth.

Minisarong Frowned on by Malay Moslems

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia AP -- The minisarong, devised by Malaysian beauty contest operators to get around a Moslem ban on bathing suits, is causing such a flap that the government may ban it.

The sarong kebaya is the national female costume for Malay women. It does a lot for the female form from the waist up, but it also reaches to the ground.

When the Miss Malaysia contest came up last Friday, the enterpreneurs hatched the minisarong, a garment that did as much for the bosom as the sarong kebaya does but also bared the legs.

Malaya being a Moslem nation officially, a great consternation resulted at the parade of flesh.

One official, Shoib Bin Haji Ahmad, said: "Moslem law states that women must be covered from their feet to their hands. Even their faces must be covered with veils.

"This minisarong is far from that."

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some observers of the television scene drew this lesson from the first Nielsen ratings of the 1966-67 season: Never underestimate the value of corn.

This is the attitude of certain sophisticates who sniff at the fact that among the top 10 shows in audience ratings were such offerings as "Green Acres," "Gomer Pyle," "The Andy Griffith Show" and "Beverly Hillbillies."

The most impressive showing among series in the ratings was made by "Green Acres," which captured the No. 2 position below the blockbusting Sunday night movie, "The Bridge on the River Kwai." Do they grow corn on those "Green Acres"?

"I don't think so," says Jay Sommers, who created, cowrites and produces the series. "I think it's a fairly sophisticated show.

Sommers, a rotund, owlish veteran of the gag-writing jungle, doesn't really care what the smart crowd thinks of "Green Acres." It's his baby, and as long as the public buys it, that's all that matters.

The inspiration for the show came from Sommers' boyhood, of which two years were spent on a farm in Greendale, N.Y. His stepfather went broke trying to earn a living from the soil, and the experiences remained with the boy. He capitalized on them with a 1950 radio show, "Granby's Green Acres," which starred Gale Gordon and Bea Benaderet, the latter now a star of "Green Acres", sister show of "Petticoat Junction."

When "Green Acres" went on CBS last season, the original plan was to exchange performers with "Petticoat Junction."

"We're getting away from that concept now," said Sommers. "It's awfully hard to schedule when the actors will be available, and they are busy enough with their own shows. Besides, I think 'Green Acres' should stand on its own feet."

The series is doing a good job of it. Credit is due Sommers who spends a 12-hour day at General Service Studios, overseeing everything from script to cutting. Despite the rural nature of the show, it is filmed almost entirely on the lot. "The people are important, not the settings," explained Sommers.

The secret of "Green Acres" success?

"I think it appeals to a basic human urge; everyone would like to buy a farm," Sommers theorized. "And we came up with a brilliant combination in Eddie Albert and Eva Gabor. They work together like a dream."

financially may be what some would call an "American Utopia," but this can never be. In the first place men don't have the ability to create a system with equal dimensions for all. Only God could create such a system.

On foreign affairs the policy of our government is to play "BIG DADDY." This Country is not strong enough, though great as it is, to solve all the problems of the world. We cannot solve all the economic ills of the world; we must not attempt to fight bloody battles for others when many of these battles are useless. For bloody battles and brute force will never bring peace to the hearts of these war-mongers; another way must be found. With this policy, the best young men of our Land are being taken from us. Many never to return; thousands will come home crippled, others destroyed morally. Our natural resources are dwindling at a very rapid pace. This we cannot allow forever.

On poverty, the Bible says, "the poor you will have with you always." The attempt to banish poverty from the earth is a direct contradiction of the Bible. I realize that much good can be done through various types of programs.

To attact poverty we must first attack the cause of poverty. Poverty is primarily a disease; any physician will tell us to cure a disease we must first find the cause of the disease.

Many educators say, "we can educate poverty from our doors." In a great sense poverty is a moral and not an intellectual problem. And its consequences may be considered more marked and terrible than the intellectual results.

It is plain to see by any average mind that we have the cause of poverty all around us; these causes vary with the individual. Laziness, I am sure, is one of the greatest causes of poverty among us. Drunkards, of which I know not a few, who make good money, but drink up their earnings; consequently their families live in poverty.

Divorces, of which this Nation has the highest rate, causes poverty; no man can rightfully and practically support two families; if the case be so with a man, normally poverty is the results of both families.

Unfaithfulness to ones companion causes poverty; it takes extra money to support such immoral conduct; and those who continue to practice such will eventually bring poverty to his door.

Unhappiness causes poverty; it limits initiative.

Immorality of every sort causes poverty; for all wise men know that poverty is not merely economical.

A man may be spiritually poor, he may be an immoral bum, if this be the case with a man, all the economical assistance in the world cannot lift his man out of poverty. Only God has the cure for this kind of poverty. And until governments and men realize this, poverty shall remain an incurable disease to haunt men until the end of his days.

Mismanagement of wages causes poverty - you can give two men $10,000 each, in five years one of these men will have $20,000 or more-the other will be on starvation. Who has the answer to this kind of poverty?

Of course, there are those who advocate equality, who would say take from those who have and give to those who have not. This kind of a domestic policy will eventually destroy the dignity, decency, and integrity of any nation.

Sincerely,
R. C. Martin
Essex, Mo.

Dear Mr. Blanton,
R. C. Martin says:

I have no desire to create animosity or sound unpatriotic. But the present policy of our government, domestic and foreign, is leading us down a road to sure chaos.

Domestically, apparently the emphasis is on "Civil Rights," and War on Poverty.

Equality is a nice sounding word with a very great meaning, indeed. In fact, so great, that the meaning can never be fulfilled among men. Equality-the state of being equal, especially, the state of being equal in political, economic, and social rights. Men have never been equal and they never will.

History tells us that we have always had classes and common sense tell us that we always will.

Some men had rather die than to be brought down, and other men do not have the capabilities to go up. Therefore when a government undertakes the impossible task of equalizing men and forcing them to live on a common level, integrated regardless of color, race, origin, financial, social, or educational status, the end result can only be social chaos. And social chaos is what we have now in America, and we have only seen the beginning. Equality, economically and social and

Polish Church Leader at Lilbourn

LILBOURN -- The Rev. Joseph Szczeposkowshi of Poland will speak at the Methodist Church Wednesday night.

Szczeposkowshi is equal to an American bishop holding the title of general superintendent in Poland. He serves behind the Iron Curtain under trying circumstances.

Other missionaires and prominent church leaders from many nations of the world are appearing in churches in the eastern half of Missouri in an unusual conference-wide chain of missions, Oct. 23-27.

Rules Set for Community Building

NEW MADRID -- With the completion of the first phase of the painting and remodeling of the community building, the executive board for the building has made a list of rules and new rental fees in an effort to see that the building will be cared for properly by renters, and, also, to help put the building on a self-supporting basis.

Mrs. Clara St. Mary will be in charge of the rental of the building, and she may be contacted for such purpose at her office in the Selective Service office at 747 Main Street. Mrs. Agnes Speakman will now be in charge of the maintenance and upkeep of the building.

The new rules were compiled only after an extensive study was made of other towns' policies in leasing their Community buildings. Each leasee of the building will be given a list of rules when the key is obtained. It is hoped that the new rules will enable the board to keep the building in a well-repaired state so that it is always ready for the smallest to the largest gathering. With everyone's cooperation, the plan will succeed and the Community building will be an asset rather than an eye-sore.

Below is the new list of rules:

1. Each renter will be presented a copy of rules upon payment of rental fee.
2. $5.00 fee will be added to rental fee and will be forfeited if there be damages to building or equipment, or if building is not left in clean condition in which it was found. The $5.00 fee will be returned to renter when key is returned to manager if all requirements are met.
3. All bottles and food must be removed at end of functions. All trash and garbage must be disposed of in proper containers outside of building. A check of stove, furnace, water faucets, rest rooms and lights must be made by renter before leaving building.
4. Building is not to be used for fund-raising projects with proceeds made for personal profit. Organizations, either charitable, community-sponsored, church affiliated groups, or similar non-profit organizations may rent building for fund-raising benefits. Rental fee for fund-raising project shall be $25.00.
5. $15.00 is the rental fee when building is to be used for club meetings, social entertaining such as private parties, wedding receptions, school sponsored entertainment, etc.
6. A minimum 24-hour notice must be given before rental.
7. For children's or teenage (under 21 years of age) parties, dances, meetings or other activities, building must be rented by one or more adults who will be present as chaperones. For every 25 youths, there must be one chaperoning couple.
8. No drinking of alcoholic beverages by minors either in building or while on premises. Any infractions of rules will automatically disqualify party from future rental of building.
9. Any equipment, such as tables and chairs borrowed from building must be checked out and in with building manager.
10. Building to be rent free to Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Brownie Scouts, Cub Scouts, Rotary Club and Womans Club.
11. New Madrid Womans Club or Rotary Club shall not be responsible or liable for any injuries or accidents which occur to person or persons while in building or on premises.

More States Eyeing Legalized Lotteries

By William T. Peacock

WASHINGTON (AP) — As government at all levels takes on more burdens — gets bigger and bigger if that's the way you preto view it — the constant problem is how to finance it.

Higher income taxes? Sales taxes? A lottery?

Basically, the political problem is how to get the money as painlessly as possible from those who surrender it.

The philosophy behind sales taxes is that a few pennies more on a small purchase don't really hurt, at least not as much as having to kick through with $50 or more additional at income tax paying time.

And the allure of the lottery is the notion that it would raise a lot of revenue completely painlessly.

So two states — New York and Nevada — are going to have votes this coming election day, Nov. 8, on legalizing lotteries.

Already, New Hampshire has a state lottery. Also it has neither a sales nor an income tax.

But as a revenue raiser, the New Hampshire state lottery, a sweepstakes based on horse races, has been something on a disappointment compared to the hopes the state had for it. The state's annual net is in the area of $2 million a year.

One of New Hampshire's problems has been a restricted market. There are those federal laws about using the mails for a lottery which interfere with both advertising and sales through the mails.

MORE MORE MORE

Gal 2 world today

New York is a major market whatever you are selling. Backers of a lottery in that state have estimated the state's take as high as $400 million a year.

Specifically, what New York voters will pass on is a proposed constitutional amendment that would open the way for a lottery.

The 1967 legislature would take it from there, if the lottery idea is approved at the polls. The form of the lottery would be up to the legislature.

Nevada has been so well publicized as a center of legal gambling, home of the wheels, the slot machines, the blackjack games and the dice, that it may be surprising that a lottery is a form of gambling now outlawed there. But that's the way it is.

Actually, the question of a national lottery has been technically before Congress for a long time.

Rep. Paul A. Fino, a Republican from New York's Bronx area, introduced a bill for one soon after he came to Congress in 1953.

Its reintroduction is an annual ritual that Fino has gone through in each Congress since then.

As a revenue raising measure, the bill routinely goes to the House Ways and Means Committee which just as routinely has filed and forgotten it.

Fino's estimate of the potential revenue is about $10 billion a year.

Patrol Chief Will Speak in Charleston

CHARLESTON - Col. E. I. "Mike" Hockaday, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, will speak at the first annual Chamber of Commerce banquet scheduled Nov. 16 at the Knights of Columbus Hall at 7 p.m.

The meeting will be a ladies night affair.

Members of the board of directors last week made preliminary plans for the banquet meeting. The menu will consist of filet steaks, baked potato, salad and drinks, and dessert. Tickets will be $2.00.

According to ticket chairman Marion Waggener, exactly 175 places will be reserved, and a full turnout of members and their wives is expected. K. C. members will prepare the meal and serve the dinner.

P. J. Pond[illegible] heads up the program com[illegible]ttee, and Miss Frances Dan[illegible]el is in charge of decorations.

Honor guests will include Sheriff W. J. Simmons and Mrs. Simmons, the police chiefs of East Prairie and Charleston, and the mayors of Charleston, East Prairie, Anniston, Bertrand and Wyatt.

Yggdrasil was the great ash tree of Norse mythology. It was the tree of life and knowledge and represented fate, time and space.

A PRAYER

Almighty God, who has given us this good land for our heritage; we humbly beseech Thee that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning, and pure manners.

Save us from violence, discord and confusion; from pride and arrogance, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties, and fashion into one united people the multitude brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues.

Endow with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in Thy name we entrust the authority of government, that there may be justice and peace at home, and that through obedience to Thy law, we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth.

Minisarong Frowned on by Malay Moslems

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia AP -- The minisarong, devised by Malaysian beauty contest operators to get around a Moslem ban on bathing suits, is causing such a flap that the government may ban it.

The sarong kebaya is the national female costume for Malay women. It does a lot for the female form from the waist up, but it also reaches to the ground.

When the Miss Malaysia contest came up last Friday, the enterpreneurs hatched the minisarong, a garment that did as much for the bosom as the sarong kebaya does but also bared the legs.

Malaya being a Moslem nation officially, a great consternation resulted at the parade of flesh.

One official, Shoib Bin Haji Ahmad, said: "Moslem law states that women must be covered from their feet to their hands. Even their faces must be covered with veils.

"This minisarong is far from that."

LaVerne Tope Circle Meets

Seven members of circle 6 of the First Baptist church met at the home of Mrs James Bryant for the firs meeting of the new church year beginning in October.

Mrs. Pat Herring, chairman, conducted the business session.

The slate of officers is Mrs. Herring, , chairman; Mrs. Phillip Sadler, co-chariman; Mrs. Harold Bean, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Ralph Ancel, enlistment, Mrs. Carl Elam, prayer chairman; Mrs. E. T. Freeman, missions activities; Mrs. Lou Goehri, program chairman.

Items of business were introduced including choosing a name for the circle. LaVerne Tope was selected by the group since Mrs. Tope is related to the Bryants and is known to the First Baptist Church. The Topes are on medical leave and in Temple, Texas, where the Rev. Mr. Tope is pastor of a church. They hope to return soon to the mission field in Africa. The prayer chairman announced Dec. 4-11 has been set to observe a week of prayer for Foreign Missions.

Mrs. Goehri was assisted by Mrs. Elam, Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Sadler, in giving a study on the "Baptists in Appalachia." There are nearly 15 million people living in that scenic area that includes 360 counties of 11 states and stretches approximately 1,000 miles from Alabama to Pennsylvania.

The public sometimes gets the impression that all of the area is poverty stricken and back woods. But to mention only three cities, Pittsburgh, Knoxville and Charleston would remind of the vast wealth and beauty to be found in Appalachia. The study proved informative and brought out a need of the Clear Creek Baptist School, Pineville, Ky. Mrs. Bryant made a motion that items such as towels or washcloths, usable and mailable, be brought to the next meeting to be sent to the school. Mrs. Geohri closed with prayer for all isolated groups and whatever their needs might be.

The chairman urged all to attend the associational meeting at Wyatt Friday night.

Atlas Rocket Slated for Test Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) --The space agency Friday announced plans to launch an Atlas-Centaur space rocket next Tuesday to fully qualify it for lunar and planetary flights.

The launching is one of two space missions scheduled from Cape Kennedy next week. Earlier, the Communications Satellite Corp. announced plans to launch a satellite on Wednesday to extend commercial communications coverage via space to the Far East.

The Atlas-Centaur launching is set for 5:30 a.m. EST Tuesday, the communications satellite for 6 p.m. Wednesday.

An attempt will be made to place the Centaur second stage in orbit and then restart its two hydrogen-powered engines. If successful, the rocket will hurl a dummy model of a Project Surveyor spacecraft toward an imaginary moon -- a spot in space 236,000 miles away from the earth.

Two previous attempts failed to re-ignite the Centaur engines in space. Engineering changes have been made to correct the problems.

The Atlas-Centaur performed perfectly twice earlier this year in propelling the Surveyor 1 and 2 spacecraft toward the moon. Surveyor 1 became the first American vehicle to soft-land on the lunar surface. Surveyor 2 had trouble and crash-landed on the moon.

Those were direct-ascent shots that required only one ignition of the Centaur engines.

With the capability of a second ignition, the Centaur stage would be able to enter a parking orbit and at the desired time and place, refire its powerplant to send the spacecraft toward the moon or planets.

"The earth orbit capability will significantly enhance the flexibility of Centaur in support of lunar and planetary missions by increasing the period of time in which these launches can be made," the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said — in some instances widening the periods from minutes to hours.

"Earth parking orbits also will permit Surveyor spacecraft to be launched during the winter months when lunar lighting conditions are unfavorable for direct ascent trajectories," the space agency added.

Door-to-Door Mail Possible For New Areas

WASHINGTON -- Senators Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long today praised the post office department for its decision to begin door-to-door city delivery service for citizens in new home developments.

The senators said the action revokes a 1963 post office department order which banned door-to-door city delivery service in them.

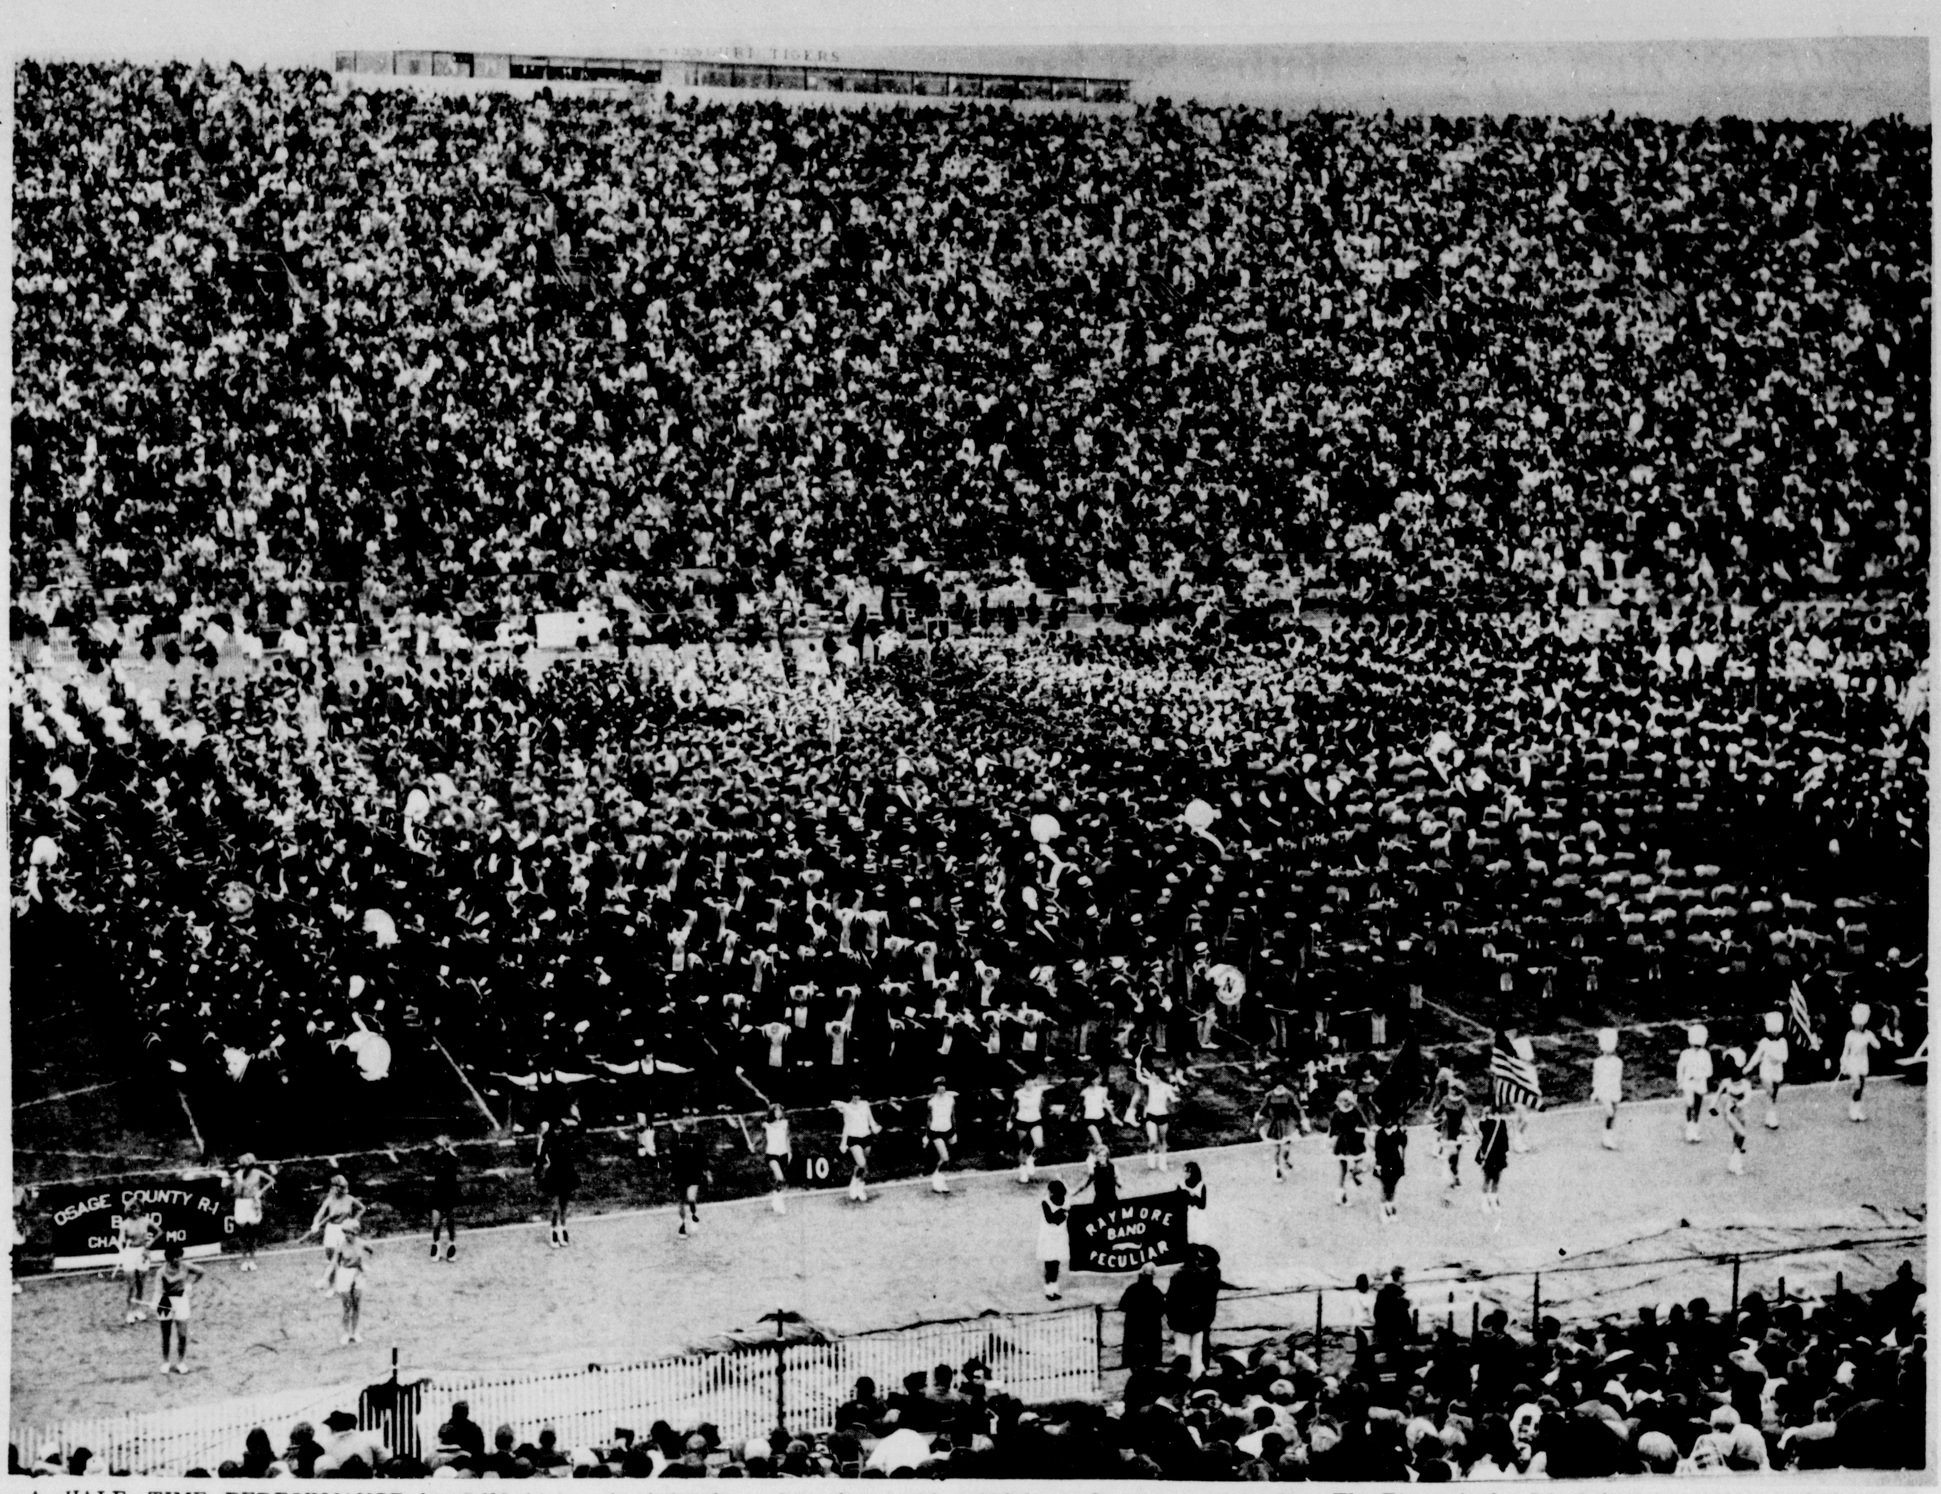

The senators were informed by the Postmaster General that action would be carried out in three steps:

Postmasters will determine where and how door-to-door service should be provided locally consistent with their operating budgets.

When they get approval from their appropriate regional directors, local postmasters will take steps to put the service improvement into effect.

Senator Symington and Senator Long have both urged the post office department to revoke the three and one half year old restriction on door-to-door service.

A HALF TIME PERFORMANCE by 5,116 high school band members from mid-Missouri schools, helped swell the crowd of 50,400 at the University of Missouri Oklahoma State game Saturday. The Tigers took a 7 to 0 decision. A total of 71 school bands were present for the game at Columbia.

American Consumers Being Deluged With Coupons

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) —Have we become a nation of coupon clippers? Are Americans flipping over clipping out coupons that offer a few pennies off on coffee or detergents?

Do we have in our midst another consumer fad comparable to trading stamps? The statistics would indicate it. And the breakfast scenes confirm it.

Cranky husbands find rainbow-colored coupons spilling from the instant coffee jar. Children inadvertently chew "valuable certificates" that have been enclosed in cereal boxes.

It is difficult to avoid them. Something like 20 billion coupons —100 for every man, woman and child—will be distributed to Americans this year.

Millions of them will come in food cartons or jars. Millions more will be clipped from publications. Millions more spill out of mail boxes, offering "the occupant" the latest in detergent science at a low, low price.

The envelopes you receive in your mail containing coupons from as many as seven different companies are called cooperatives, because the companies cooperate in splitting the postage cost. Sixteen billion of these coupons will be distributed this year.

No doubt the carnival of bright colors fascinate, the possible savings entice. The question you must answer is this: Are you saving 10 cents from the "regular" 35-cent price? Or have you been enticed into spending 25 cents you otherwise might have saved?

Cooperative mailings are one of the fastest growing advertising forms. It is a development mostly of the 1960s and is growing now at the rate of a billion coupons a year.

The purpose is to intice you to become a regular buyer of a product. And, in cashing your coupon at the store, you reveal an enormous amount of information for the marketing specialist. Many of the coupons contain codes. Some of your buying habits can then be analyzed by computer.

This is how a cooperative coupon mailing works:

A producer of a consumer product tells one of the big mail order houses with a vast list, based on the telephone directory or automotive registration lists, that he wishes to "sponsor" a mailing.

"I will guarantee a mailing of 23 to 25 million packets," he tells the mailer. In return the mailer says "I will try to find you six other noncompeting products to accompany your mailing and lower your cost."

The sponsor has the right to choose his envelope companions. Usually the separate companies do their own printing and deliver them to the smaller, who charges each advertiser about $20 for mailing 1,000 coupons.

WASHINGTON -- Senators Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long today praised the post office department for its decision to begin door-to-door city delivery service for citizens in new home developments.

The senators said the action revokes a 1963 post office department order which banned door-to-door city delivery service in them.

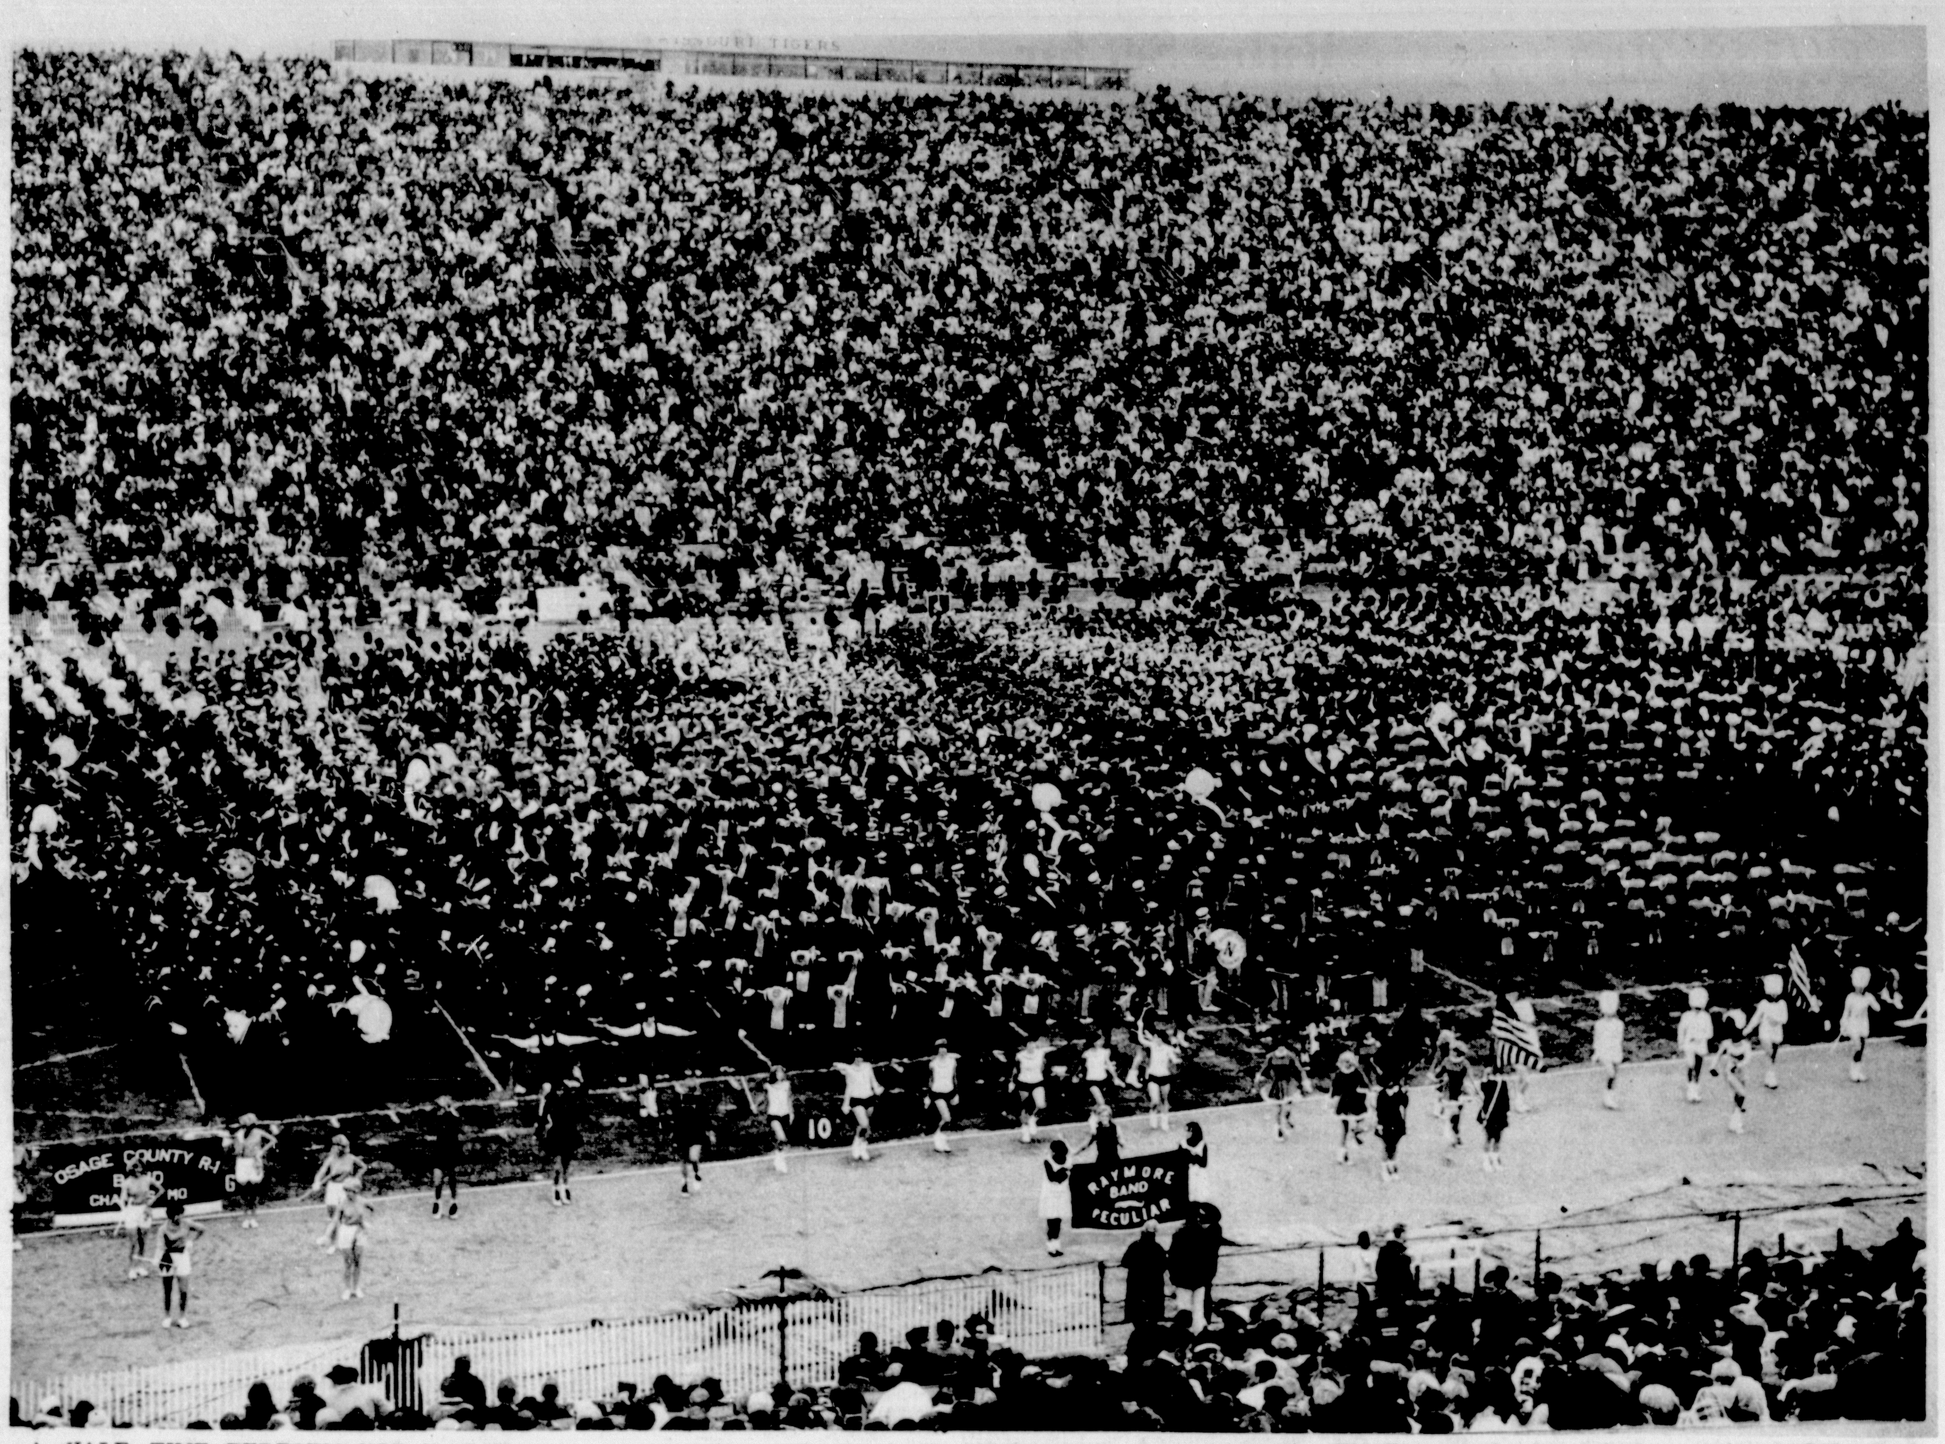

The senators were informed by the Postmaster General that action would be carried out in three steps:

Postmasters will determine where and how door-to-door service should be provided locally consistent with their operating budgets.

The post office department's 15 regional directors will act on the recommendations, consistent with local needs and allocated funds.

When they get approval from their appropriate regional directors, local postmasters will take steps to put the service improvement into effect.

Senator Symington and Senator Long have both urged the post office department to revoke the three and one half year old restriction on door-to-door service.

A HALF TIME PERFORMANCE by 5,116 high school band members from mid-Missouri schools, helped swell the crowd of 50,400 at the University of Missouri Oklahoma State game Saturday. The Tigers took a 7 to 0 decision. A total of 71 school bands were present for the game at Columbia.

American Consumers Being Deluged With Coupons

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) —Have we become a nation of coupon clippers? Are Americans flipping over clipping out coupons that offer a few pennies off on coffee or detergents?

Do we have in our midst another consumer fad comparable to trading stamps? The statistics would indicate it. And the breakfast scenes confirm it.

Cranky husbands find rainbow-colored coupons spilling from the instant coffee jar. Children inadvertently chew "valuable certificates" that have been enclosed in cereal boxes.

It is difficult to avoid them. Something like 20 billion coupons —100 for every man, woman and child—will be distributed to Americans this year.

Millions of them will come in food cartons or jars. Millions more will be clipped from publications. Millions more spill out of mail boxes, offering "the occupant" the latest in detergent science at a low, low price.

The envelopes you receive in your mail containing coupons from as many as seven different companies are called cooperatives, because the companies cooperate in splitting the postage cost. Sixteen billion of these coupons will be distributed this year.

No doubt the carnival of bright colors fascinate, the possible savings entice. The question you must answer is this: Are you saving 10 cents from the "regular" 35-cent price? Or have you been enticed into spending 25 cents you otherwise might have saved?

Cooperative mailings are one of the fastest growing advertising forms. It is a development mostly of the 1960s and is growing now at the rate of a billion coupons a year.

The purpose is to intice you to become a regular buyer of a product. And, in cashing your coupon at the store, you reveal an enormous amount of information for the marketing specialist. Many of the coupons contain codes. Some of your buying habits can then be analyzed by computer.

This is how a cooperative coupon mailing works:

A producer of a consumer product tells one of the big mail order houses with a vast list, based on the telephone directory or automotive registration lists, that he wishes to "sponsor" a mailing.

"I will guarantee a mailing of 23 to 25 million packets," he tells the mailer. In return the mailer says "I will try to find you six other noncompeting products to accompany your mailing and lower your cost."

The sponsor has the right to choose his envelope companions. Usually the separate companies do their own printing and deliver them to the smaller, who charges each advertiser about $20 for mailing 1,000 coupons.

Mary Pickford Prefers Living Life of Recluse

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nowadays Mary Pickford seldom leaves Pickfair, the stately white mansion where she and Douglas Fairbanks once ruled Hollywood society.

She lives there with her third husband, former leading man Buddy Rogers, to whom she is devoted. Now 73, she prefers to have the public remember her as she appeared in her heyday as America's sweetheart, when she was the most popular female star of the silent screen. Yet when she appeared at a luncheon for Princess Margaret last year, she seemed as petite and lovely as ever.

Speaking on the telephone from Pickfair — she declines in-persons interviews - she sounded sprightly. What has she been doing?

"Mostly having accidents," she said ruefully. "The first thing I did was to fall down the stairs and smash my ribs. After I got over that, I stooped over and lost my balance. My ankle twisted and I fell and fractured my spine.

"But I'm getting along fine now, and Buddy and I are leaving on the 29th for Hawaii. We'll be gone three weeks, cruising the five islands on the Lurline."

Miss Pickford pooh-poohed a columnist's report that she was desperately ill and was down to 90 pounds.

"I've never weighed less than 98 and most of the time I was 110," said the petite actress. "I always had to worry about my weight. Right now I'm afraid to get on the scales, but I fear I'm around 118."

"The Taming of the Shrew," which she made in 1929 with Fairbanks, is being released next month. How does she feel about the film?

"I was rather pleasantly surprised when I saw it again," she said. "I always thought Douglas was so much better in the film than I was, but my opinion is not so now. I had thought I had done poorly as the Shrew, but then I was always on the conservative side where my work was concerned."

Miss Pickford admitted that she didn't see many of today's movies. "I've gotten out of the habit — and movie-going is a habit," she said. "It's too hard to go out to the theater, although I do like to see movies in drive-ins. The trouble with most movies nowadays is that they're too long. The end of my spine won't sit that long."

She sees a lot of television — "Buddy is crazy about Ed Sullivan and I'm fond of Danny Kaye." But she has a common complaint about TV: "The commercials are getting longer and longer."

Joe Mayer's Money Tip Responsible for Award

Joe Mayer was chosen Man of the Year in Jefferson City.

He married the former Imogene Albritton, daughter of the late John Albritton, and Mrs. Albritton of 104 West Gladys St. Mayer is a retired Jefferson City hardware store operator.

Mayer's honor came because he was responsible for his city investing $170,511 in idle funds on which it will reap more than $5,000 in interest annually.

Mayer told Jefferson City Mayor John G. Christy in August that he had learned of an old law permitting third class cities to invest funds.

The mayor investigated and as a result, the investment was made. The city will receive $5,000 in interest in March.

In an editorial the Tribune stated: "At a time when public officials get numerous requests and suggestions on how to spend tax dollars, it is refreshing to have a private citizen, like Joe Mayer, show the municipality how to save and make money."

Canalou PTA Meets Oct.10

CANALOU -- The first, second and third grades of the elementary school presented a program in song, with a Halloween theme to the Parent-Teacher association Oct. 10.

The Rev. Jesse Duncan, pastor of the Assembly of God church, gave the devotional. His theme was the knowledge of man and the knowledge of God.

The first, second and third grades tied for the attendance banner but the banner went to the second grade because it had not won recently

Student participation programs are planned for the future meetings in addition to the regular programs.

A dental clinic is being considered as well as the dental program being carried out in the third grade.

Charles McCan made pictures.

Refreshments were served in the art room by the refreshment committee.

Lindenwood President To Admit Males

ST. CHARLES, Mo. AP -- John Anthony Brown Jr., inaugurated as the 15th president of Lindenwood College here, announced he will expand the girl's school program of admitting some male students.

A few male students have been admitted as drama majors for several years, Brown said, but the policy will be extended to upperclassmen majoring in science and mathematics.

"We will extend the policy.. as long as no young woman equally well qualified is denied admission," Brown said.

He succeeded F. L. McCluer as president of the college.

New Bible Features Unfamiliar Wording

LONDON AP -- A new versions of the Bible in modern English was published Friday with the unfamiliar word "Yahweh" replacing the words "the Lord."

The Rev. Alexander Jones, Romand Catholic general editor of the work, explained that Yahweh is the word used in original Hebrew texts and means "the incommunicable name of God."

"Nobody knows what the name means," he added.

"Yahweh was not intended as a proper name but, on the contrary, was meant to indicate in some way that God cannot be named.

Nearly 30 translators and theologians have spent 10 years converting the research into this English version, the first to be entirely free of such archaisms as "Thee" and "thou."

Streamlining Urged for State Income Tax

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The State Tax Study Commission has agreed to the idea of changing the state constitution so local income taxes can be more simply geared to the federal income tax report.

Under the plan discussed on Thursday such things as the number of dependents, capital gains, income and so on could be put on the state income tax report just as they are on the federal report and then the state rate could be applied.

It was suggested by Prof. Sanford Sarasohn of the St. Louis University Law School.

Such an idea has been suggested before in the legislature but always it was blocked by the necessity of changing the constitution.

Representatives of the Midwest Research Institute also reported that although Missouri is one of the more wealthy midwestern states its comparative support of governmental services is at the bottom of the list. The comparison was made with Arkansas, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Kansas.

It pointed up the need for equalizing tax assessments, said Rep. Don Kennedy, D-Vernon County the commission chairman.

Chester R. Spann Dies in Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Chester R. Spann, 56 years old, 783 West Rodney, died Thursday in a hospital here. He had been ill two years.

Judges' Poll Adds Insight to Free Press-Fair Trial Study

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Approximately 200 trial judges in 20 cities were questioned by the Reardon committee in the course of its study of free press and fair trial.

The views expressed offer some interesting insights into current courtroom practices.

And, taken together, they appear to support the idea that the courts themselves have plenty of elbow room to shield trials from prejudicial publicity.

Virtually all the judges polled by the American Bar Association panel, headed by Justice Paul O. Reardon of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, preside over trials involving serious crimes. Sixty-eight responded.

More than half — 39 — said they never reprimanded the news media or requested they withhold their reports before or during trial. Two said they occasionally reprimanded the media and 27 said they occasionally requested that the reporting be withheld.

What was the response when the news media were asked "not to report certain information"? Twenty-two said they generally or always received compliance, three said they sometimes received compliance and one said the requests were refused. One judge did not reply.

Among the procedures open to defense attorneys to guard against a prejudiced jury are to ask that the case be put off for a while or that it be heard somewhere else.

Thirty-four judges said they had never been asked to delay a case on grounds of prejudicial news coverage and 41 said they had never been asked for a change of locale on those grounds.

And yet 32 judges said there are occasions when a continuance is an effective remedy and 40 said the same thing about a change of venue.

The judges also were asked how often the defense sought a mistrial or new trial on grounds of prejudicial news coverage. Thirty-seven said never, 19 said seldom, eight said occasionally, one said often and three did not answer.

Perhaps most significant were the replies to the question: "What benefits do you believe are derived from news reporting of criminal matters?"

Thirty-six said it increases public awareness, 18 said scrutiny of public officials, nine said deterrence of crime and two said it aids administration of justice. Fourteen said there were no benefits.

Nine judges did not answer. Of those that responded some listed more than one benefit.

Could the same benefits be obtained if attorneys and law enforcement officers were prohibited from making certain "extrajudicial public statements?" — a major recommendation of the committee.

Seven judges said benefits would be impaired, 40 said they would still be obtained, 14 said there would be no benefits and seven did not answer.

Santa Fe Trail Ruts Landmarked

The Garden City Telegram
For The Associated Press

DODGE CITY, Kan. (AP) — Ruts of the old Santa Fe Trail worn deep in the earth by thousands of wagons a century or more ago, will be dedicated Saturday as a national historic landmark.

The ruts are a short distance from Howell, Kan., on U.S. 50 about nine miles west of Dodge City.

A bronze plaque donated by the National Park Service and mounted on a stone monument, will be unveiled during a ceremony that starts at 10:30 a.m.

Two other sites in southwest Kansas have been designated national historic landmarks. The others are Wagonbed Springs on the Cimarron River southwest of Ulysses and the El Quartelejo Pueblo ruins in Scott County State Park.

Attending the ceremony will be Robert H. Dole, 1st District congressman; Elbert Smith of the National Park Service, Mayor Frank B. Mapel of Dodge City, and John Stickney, owner of the land and donor of the monument.

The site commemorates the longest continuous stretch of clearly defined tracks that remain along the entire Santa Fe Trail, a route that carried the Pioneer prairie schooners from western Missouri to Santa Fe, N.M.

At this site the trail left its course along the Arkansas River and climbed up from the river valley to run for several miles over rolling hills. It then wound back down to the river.

The ruts are well-preserved in rough pasture land that has never been plowed.

The Santa Fe Trail is one of the most famous of pioneer western trails. It opened the frontier to civilization. Millions of dollars worth of goods were freighted across the plains.

A brisk market was created in the Southwest.

Soldier moved across the trail to conquer New Mexico and California for the Union during the Mexican War.

To the east of the new memorial marker, Ft. Larned, Ft. Dodge and Pawnee Rock protected travelers from Indians. A few miles to the west, the route divided at the Cimaron crossings over the Arkansas River.

From that point, the regular "safe" route led on to Colorado and across Raton Pass to Santa Fe. The shorter route led southwest across the Oklahoma Panhandle — the "Journey of Death" through a dessert area inhabited by hostile Indians and fraught with other perils.

director of military supply, in the chief of engineers' office, Washington, D. C.

During World War II, General MacDonnell served as assistant engineer and later acting engineer of the eighth army in the Pacific, participating in the New Guinea, Southern Philippines, Luzon, and Leyte campaigns.

From 1952 to 1953 he was assigned as the Engineer, VII U. S. army corps, Stuttgart, Germany, and from 1953 to 1955 served as its deputy chief of staff. Returning to the United States in 1955, he was assigned to the army war college as director of a course in national strategy.

As presdent of the Mississippi River commission and lower Mississippi valley division engineer, General MacDonnell will have charge of federal projects pertaining chiefly to flood control, navigation, major drainage, and related water resources development amounting to about $170 million yearly in the main valley of the Mississippi River from the vicinity of Hannibal, Mo., to the Gulf of Mexico.

This work is in eight states: Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Texas. In addition to construction, it includes maintenance of about 3,600 miles of navigable channel, 11 reservoirs, 21 locks, and other - than - ordinary maintenance on nearly 3,000 miles of levees.

General and Mrs. MacDonnell have two sons, Robert and Richard, and a daughter, Marguerite.

It took Johnson about an hour to drive one and half miles from the airport to his hotel in downtown Brisbane where a suite, once the wartime headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, had been renovated for his visit.

Johnson stepped out of his car in front of the hotel. Weariness seemed to vanish with the cheers of the crowd. As the mass surged around he stood full stretch on top of his car, silhouetted by television lights.

Texas and American flags waved, boys hoisted their girl friends on their shoulders.

Police and security officers fought to clear a path. Johnson then stood on the steps of the hotel waving and grinning.

A lonely pocket of pickets near the hotel entrace were booed and roughed up by people who chanted to Johnson, "We want a speech, we want a speech."

He went back to his car and tried to use the loudspeaker, but couldn't make himself heard. So, with a final wave he gave up and went inside.

The President and Mrs. Johnson arrived in Brisbane, capital of the northern state of Queensland, to spend the night. They were met by an airport crowd of about 6,000.

More than a million excited Australians turned out in Sydney to greet the Americans. The crowds showered the Johnsons with confetti as anti-Viet Nam demonstrators hurled eggs and toilet paper in a tumultuous mixed welcome.

Johnson returned to Canberra, the Australian capital, for a barbecue before flying on to Brisbane.

Johnson wore Western clothes and a Texas hat at the barbecue but changed to a business suit for the Canberra farewell, held in bitingly cold weather.

Ohio, told assistant Senate Democratic Leader Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the bill's floor manager, he has "an obligation to the nation not to promote that which is of special interest to his state."

Mansfield told Lausche to watch his words and Long said Lausche was insulting. This happens, Long remarked, "when people get carried away with their own self - righteousness."

The House, meanwhile, has virtually closed up shop, keeping what Mansfield called "a corporal's guard" on hand, waiting on the Senate.

Long said the tax incentive and the appropriations bills will be passed "if we have to come back next week, or in November, or at Christmas."

"A lot of people have been calling this tax bill the Christmas tree bill so perhaps it would be appropriate to pass it at Christmas," the Finance Committee chairman said.

The session already is the longest unbroken meeting Congress has held in an election year since World War II. There have been later election-year adjournments, but lengthy recesses, some of them extending over much of the campaign period, have marked those sessions.

Proposed by President Johnson, the measure's basic terms would ease the tax burden on capital sent to this country from aboard. It is designed to attract foreign investment to the United States and thus improve the balance of payments situation.

Gore favors that portion of the compromise bill. It's the 24 amendments he doesn't like.

The most controversial amendment is a plan for the federal government to finance presidential campaigns through voluntary dollars checkoffs on income tax returns. A taxpayer would be allowed to indicate on his return that he wanted a dollar of his tax money to go to the campaign fund. This could mean $30 million for each of the two major political parties to use in the 1968 campaign.

Coat Stolen

A sport coat and a white shirt were reported stolen from an automobile Friday night while it was parked near a lounge in the 1100 block of West Malone, police reported. E. F. Hale of East Prairie reported the theft from his car.

Eugene Dodd, route two, Sikeston, reported to police Friday that two tires and a convertible top of his automobile were cut Thursday night while it was parked on the Anchor Toy parking lot.

Thomas Hutchison, route two, Sikeston, was arrested Thursday and charged with littering the streets.

Police Issue Warning On Forged Checks

Area merchants are warned by the Sikeston Police department to be watchful of anyone passing a check on the "Jaeger Electric Co. of St. Louis."

About 500 blank checks on the company were reported stolen in St. Louis last week.

Some of the checks have been forged and passed in northern Missouri and it is believed that the person or persons cashing them are traveling south.

Police said the State Highway Patrol informed them that the last check known to have been passed was taken by a merchant in Perryville.

Anyone with information about the checks is asked to contact the police.

Mary Pickford Prefers Living Life of Recluse

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nowadays Mary Pickford seldom leaves Pickfair, the stately white mansion where she and Douglas Fairbanks once ruled Hollywood society.

She lives there with her third husband, former leading man Buddy Rogers, to whom she is devoted. Now 73, she prefers to have the public remember her as she appeared in her heyday as America's sweetheart, when she was the most popular female star of the silent screen. Yet when she appeared at a luncheon for Princess Margaret last year, she seemed as petite and lovely as ever.

Speaking on the telephone from Pickfair — she declines in-persons interviews - she sounded sprightly. What has she been doing?

"Mostly having accidents," she said ruefully. "The first thing I did was to fall down the stairs and smash my ribs. After I got over that, I stooped over and lost my balance. My ankle twisted and I fell and fractured my spine.

"But I'm getting along fine now, and Buddy and I are leaving on the 29th for Hawaii. We'll be gone three weeks, cruising the five islands on the Lurline."

Miss Pickford pooh-poohed a columnist's report that she was desperately ill and was down to 90 pounds.

"I've never weighed less than 98 and most of the time I was 110," said the petite actress. "I always had to worry about my weight. Right now I'm afraid to get on the scales, but I fear I'm around 118."

"The Taming of the Shrew," which she made in 1929 with Fairbanks, is being released next month. How does she feel about the film?

"I was rather pleasantly surprised when I saw it again," she said. "I always thought Douglas was so much better in the film than I was, but my opinion is not so now. I had thought I had done poorly as the Shrew, but then I was always on the conservative side where my work was concerned."

Miss Pickford admitted that she didn't see many of today's movies. "I've gotten out of the habit — and movie-going is a habit," she said. "It's too hard to go out to the theater, although I do like to see movies in drive-ins. The trouble with most movies nowadays is that they're too long. The end of my spine won't sit that long."

She sees a lot of television — "Buddy is crazy about Ed Sullivan and I'm fond of Danny Kaye." But she has a common complaint about TV: "The commercials are getting longer and longer."

Joe Mayer's Money Tip Responsible for Award

Joe Mayer was chosen Man of the Year in Jefferson City.

He married the former Imogene Albritton, daughter of the late John Albritton, and Mrs. Albritton of 104 West Gladys St. Mayer is a retired Jefferson City hardware store operator.

Mayer's honor came because he was responsible for his city investing $170,511 in idle funds on which it will reap more than $5,000 in interest annually.

Mayer told Jefferson City Mayor John G. Christy in August that he had learned of an old law permitting third class cities to invest funds.

The mayor investigated and as a result, the investment was made. The city will receive $5,000 in interest in March.

In an editorial the Tribune stated: "At a time when public officials get numerous requests and suggestions on how to spend tax dollars, it is refreshing to have a private citizen, like Joe Mayer, show the municipality how to save and make money."

Canalou PTA Meets Oct. 10

CANALOU -- The first, second and third grades of the elementary school presented a program in song, with a Halloween theme to the Parent-Teacher association Oct. 10.

The Rev. Jesse Duncan, pastor of the Assembly of God church, gave the devotional. His theme was the knowledge of man and the knowledge of God.

The first, second and third grades tied for the attendance banner but the banner went to the second grade because it had not won recently

Student participation programs are planned for the future meetings in addition to the regular programs.

A dental clinic is being considered as well as the dental program being carried out in the third grade.

Charles McCan made pictures.

Refreshments were served in the art room by the refreshment committee.

director of military supply, in the chief of engineers' office, Washington, D. C.

During World War II, General MacDonnell served as assistant engineer and later acting engineer of the eighth army in the Pacific, participating in the New Guinea, Southern Philippines, Luzon, and Leyte campaigns.

From 1952 to 1953 he was assigned as the Engineer, VII U. S. army corps, Stuttgart, Germany, and from 1953 to 1955 served as its deputy chief of staff. Returning to the United States in 1955, he was assigned to the army war college as director of a course in national strategy.

As president of the Mississippi River commission and lower Mississippi valley division engineer, General MacDonnell will have charge of federal projects pertaining chiefly to flood control, navigation, major drainage, and related water resources development amounting to about $170 million yearly in the main valley of the Mississippi River from the vicinity of Hannibal, Mo., to the Gulf of Mexico.

This work is in eight states: Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Texas. In addition to construction, it includes maintenance of about 3,600 miles of navigable channel, 11 reservoirs, 21 locks, and other - than - ordinary maintenance on nearly 3,000 miles of levees.

General MacDonnell's military honors include the legion of merit, the bronze star medal, and the army commendation ribbon. His foreign decorations include the Philippine presidential unit citation and Philippine liberation ribbon.

General and Mrs. MacDonnell have two sons, Robert and Richard, and a daughter, Marguerite.

housework except that once a week a neighbor helps with house cleaning. She is active in a Parent - Teacher organization, as a Sunday school teacher; 4-H leader and as a member of the Sikeston community choir. Because she did not finish school at Wisconsin University she describes herself as "a dropout."

Her husband, who deserted the green hills of the Wisconsin dairyland for the sprawling, flat cotton country of Southeast Missouri, succeeds Jack Triplet, Palmyra, as the state's outstanding young farmer. Second place honors this year went to George Alden, Hamilton, and third place to Don Moore, Princeton.

It took Johnson about an hour to drive one and half miles from the airport to his hotel in downtown Brisbane where a suite, once the wartime headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, had been renovated for his visit.

Johnson stepped out of his car in front of the hotel. Weariness seemed to vanish with the cheers of the crowd. As the mass surged around he stood full stretch on top of his car, silhouetted by television lights.

Texas and American flags waved, boys hoisted their girl friends on their shoulders.

Police and security officers fought to clear a path. Johnson then stood on the steps of the hotel waving and grinning.

A lonely pocket of pickets near the hotel entrace were booed and roughed up by people who chanted to Johnson, "We want a speech, we want a speech."

He went back to his car and tried to use the loudspeaker, but couldn't make himself heard. So, with a final wave he gave up and went inside.

The President and Mrs. Johnson arrived in Brisbane, capital of the northern state of Queensland, to spend the night. They were met by an airport crowd of about 6,000.

More than a million excited Australians turned out in Sydney to greet the Americans. The crowds showered the Johnsons with confetti as anti-Viet Nam demonstrators hurled eggs and toilet paper in a tumultuous mixed welcome.

Johnson returned to Canberra, the Australian capital, for a barbecue before flying on to Brisbane.

DISCORD

Ohio, told assistant Senate Democratic Leader Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the bill's floor manager, he has "an obligation to the nation not to promote that which is of special interest to his state."

Mansfield told Lausche to watch his words and Long said Lausche was insulting. This happens, Long remarked, "when people get carried away with their own self - righteousness."

The House, meanwhile, has virtually closed up shop, keeping what Mansfield called "a corporal's guard" on hand, waiting on the Senate.

Long said the tax incentive and the appropriations bills will be passed "if we have to come back next week, or in November, or at Christmas."

"A lot of people have been calling this tax bill the Christmas tree bill so perhaps it would be appropriate to pass it at Christmas," the Finance Committee chairman said.

The session already is the longest unbroken meeting Congress has held in an election year since World War II. There have been later election-year adjournments, but lengthy recesses, some of them extending over much of the campaign period, have marked those sessions.

Proposed by President Johnson, the measure's basic terms would ease the tax burden on capital sent to this country from aboard. It is designed to attract foreign investment to the United States and thus improve the balance of payments situation.

Gore favors that portion of the compromise bill. It's the 24 amendments he doesn't like.

The most controversial amendment is a plan for the federal government to finance presidential campaigns through voluntary dollars checkoffs on income tax returns. A taxpayer would be allowed to indicate on his return that he wanted a dollar of his tax money to go to the campaign fund. This could mean $30 million for each of the two major political parties to use in the 1968 campaign.

Coat Stolen

A sport coat and a white shirt were reported stolen from an automobile Friday night while it was parked near a lounge in the 1100 block of West Malone, police reported. E. F. Hale of East Prairie reported the theft from his car.

Eugene Dodd, route two, Sikeston, reported to police Friday that two tires and a convertible top of his automobile were cut Thursday night while it was parked on the Anchor Toy parking lot.

Thomas Hutchison, route two, Sikeston, was arrested Thursday and charged with littering the streets.

Police Issue Warning On Forged Checks

Area merchants are warned by the Sikeston Police department to be watchful of anyone passing a check on the "Jaeger Electric Co. of St. Louis."

About 500 blank checks on the company were reported stolen in St. Louis last week.

Some of the checks have been forged and passed in northern Missouri and it is believed that the person or persons cashing them are traveling south.

Police said the State Highway Patrol informed them that the last check known to have been passed was taken by a merchant in Perryville.

Anyone with information about the checks is asked to contact the police.

GEHL MIX-ALL
• PLAIN FEEDER
• CRUSHER HEAD
Grinds! Mixes! Delivers!
The Gehl Mix-All, with economy plain feeder and exclusive crusher-feeder attachment, grinds, mixes and delivers the most uniform on-the-farm feed.
Here's proof: Samples of feed grains, ground by Gehl and competitive mills, were compared in a "sieve-shaker" analysis (a grinding uniformity test used also by commercial feed manufacturers). In test after test, Gehl samples were the most uniformly ground. And, the more uniform the grind, the better the mix!
In the Mix-All hammermill, 66 thin, alloy-steel hammers cut . . . not pound ingredients on a big grinding surface for faster feed flow with reduced "fines." Come on in for a close-up look at all the Mix-All features, including the swinging auger-feeder.

If you see a neighbor applying Treflan this week...
Don't laugh.
Now you can apply Treflan® in the fall for dependable weed control next season
This new idea in weed control was tested for two years. Results proved it as effective as spring applications of Treflan. Great idea for growers planting cotton or soybeans on heavy soils that are tough to work in the spring. Come in soon. We're well stocked with Treflan.
